U. S. MUST WIN TREATY TO LIMIT NAVIES—ADAMS

Will Stay in London Until Victorious.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, in a radio address to America tonight stressed the importance of obtaining any kind of a naval limitation pact at the five power conference in order to stabilize American navy building on an "agreed upon program," instead of subjecting it to "spasmodic irritation." The American naval chief claimed the conference had already accomplished a compromise between global and categorical limitation of naval tonnage which "balked the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva for years," and an agreement to humanize the use of submarines.

He said the American delegation was willing to stay here indefinitely to reach an agreement, explaining the expense incurred by sticking would be only a fraction of that for the navy building program, which will be necessary unless a limitation agreement can be reached.

Answers Opposing Critics.

Secretary Adams declared American and British tonnage figures were not far apart and that Japan and America are "coming closer to an understanding." To those, who believe insufficient reduction is proposed, he suggested a study of the proposals at Geneva in 1927.

To those, who charge too great a reduction, he suggested a "cessation of criticism until the ships provided for in the agreement we are working on are all built and there is evidence that the limitation agreed on has in any way jeopardized our security; with such evidence, if it appears, we can readjust our situation at the next conference."

Still waiting for the French delegation to return here, the conference enters upon its seventh week tomorrow with no further limitation of armaments, much less a reduction yet in sight, if indeed it can be said there is any assurance of any eventual agreement at all.

Still Confident of Success.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald still profess confidence that a five-power agreement reducing battleship fleets and placing a limitation on cruisers, destroyers and submarines will eventuate. Actually there is a widespread doubt among Americans and British that any agreement among all five powers for halting competition in all classes of warships can be attained.

Some are prepared for a three-power treaty between Great Britain, America and Japan, or four-power pact, if Italy comes in, extending the battleship building holiday five years and limiting auxiliary classes, with loopholes, through which Great Britain and Italy could escape restrictions, if either should deem itself threatened by the French navy building program.

Others look for a five-power agreement, but one providing only for suspension until 1936 of replacement of battleships which are to begin next year under the terms of the Washington treaty, leaving the auxiliary classes unlimited as at present.

France Holds Parley's Fate.

France holds the fate of the conference in the hollow of its hand. It can make or break the conference.

Its terms as submitted to the conference are high. It wants the right to a navy of 725,000 tons by 1935, although it has less than 500,000 tons of serviceable ships today. It wants the right to ten big cruisers compared to Great Britain's 15.

Its price for scaling down these demands is another security pact by which America would become an ally of the league of nations in the use of force against violators of the Kellogg anti-war pact. If America is willing to pay this price a five-power naval limitation agreement can be had along the lines of the Anglo-American agreement embodied in the Stimson proposals.

If America is unwilling to pay this price, the conference must choose between a five-power treaty limiting cruisers and other auxiliaries upward to the level of superiority Great Britain will demand over the French, or a treaty in which France will be left out, based on Mr. Stimson's proposals.

In the former case America, in order to approach a fleet parity with Great Britain, would have to build 100,000 tons more of cruisers than contemplated by President Hoover at the beginning of his negotiations with Mr. MacDonald last summer. In the latter case, what Mr. Stimson calls a parity could only be attained by building 40,000 tons of cruisers more than President Hoover originally planned.

DOCTORS FIND TAFT SLEEPING AFTER RELAPSE

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (Monday).—(AP)—The Taft home was quiet at 3 a. m. and the lights in the former chief justice's room had been extinguished for several hours. There had been no report on his condition since shortly before 11 o'clock, when his physicians announced he was asleep, with his general condition unchanged.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—Despite a slight relapse this morning, William Howard Taft tonight still was holding his own against a complication of ailments so serious that physicians four days ago abandoned hope for his recovery.

The doctors between 10:30 and 11 this evening paid Mr. Taft their last visit for tonight, unless some emergency should recall them to the bedside. Upon leaving they said that their patient was "sleeping nicely" and that there was no change in his condition, which earlier today they had found not as favorable as it was yesterday.

Doctors Call Three Times.

Three visits were made by the physicians to the Taft home today and tonight, and aside from the report of a falling in blood pressure this morning, all of their statements indicated that there was little change.

Meanwhile all over the country Sabbath day prayers were offered for the distinguished jurist who has held the nation's two highest offices, those of President and chief justice of the United States Supreme court.

The two physicians, Dr. Francis R. Hagner and Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, plan to call on Mr. Taft again tomorrow morning at an earlier hour than usual. They expect to arrive at 8:30, instead of late morning, explaining tonight that the reason for this earlier visit is that Mr. Hagner has to perform several operations tomorrow. They wanted this made clear to avoid reports of a crisis tomorrow when they appear so much earlier than their usual hour. This announcement was accepted as an indication that the doctors feel certain their patient will live through the night.

"Not So Favorable."

The first bulletin was issued by the physicians at noon. It read:

"The condition of the former chief justice, while unchanged since last night, is not so favorable as it was yesterday morning. There is again a slight falling in blood pressure."

Dr. Hagner called at the Taft home again at 6 o'clock and Dr. Claytor at 6:30. They emerged a half hour later with the following bulletin:

"The former chief justice has taken more nourishment. His condition is unchanged since morning."

Bulletins Only Information.

After the noon visit the physicians had mentioned the fact that Mr. Taft recognized them as they entered the sick room, but this evening they were silent on the matter, indicating that he was either too weak to talk or had again entered a state of half coma. Asked if they believed their patient would live through the night, the physicans declined to go beyond the following bulletins.

Virtually all social life in the capital has been at a standstill since the former President entered the critical stage of his illness and today further important events scheduled for the first of the week were called off. A dinner for Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone and another for Vice President Curtis were canceled, as was the annual luncheon of the ladies' auxiliary of the Press club.

President Hoover, who visited the Taft home late yesterday, did not call today, but kept in close touch with the sick room through frequent reports to the White House.

Bystander Joins Traffic Dispute; Is Fatally Slugged

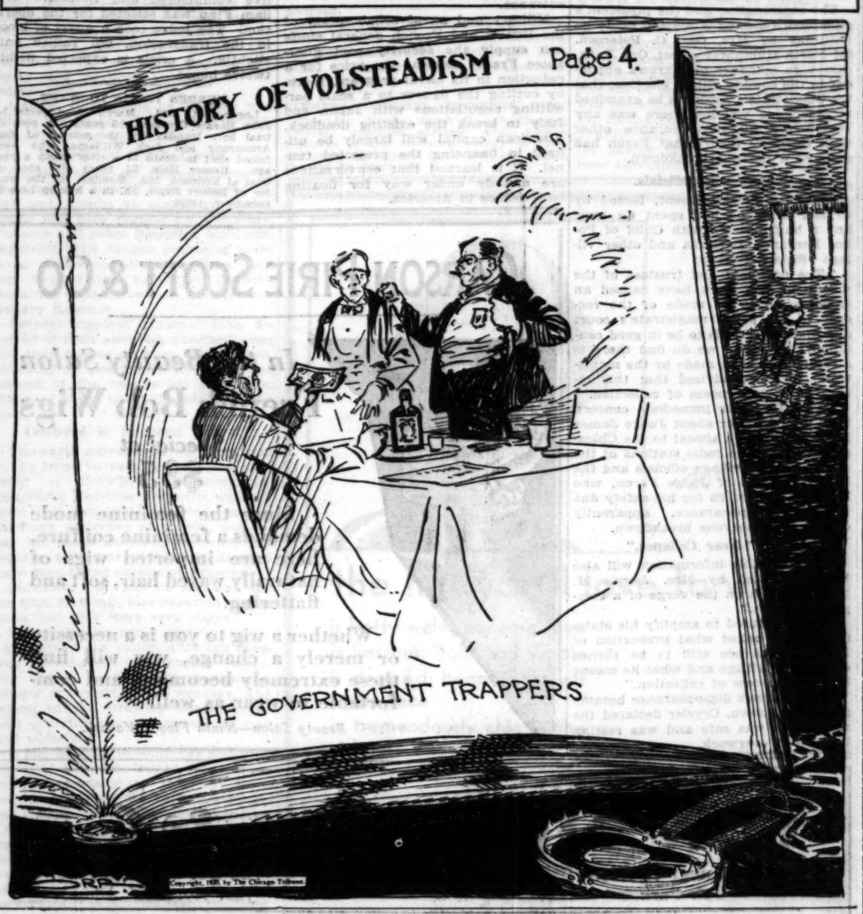
Two Negro motorists collided yesterday at 48th street and South Park way. Although a dented fender was the only damage, there was an argument, which was joined by Arthur Dolan, 26 years old, 6639 Justine street, who was unacquainted with either driver. Dolan chose to support one of the motorists and the other seized a jack handle, slugged Dolan on the head and fled, as did his adversary. Dolan was taken to the Chicago hospital, where he died.

PROHIBITION



1 DEAD, 13 HURT IN $3,000,000 WHARF BLAZE

New Orleans, La., March 2.—(AP)—One person was killed, 13 were injured, and property damage in excess of $3,000,000 was caused tonight by a river front fire that swept through the dock board's warehouses and wharves leased by the Anderson-Clayton Warehouse and Compress company and Alabo Warehouse company.

The underpinning of the wharves burned away and the structure collapsed into the river, carrying with it approximately 35,000 bales of cotton.

The victims were caught aboard the steamship Scantic of the Dixie Mediterranean Steamship company docked at the wharf. The ship could not move with her boilers cold and caught fire while the crew was entertaining visitors, including several women and children. Some of them saved their lives by leaping into the river before the burning Scantic was towed out into the middle of the river by the fire tug Samson that turned streams of water on her. A charred body was found in the Scantic.

A streak of flame ignited the dress of Mrs. Elizabeth Dattam of New Orleans, and Charles Lunn, member of the Scantic crew, seized her and jumped overboard. He towed her to safety by clutching her hair.

East Ohio Street Cafe Held Up; Loot Is $150

A robber early this morning entered the G-T restaurant at 100 East Ohio street and at the point of a pistol took $150 from the night manager, James Smenos, 2638 Summerdale avenue. Four patrons witnessed the holdup but were not molsted. The robber escaped.

Jail 868 More in Crime War; 8 Gun Toters

Entering the fourth week of a sustained drive against crime, the Chicago police rounded up 868 prisoners in the 24 hour period ending at midnight last night. Eight of these were carrying pistols and 129 have police records.

The pistol toters will be tendered to State's Attorney Swanson today for indictment by the grand jury, Deputy Police Commissioner Steke announced. The 129 men who have records will be paraded at a showup today.

Two "Big Shots" Still in Jail.

Two of the three "big shots" seized in the Saturday night offensive still languished in detective bureau cells early this morning. James Belcastro, once accused as a director of the bomb syndicate, produced his release on a disorderly conduct charge by posting a real estate bond, but "Mike de Pike" Heitler, Stickney dive keeper, and Louis Clementi, a figure in the Octavius Granady murder, were held unbooked for further questioning.

At yesterday's showup 269 prisoners were paraded before an audience of 150, the crowd of spectators being lessened by the new rule prohibiting casual visitors and by the cold weather. In line with Heitler, Clementi, and Belcastro were two robbers whom patrolmen had caught in the act.

Caught in Store Holdup.

One was Julius Steuben 4652 Drexel boulevard. Patrolman James Sheehan got the drop on Steuben as he held a gun on the manager of a shoe store at 300 East 47th street. Another was Frank Gomers, 719 North Dearborn street, who was threatening a pedestrian with a pistol in front of 622 South Halsted street when a flivver squad of the Maxwell district disarmed him.

Other gunmen in the line were Demitri Ivanoff, 818 West Adams street; Robert White, 2854 Fifth avenue; Aaron Lackay, a Negro of 564 East 37th street; Julius Thomas, a Negro of 473 East 30th street, and Francis Connors, a Negro of 3653 South Park way.

Work for Guntoters

"This drive is producing results and will continue," declared Deputy Police Commissioner Stege.

"The drive has particularly reduced the number of gun carriers," Stege continued. "None of the better known racketeers will venture out with pistols any longer. We are weeding out the pistol toters group by group. Now if the state's attorney will indict them and send them to prison, the lesson will be complete."

ADMITS KILLING WIFE BY POISON OVER RELIGION

Mobile, Ala., March 2.—[Special.]—Tillman E. Davis, a Florala, Ala., insurance agent, today confessed to officers at Andalusia that disputes with his wife over religion led to his killing her with poison and then faking an automobile accident in an effort to show she died accidentally.

Davis made his statement after an autopsy had been performed on his wife's body, which was found near Davis' overturned car Thursday.

Officers said Davis had confessed to substituting poison for a headache tablet after his wife had complained of being ill. Earlier in their married life, Davis said, he decided to shoot his wife and then changed his mind.

WARMER TODAY, WEATHER MAN PROMISES CITY

A cold wave from the Mackenzie river basin brought a nip of January weather and an inch of snow to Chicago yesterday. Clear skies were promised for today by the forecaster, with a rising temperature this afternoon and appreciably warmer weather tomorrow.

The temperature, which stood at 22 degrees at midnight Saturday, declined slowly but steadily all day yesterday, sinking to 15 above at 7 o'clock last evening. There it rested, with indications of no further decline before daybreak. The 15 degree mark was just two points below the minimum recorded for all of February.

BISHOP WEDS COUPLE WITH A SINGLE WORD

Denver, Colo., March 2.—(AP)—A "one word" wedding ceremony was performed here today in the Liberal church, with Bishop Frank H. Rice pronouncing the single word "married" as Maria Rita Salazar, 15, and Anacleto Ines stood before him with clasped hands.

A miniature fiesta, with feasting and dancing, followed the shortest wedding service ever held in Denver.

The bishop declared there is nothing in Colorado laws to indicate how many words a minister must pronounce in a marriage and that two attorneys had agreed the ceremony was legal.

Harrison B. Riley's Home Disappoints Burglars

Burglars early yesterday broke into the home of Harrison B. Riley, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago Title and Trust company, at 1822 Sheridan road, Evanston, but because of precautions taken by the family before leaving for California last fall, nothing of value was stolen. The burglary was discovered by a private watchman, who found a dining room window pried open. Mrs. Kenneth Cotton Brown, 515 Abbotsford avenue, Kenilworth, a daughter of Riley, said all valuables had been placed in storage.

Real Politics Adds Spice to Elks' Election

Bustling activity was apparent yesterday in a headquarters established in the Hotel La Salle to promote the candidacy of M. G. Frankel for exalted ruler of the Chicago Lodge of Elks. Mr. Frankel and his board of strategy were holding forth on ways and means of defeating the present exalted ruler, Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg.

Though the campaigners were decrying the entrance of politics into a fraternal organizations, bulletins were being sent to newspapers. The benevolent and protective brethren were making issues of Judge Feinberg's vote on the election of a south park commissioner, on his placing of former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe at the side of Vice President Charles Curtis at the Armistice day ceremony, and on his politics generally.

Feinberg Also Active.

Nor is Judge Feinberg idle. There are reports that the exalted ruler has established headquarters in the Sherman hotel with ten girl campaigners using the telephone to canvass votes in the election of next Thursday, when the polls will be open from noon to 8 o'clock at night at 174 West Washington street.

Just as in a precinct and ward election, the "outs" are making complaints against the "ins." There are charges of steamrolling, of pressure put on the voters, and of enlarging the list of registered voters.

Frankel's adherents say that under proper fraternal procedure Frankel should succeed to the exalted rulership from his present position as esteemed leading knight, but that precedent was shattered a year ago when Judge Feinberg was nominated and elected "from the ranks."

Feinberg was a candidate merely to rehabilitate Crowe's political fortunes, his opponents say, and they claim he proved that when he let Crowe share the camera space with Vice President Curtis while State's Attorney Swanson sat fifteen rows in the rear, and while state and city officers were merely part of the crowd.

Feinberg Defends Action.

Judge Feinberg replied that Crowe was chairman of the reception committee when Vice President Curtis was the guest of honor. The exalted ruler also charged that his opponents, unable to defeat him on ordinary issues, had dragged Crowe into the conflict, though Crowe does not now hold a public office.

The Hotel La Salle publicity committee deplored the bi-partisanism of Judge Feinberg, a Republican, in voting last Saturday for Benjamin F. Lindheimer, a Democrat, for south park commissioner. Mr. Lindheimer's election was attributed to a Crowe deal. Mr. Crowe, as president of the Irish Fellowship club, has arranged a St. Patrick's day dinner here with Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York as an attraction, having failed to get President Hoover to attend and speak at the dinner.

To all of this Judge Feinberg replied that Crowe is an Elk in good standing, as is Attorney Joseph P. Savage, formerly an assistant to Crowe and now his law partner.

Threats Are Charged.

Partisans of Frankel called the newspapers to charge that former Ald. Leonard Grossman had been threatened by Trustee Louis Cohen because he nominated Frankel. Grossman denied this, but said he was warned for his own good by several persons not to nominate Frankel.

There was also the charge that Peter Drautzberg of the federal secret service office was advised by a high federal building officeholder to support Feinberg, but the story brought from Drautzberg the statement that neither Frankel nor Judge Feinberg suited him.

Frankel said he wanted the election for exalted ruler held on a higher plane than ward politics and Judge Feinberg said this statement ill became "a man who brought politics into the fraternal order."

SURVEY SHOWS CHICAGO LEADS IN RUM DIVORCE

Wives Complain of Modern Liquor.

Drys Fight Back

The Methodist board of prohibition, temperance and public morals began a counter attack on the wets in Washington yesterday by denouncing all the recent testimony before the congressional committee.

The ratio of divorces granted for drunkenness in the Circuit court of Cook county is more than five times greater than in the courts of the entire country. Liquor is responsible for one divorce out of every 12 granted by the local Circuit court, as compared with one out of every 65 in the United States as a whole. More than 8 per cent of the Cook county divorces last year were caused by moonshine, while in the whole nation the percentage was only 1.5 in 1926.

Divorces resulting from the excessive use of liquor are increasing in Chicago. But throughout the country drinking causes less than half as many divorces as it did before the dry law was enacted.

Based on Wallace Report.

These are some of the observations made by Thomas O. Wallace, clerk of the Circuit court, in comparing his 1929 annual report on divorces, completed yesterday, with the federal reports on divorces.

According to Mr. Wallace's calculations, probably more than one-tenth of the liquor divorces of the nation are now granted by the Circuit judges of Cook county. Perhaps as many more have been granted by the judges of the Superior court, so that Cook county can probably claim the honor, when all the comparable figures are available, of supplying more than 20 per cent of the liquor divorces of the nation, although its divorces are only about 4.5 per cent of the country's total.

Judges Indicate a Dislike.

"While the federal government does not compile any statistics showing the relationship between divorces for drunkenness and alimony," said Mr. Wallace, "the judges of the Circuit court indicate a dislike for a man who becomes intoxicated so frequently that his wife finds him unbearable.

"It is seldom that a drinker escapes paying alimony in the Circuit court. In the last three years the cases in which alimony was ordered paid varied from 17 per cent in 1927 to 21.28 per cent in 1929. Of the 733 wives granted alimony last year about 275 were divorced from men charged with overindulgence in liquor.

"The number of persons who obtained divorces in 1929 because of the use of liquor was 302, of which about 9 per cent were men.

Liquor Divorces Increase.

The following table shows the relative increase in liquor divorces in Cook county during the last three years:

	Total Divorces.	Liquor Divorces.	Pct.
1927	3,301	263	7.7
1929	3,466	302	8.74

The 8.74 per cent of liquor divorces in the Cook County Circuit court may be contrasted with the figures presented by the federal government on divorces. The federal statistics show that in 1926 only 1.5 per cent of the divorces of the nation were caused by drinking. In 1925 the percentage was 1.4 per cent, in 1924 and 1923 it was 1.3 per cent, and in 1922 it was 1 per cent.

In pre-Volstead days of 1916, the federal government found that 3.4 per cent of the divorces of the nation were caused by drunkenness. In 1906 the percentage was 3.9 and in 1896 it was 3.7.

DRYS COUNTER ATTACK

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—Describing most of the wet testimony as "reckless" and "sensational allegations," the organized drys today opened their counter attack on the anti-prohibition evidence presented before the house judiciary committee with a broadside from the Methodist board of prohibition, temperance, and public morals.

Under the heading, "The Wet Hearings in Congress," the board's weekly clip sheet, edited by Dr. Clarance True Wilson, devoted half its space to a rebuttal of the wet charges and attacks on the witnesses. The article called the drys to arms to counteract what it depicted as "support of crime," "rebellious obstruction," and "a war against prosperity."

The Methodist board's statement was a forerunner to the testimony to be presented to the committee by the drys when their turn comes at the hearings the congressional group is holding on six pending resolutions to modify or repeal the 18th amendment. Anti-prohibition witnesses have held the floor six days and will wind up their testimony Wednesday, after which drys will take the stand. The hearings are being held Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

A Change of Heart.

Today's statement from the Methodist board indicated an apparent change of heart by that organization, as on Feb. 13 at the start of the hearings it took an aloof position, stating it could not "see any reason" for appearing in opposition to the "beer bloc" bills.

In today's statement, however, it declared the wet testimony "will be followed by representations in refutation of the sensational charges made."

The Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the National Association of Organizations Supporting the 18th Amendment, will have charge of the dry time at the hearings. Although it has been reported the prohibitionists will try to bring to Washington such men as Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and A. P. Sloan to offset the wet testimony of Pierre S. Du Pont, W. W. Atterbury and other men of influence and wealth the Rev. Mr. Dinwiddie has kept his list of witnesses secret. He said today they will not be disclosed until the "wet fling" is over.

Reckless Statements.

"The statements made by the opponents of prohibition have in many cases been so ill-considered, so reckless, so sensational, that they are calculated to cause a distinct reaction against the wet movement," the Methodist board statement asserted.

"It was noticeable the representations made were in behalf of rebellious obstruction or outright repeal of the 18th amendment. No program for dealing with the evils alleged to have been produced by prohibition was proposed either in the bills before the committee or in the testimony; no unity of thought on the part of the opponents of the prohibition law was manifested."

As a "typical instance of extravagance," the board cited the testimony of W. W. Liggett, magazine writer, who charged there are 700 speakeasies in Washington and 3,000 beer flats in Minneapolis. No person living could have such information, the statement asserts, "although men with excellent opportunities for acquiring information are quite ready to label as absurd the statement of Mr. Liggett."

Rap Col. Grayson Murphy.

Referring to the declaration by Col Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York banker and director of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, that no business man of his acquaintance observed the dry law, the board said:

"If Mr. Murphy can find an intelligent man in the United States who regards his statement as credible we will revise our opinion that such testimony is of great advantage to the dry cause."

The testimony of Dr. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie institute, was disposed of with a remark that, in view of the reception once given by Carnegie students to his previous testimony regarding drinking by youths, he should "crawl in a hole" instead of testifying again.

Much space is devoted to an attempted refutation of the charge by Pierce Blewett, Jamestown, N. D. farmer, that prohibition has injured agriculture, and to a contrary statement by L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, quoting statistics to show farm prosperity has increased under prohibition and that "ten years' experience with a saloonless nation has convinced the American farmer that, economically, socially, financially, and morally, the country is very much better off."

"Other witnesses reiterated the assertion the law is 'unenforceable,' which simply means they do not intend to obey it," the Methodist board article continued. "This is nothing less than a denial of the privileges of democracy to the majority group, which does not find itself in accord with their particular opinions."

The wet proposal for a referendum to determine what a majority thinks the board dismissed as "simply a scheme to abolish state lines, abandon the American form of government, and force a decision by political methods well known to the wets for generations."

PERFUMERY COMPANY TO FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO PURCHASE ALCOHOL

New York, March 2.—(AP)—Legal steps by a New York perfume company to restrain the United States government from forbidding sale of alcohol to it were announced today by Aromatics Magazine, perfumery publication, which also announced the result of an independent investigation purporting to show that the perfume and essential oil industries "may be ruined by prohibition."

C. H. Selick, Inc., New York perfume firm, one of 186 firms indicted Feb. 10 in Chicago on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, will be heard Tuesday in federal court on its petition against Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury; James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, and Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator.

The petition asks that these officials be required to show cause why they should not be restrained from stopping sale of alcohol to the petitioner.

DRY LAW NO PANACEA

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, executive secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals, told an audience in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church tonight that drinking was a "private, individual matter" and that prohibition was "no panacea to cure all the spiritual ills of a people."

"The prohibition laws," Dr. Wilson said, "were enacted to regulate public matters like the licensed sale of intoxicants. Prohibition was not designed to prevent you or me from drinking. This is a matter for our personal tastes to decide.

"Young people carrying hip flasks and staging drunken orgies nowadays are not to be blamed on prohibition. It may mean that their home life influences are weakened, that your Sunday schools are not aggressive and holding their interests, that their moral education is lax.

"That, I think, is what has happened. Prohibition is no panacea to cure all the spiritual ills of a people. Temperance must be promoted largely by education, by moral upbringing, by Sunday school influence. These agencies are designed to influence private tastes. Prohibition was never designed for such purposes."

BOARD APPROVES FERON RECORDS; ASKS SEARCH AID

Says Money Is Due, but Is "Being Collected."

The records of James M. Feron, missing Oak Park police magistrate, were examined yesterday by the village trustees and found to be "in good condition," although "there is a return still to be made by the magistrate," according to a statement issued last night by C. H. Crysler, president of the village board.

The examination and the president's statement followed a demand made on Saturday by Mrs. Carl C. Peterson, 631 North Humphrey street, Oak Park, campaign manager for Feron's opponent in the coming village election, that the magistrate's accounts be examined to determine whether there was any reason for his disappearance other than Crysler's theory that Feron had suffered a nervous breakdown.

Confers with Officials.

The trustees' statement, issued by Crysler after he had spent an hour and a half closeted with Chief of Police Benjamin Barsema and other village officials, follows:

"The president and trustees of the village of Oak Park have caused an examination to be made of the records of the police magistrate's court and find the records to be in good condition. However, we do find there is a return still to be made by the magistrate. We are advised that this return is in the process of collection.

"Therefore, our immediate concern is to hear from or about Judge James M. Feron and we appeal to the Chicago press and the radio stations of the city to aid the village officials and the host of friends of Judge Feron, who have grave concern for his safety due to his disappearance, apparently caused by a nervous breakdown.

Wife "Near Collapse."

"Any tangible information will also be appreciated by Mrs. James M. Feron, who is on the verge of a complete collapse."

Crysler refused to amplify his statement when asked what proportion of Feron's fines are still to be turned over to the village and what he meant by "the process of collection."

When Feron's disappearance became generally known, Crysler declared the magistrate was safe and was resting because of overwork.

TUBE UNDER ENGLISH CHANNEL WINS O. K. OF BRITISH PREMIER

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—A tunnel under the English channel may save the London conference. Prime Minister MacDonald took an extremely favorable view of the parliamentary report on the tube between England and France, which he examined over the week-end at Chequers, it is learned. The prime minister at tomorrow's cabinet meeting will urge immediate action on the construction of the bore.

The undertaking provides for considerable outlays for material and will aid the unemployment situation greatly. Its adoption will mean immediate pourparlers with France regarding a safeguarding line and common measures to be taken to defend it, especially from the continental entrance.

Military and naval collaboration of the British and French general staffs can supply the security pact guarantee France asks as the price for a reduction in its naval program, thereby cutting the figures to a scale permitting negotiations with Japan and Italy to break the existing deadlock. American capital will largely be utilized in financing the projected tunnel. It is learned that conversations are already under way for floating bond issues in America.

JUDGE HOPKINS' CONDITION GRAVE AFTER OPERATION

Superior Judge Jacob H. Hopkins, a patient at Mercy hospital for the last three weeks, was reported in an extremely grave condition early this morning. His physician, Dr. Philip H. Kreuscher, expressed fears that he might not live through the day.

Judge Hopkins was suffering from an intestinal trouble when he was taken to the hospital. Dr. Kreuscher operated two weeks ago and again last Tuesday, in conjunction with Dr. Karl A. Meyer. The cause of the ailment was removed, but the operations left the patient too weak to swallow nourishment.

For the last few days Judge Hopkins has been nourished only by subcutaneous injections. His strength was so exhausted yesterday afternoon that Dr. Kreuscher decided upon a blood transfusion. Police Sergeant William McCarthy and his squad of five volunteered and Detective William Finn was selected for the operation. The judge took a quart of blood in the transfusion, but rallied only slightly. A crisis is expected within twelve hours.

MURDER TRIALS TO START.

Logansport, Ind., March 2.—[Special.]—John Horace Crockett, 25 years old, goes on trial here Monday for the murder of Earl Armstrong and Jack Williams, who were found shot to death in a river camp a year ago. Homer Hale, 21 years old, goes on trial at Kokomo, Ind., Monday, for the murder of Robert Jones, 58, in a holdup here in December, 1928.

$2,500,000 BUDGET IS PREPARED FOR EVANSTON THIS YEAR

A budget for $2,500,000, designed to take care of the municipal needs of Evanston for 1930, will be presented to the Evanston city council by Ald. Peter Jans, chairman of the finance committee, at the regular meeting tonight. The increase of approximately $261,000 over last year's budget is laid largely to accrued interest on outstanding tax anticipation warrants.

Kidnap Theater Manager on South Shore; Steal $500

Three robbers last night kidnaped Richard Salkin, 7958 Wabash avenue, manager of the Shore theater at 2507 East 75th street, as he was on his way home. They forced him into an automobile and took him back to the theater, where he was compelled to open the office safe. The bandits escaped with $500, leaving Salkin in the theater, bound with his own muffler. The robbery was the second one at the Shore theater in the last five months.

WALES STRICKEN WITH MALARIA ON HIS AFRICAN VISIT

NAIROBI, Kenya, Africa, March 2.—(AP)—The prince of Wales is suffering from an attack of subtertian malaria, and has returned to Nairobi in consequence. The fever, it is officially announced, is following its normal course and it is anticipated that the prince will be restored to health within a few days.

Will Probably Return.

LONDON, March 2.—(AP)—Physicians attached to the British court tonight expressed no anxiety over the illness of the prince of Wales, declaring that the Nairobi medical service was well organized to combat malaria and that the prince could not be in better hands.

Nothing is definitely known here of any change in the prince's plans as a result of the illness, but it is said he may return home and act in place of his majesty at the forthcoming court receptions in London. This is the first real illness the prince has suffered during all his world wide travels. It is thought best for him to remain at Nairobi for at least a fortnight after the fever has subsided, but inadvisable for him to remain much longer in Africa.

90 FLEE 2 FIRES IN FLAT BUILDING; HUNT FIREBUG

Third Blaze Destroys Settlement Church.

Three spectacular Sunday fires, two of which occurred in the same apartment building and drove tenants of thirty apartments to the street in the early morning hours yesterday, caused $10,000 damage and kept firemen busy the greater part of the day. The third fire completely wrecked the old Firman Congregational church at 832 Gilpin place and the smoke routed occupants of the Mary Crane nursery and Hull House, nearby.

The two fires in the apartment building, at Division street and Crawford avenue, were being investigated last night by the police, who believed that they had been started by an incendiary, as they occurred in sections of the building which are separated by a double fire wall. Two persons were overcome by the smoke and three were carried to safety by firemen.

Spreads to Stairway.

The first fire started shortly after 1 a. m., in the basement of the building at 1206 North Crawford avenue, and spread to the dry goods store of Samuel Kemper on the first floor and to the stairway above the store. Firemen found Charles Phillips, 65 years old, an invalid, in his apartment on the second floor and carried him to the street. Walter Ponca Jr., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ponca, also living on the second floor, was overcome by the smoke, but was revived.

The firemen had left the scene only a short time before the second fire was discovered by Mrs. Jeanne Parquette, 23 years old, a nurse, living at 1212 North Crawford avenue. Smelling smoke, she opened the door to her apartment and found the stairway in flames, cutting off her escape. She screamed, and other tenants summoned the fire department.

Two Carried to Safety.

Mrs. Parquette and her son, Eugene, 5 years old, were carried to safety by Charles Meltzer, 175 West Jackson boulevard, a fire insurance adjuster, who entered the apartment through a rear door after the woman had been overcome by the smoke.

Most of the ninety tenants of the three story building fled to the street in their night clothing. The damage caused by the first blaze was estimated at $3,000 and that of the second at $7,000.

The church fire broke out about an hour after the morning services had closed, having started apparently from sparks thrown up by two furnaces in the basement. A passerby summoned the Rev. Juan F. Monita, the assistant pastor, from his study in the Firman house settlement next door, and he, with the Rev. Lacey Simms, the pastor, rushed in to rescue valuables, but found the interior already ablaze. Only the walls of the church, which was one of the community centers of the Italian district, were left standing. Mr. Simms said the loss would be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Fire from an overheated smelting pot swept the interior of a one story building at 836-38 West Kinzie street, occupied by the Division Smelting and Refining company, early yesterday morning, causing a loss estimated at $5,000.

Triplets Celebrate 12th Birthday

PREDICTS SLOW RECOVERY FOR FRANK M'ERLANE

Frank McErlane, called the most merciless of all Chicago gangsters, will recover from the bullet wounds suffered a week ago in a pistol battle with two gunmen in his room at the German Deaconness hospital, but he will be an invalid for four or five months, according to Dr. George A. Drolson, 6568 South Halsted street.

Four bullets have been taken from McErlane's body, Dr. Drolson said. He scoffed at the idea that the bullets had been poisoned. McErlane is at the home of his father, John McErlane, 6941 Anthony avenue.

Scout Saved by Own First Aid Expected to Recover

Phillip Tuttle, 13 years old, 7114 Normal boulevard, whose Boy Scout knowledge of first aid saved his life on Saturday after he had been struck by a train at 67th and Wallace streets, was resting easily last night at St. Bernard's hospital, and physicians said that he would recover. Phillip's left leg was severed just below the knee when he was struck by a Chicago and Eastern Illinois passenger train. He seized a railroad spike and, using it and a handkerchief, made a tourniquet with which he stanched the flow of blood.

Kidnap Chauffeur, Beat Him Up, Rob Him of $50

Raymond Blaa, 5451 Flournoy street, chauffeur for Charles Shackelton, wealthy grain dealer residing at the Graemere hotel, 113 North Homan boulevard, was beaten and robbed by two armed men who kidnaped him in his employer's automobile from in front of the hotel last night. They forced him to drive to Diversey and Natema avenues. There one of the bandits knocked him unconscious with a pistol butt. He was robbed of $50, but the car was not stolen.

Named by Wilson

Blanche, Lester, and Sylvia Rudy, christened the "thrift stamp triplets" by former President Wilson when they were born, yesterday celebrated their 12th birthday at their home at 2010 Humboldt boulevard. At the time of their birth in 1918 their father, Sol Rudy, bought thrift stamps for each of them, and President Wilson wrote to the trio, commending them on their thrifty start in life.

FRESHMAN DIES, 2 CO-EDS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Lansing, Mich., March 2.—[Special.]—Clarence Snyder Jr., 19, a freshman at Michigan State college, East Lansing, was killed and Doris Gallagher, 17, Albion college freshman, was critically injured when Snyder's car left the road and crashed into a tree near Leslie, south of here, early this morning. Pauline Webster, 18, another Albion co-ed, was less seriously hurt. The accident occurred during a blinding snowstorm. Miss Gallagher was taken to a Lansing hospital, where her condition late today was said to be "fair."

Snyder was a son of the president of the Snyder Tool and Engineering company of Detroit. Miss Gallagher's father is W. Lloyd Gallagher, vice president of the Jefferson Savings bank of Grosse Pointe Park, exclusive Detroit suburb. Miss Webster also resides in Grosse Pointe Park.

Shot to Death in Cafe Quarrel; Cook Is Sought

John Manikis, 24 years old, 7836 Emerald avenue, was being sought by the police last night charged with killing William Hourihan, 36 years old, 8232 South Morgan street, who was shot to death early yesterday after a quarrel in a restaurant at 1156 West 79th street, where Manikis was employed as a cook.

NEW TEMBLORS ROCK BUILDINGS IN CALIFORNIA

Brawley Again Center of Earth Shocks.

Brawley, Cal., March 2.—(AP)—With damage estimates ranging as high as $100,000 in Brawley, this Imperial valley section today still was quivering as earthquake shocks which started yesterday afternoon continue in moderate intensity.

While most of the tremors have been slight since late last night, a few today were very noticeable. No further damage, however, has been reported since yesterday afternoon, when major shocks shook down cornices and copings, broke windows, cracked masonry and bounced automobiles like rubber balls.

Mrs. E. C. Dunham of Brawley was seriously injured when struck by falling debris, but will recover.

Majority of Hotels Closed.

Ropes closing off thoroughfares in the business district were removed today and, despite an occasional shake, traffic was near normal for a Sunday. Firemen and police inspected buildings, reporting little danger, providing there is no recurrence of heavy jolts. All but two of the hotels in Brawley remained closed, however, as a precautionary measure.

Several hundred persons, thus deprived of their sleeping quarters, even had they desired to make use of them, collected on street corners and in the lobbies of the two hotels still open. Many of them spent the night in the open.

Centered in Imperial Valley.

The earth movements were localized in the Imperial valley and appear centered at Brawley. Westmoreland, Calipatria, Holtville, Elcentro, and the town of Imperial reported severe shakings yesterday afternoon, but today the earth generally is quiet. No reports of major structural damage have been found outside of Brawley.

Caliexico, Cal., and its Mexican sister city, Mexicali, also reported visitations, but they were very slight.

There was no panic among the inhabitants of the valley, although there was considerable excitement yesterday during the heaviest movements. Guests in hotels, office workers, and others in the Brawley business district scurried into the streets on several occasions.

While damage to buildings structurally is believed slight, numerous stores, especially at Brawley, have lost considerable crockery, glassware, and other breakable merchandise. After a cursory inspection this morning Brawley police said that with the possible exception of an old two story hotel building, no structures will have to be razed.

SALE OF NECKLACE MAY BE ATTACKED IN NEW YORK COURT

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—An attempt may be made in Supreme court here to set aside the recent sale to a New York jewelry of the diamond necklace which Napoleon Bonaparte presented to his second wife, the Empress Marie Louise, according to an announcement today.

The necklace, said to be worth more than $400,000, was sold for $60,000 last month to D. M. Michel, a jeweler, by Charles L. Townsend, who held a power of attorney from Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria, owner of the necklace.

Mrs. Victor Eisenmenger of Mount Vernon, who asserts she has a power of attorney superseding the one given Mr. Townsend, has engaged counsel. She and her attorney, Laurence A. Steinhardt, are seeking Mr. Townsend, who left his home here two weeks ago and more recently left his hotel in Miami without leaving a forwarding address.

Assistant District Attorney Hastings said today that he will question in his office tomorrow the Archduke Leopold, a nephew of the Archduchess Maria Theresa.

CLEMENS HERSCHEL, ENGINEER, DIES.

3 AUTO DEATHS RAISE COUNTY'S 1930 TOLL TO 118

Three deaths in traffic accidents, one inflicted by a hit and run driver, increased Cook county's 1930 motor toll to 118 yesterday. The victims:

Fred Hurley, 28 years old, 509 West 42d street. He suffered a fatal skull fracture when a Supreme cab ran over him at 42d and State streets. The cab driver, who abandoned his machine and fled, is believed to be Robert Rice, Negro.

Oscar Lancto, 45 years old, 3119 West 38th place, a molder. While repairing a tire at 63d street and New England avenue he stepped from behind his car into the path of one driven by John W. Powers, 8047 Rhodes avenue. Powers took the victim to the Holy Cross hospital where he died five hours later.

William Masonberg, 21 years old, 2111 West Erie street. He died in the Illinois Masonic hospital of internal injuries suffered last Wednesday when he was crushed between a truck and trailer at 6400 Grand avenue.

HOOVER BESET BY TROUBLE AS FIRST YEAR ENDS

His Major Policies Are Under Heavy Fire.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—Trouble besets President Hoover on all sides as he rounds out this week the first year of his administration.

Appraisals of the accomplishments of the first year of the administration by friends and foes reflect uncertainty as to whether Mr. Hoover has gained or lost political strength.

Some of the most active supporters in his campaign are now either silently displeased or openly hostile. On the other hand, he has gained some support in quarters which originally were skeptical of his purposes.

Fortunately for the administration the presidential election is two years distant. The President's friends expect his policies, which are now in a state of flux, to prove themselves by the time the 1932 election rolls around. The 1930 biennial senatorial and congressional elections, however, are at hand and there is no disguising the apprehension in Republican quarters that the stage is set for Democratic gains in the senate and house.

Business an Important Factor.

A speedy and definite improvement in business conditions may do more to strengthen the administration than any other factor.

President Hoover has had a busy year. He has figured in more different lines of activity than most Presidents would have in the same period. He has started a record breaking number of commissions on investigating and research tasks which will require a year or two to complete. He has disposed definitely of some matters, but the major questions with which he has been engaged are still hanging fire.

The President's most important policies have centered around five propositions, farm relief, the tariff, prohibition, naval disarmament and business stability.

Farm Board on Trial.

The success or failure of the farm board in dealing with the agricultural situation during the coming summer is bound to have a marked effect upon the outcome of the senatorial and congressional elections this fall and upon the strength of Mr. Hoover as a candidate for renomination in the Republican convention of 1932.

The farm relief question has been one of those in which the President has followed a middle of the road course which has failed to win him complete favor with either of the extreme groups. His promises on farm relief caused Senator Smith W. Brookhart [Rep.,Ia.], as well as Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], to become active campaigners for him in 1928. Both turned against the Hoover farm relief bill during its consideration in congress because of the President's unwillingness to support the export debenture provision and other radical proposals. At the same time the President has alienated friends in the grain trade because the farm board with his approval has adopted policies which have tended to interfere with private business.

It is more than likely that when the tariff bill finally is enacted into law it will be about what Mr. Hoover wants. The final law, however, will not suit either the extreme protectionists or the extreme radicals in the President's party.

The protectionists had reason to believe from Mr. Hoover's Boston speech during the campaign that he was ready to take the lead in a general upward boost of the tariff for manufacturing industries. The bill as passed by the house last spring followed this line and while the President has made no public comments on its provisions he regards its rates as too high. The President is known to have approved some of the industrial rate cuts made by the coalition in the senate but he believes that the senate bill goes too far in the downward direction. It is also likely that some of the increases in agricultural rates made in the senate are a little too high to suit the President. Consequently he will use his influence for a compromise bill when it reaches the conference stage and the result may be that he will receive abuse from both groups of extremists.

Both Drys and Wets Annoyed.

Mr. Hoover has gone far to please the extreme drys and yet has been assailed on the prohibition issue by Senator Borah and other drys. At the same time he has disappointed greatly wets who interpreted his speech of acceptance at Palo Alto, Cal., as meaning that he would appoint a commission which would go into the merits of prohibition with a view to determining whether or not temperance is promoted by the 18th amendment and the Volstead act.

Out of the group of bills to tighten prohibition enforcement recommended by the Wickersham commission and the President not more than one, that which transfers the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the department of justice, seems to have any chance of final action at the present session of congress.

Naval Situation Similar.

The naval disarmament situation also has found the President steering a course which has subjected him to criticism from those on both sides of the issue.

Before taking office the President was supposed to be aligned with those favoring adequate military and naval preparedness. He won the favor of the pacifists by his approval of the Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war. His pronouncements for a reduction in naval armament and for a cutting down of military expenditures further pleased this group as well as disturbed preparedness advocates. At present the pacifists are angry because the President's delegation at London has not gone far enough in its proposals to cut down American naval strength and the other side is distressed because it thinks the delegation has gone too far and has played into the hands of foreign powers.

His Business Conferences.

President Hoover's actions with reference to business stability have represented one of the distinctive features of the first year of his administration. The President convened a series of conferences at the White House at which a remarkable group of industrial magnates were present. He obtained their coöperation in speeding up construction activities to take up the slack in employment due to a recession in other lines. While the President's friends say that there is no question that his activities along this line prevented a serious industrial depression, his political opponents are losing no opportunity to make capital o fthe fact that unemployment still exists and that business conditions remain uncertain.

One of the President's definite accomplishments is the 160 million dollar one year tax cut which was enacted by congress on his recommendation as a means of stimulating business.

Leviathan Has Night Club; 2d Class Quarters Removed

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—When the United States liner Leviathan sails on April 12 it will carry no second class passengers, but will have a night club for the recreation of travelers. The Leviathan, now in drydock for her annual reconditioning, is having its second class accommodations converted into "tourist third" quarters. The ship then will have first class, tourist third, and third class quarters. The night club will be known as the "Club Leviath."

ARMY PRISONER KILLED.

New York, March 2.—(AP)—Army officials announced tonight that Samuel F. Trenior, 35, an army prisoner who enlisted from Keyser, W. Va., was shot and killed yesterday when he attempted to wrest a rifle away from a guard on Governor's island.

SENATE WORKS NIGHTS TO PASS TARIFF MEASURE

Washington, D. C., March 2.—[Special.]—Night sessions will be continued this week by the senate as part of the drive to dispose of the tariff bill. While some of the more optimistic leaders predict passage of the bill by the end of this week, it is more probable final action will come during the following week.

Several controversies of major importance remain to be acted upon. These include the question of duties on sugar and also the proposal to restrict duty free importations of sugar from the Philippines. While the finance committee amendment increasing the duty on sugar met with defeat some time ago, there is a possibility of approval of a compromise proposal for a smaller increase.

Senator E. D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], in a statement issued today through the Democratic national committee, said the tariff bill as passed by the house increased taxes to the general public from $958,000,000 to $1,250,000,000 a year.

NAVY ASKS MORE FUNDS TO FIX UP "OLD IRONSIDES"

Boston, Mass., March. 2—[Special.]—Old Ironsides, the United States frigate Constitution will be floated probably March 15, her hull completed, and may lie moored at a wharf minus masts or any other gear for years unless patriotic persons contribute more funds. The $600,000 popular subscription, representing largely the pennies of school children, has been spent but still about $250,000 is lacking to complete the reconditioning of the historic old man o' war, a navy yard announcement said today.

Funds available at present will suffice for about one more month's work, according to Lieut. John A. Lord, in charge. Money is being received in modest sums, but the navy authorities would be glad to receive any substantial sums anybody may feel like giving.

WAUSAU MAN HELD.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 2.—[Special.]—James Keefe, 26 years old, of Wausau, Wis., is being held at central police station on suspicion that he burglarized the restaurant of Sam Fein at 184 11th street.

N. Y. CAB DRIVERS DON DUSTERS ON ORDER OF POLICE

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—Taxicab drivers of New York City began to outfit themselves today with the regulation uniform, cap, and duster prescribed by the police in an order that was to have become effective March 1.

Due to the inability of the cap and uniform makers to supply 60,000 taxicab drivers on short notice with the uniforms specified the time limit has been extended one week.

Despite the extension of the time limit taxicab drivers began buying caps and dusters.

PUBLIC GHOST WALKS TODAY FOR 43,000 WORKERS

But Skeleton Rattles in Tax Campaign.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The long awaited pay day arrives this morning for 43,800 public employés of Chicago. At the same time the campaign to complete the $74,000,000 rescue fund will be renewed with vigor.

The Strawn citizens' committee, as the managers of the Taxpayers' trust, will buy sufficient city, county, school, and sanitary district warrants today to permit the following expenditures for pay rolls and other pressing needs:

Purposes.	Amounts.
School teachers	$ 3,690,000
Other school help	1,106,615
City workers	3,700,000
Library workers	98,000
Tuberculosis sanitarium help	120,000
Police pensions	200,000
Firemen's pensions	85,000
County employes	1,873,000
County nursing	194,000
Mothers' pensions	225,000
Jurors' fees	190,000
Industrial schools	90,000
Blind relief	84,000
Aid to orphans	75,000
State's attorney's inquiries	19,000
Sanitary district bonds	342,000
Total	$12,100,616

All employés will be paid up to Feb. 15 except the county. Those employés will be paid to March 1. These were paid one month's salary last Friday, the period between Dec. 15 and Jan. 15. City employés obtained half a month's pay two weeks ago, the period between Jan. 1 and 15. The school teachers have not been paid since Dec. 24.

Officials Now Carefree.

City, county and school officials asserted yesterday that they have the tax anticipation warrants ready for the Strawn committee this morning, and that they will be ready to hand out pay checks as soon as the cash is obtained.

The public officials appeared to be carefree, now that cash is in sight for immediate pay roll needs. But private citizens who have undertaken the task of keeping the local governments operating, are concerned about the fact that they are shy $13,690,200 of the $74,000,00 goal deemed necessary to keep the city, county, schools and sanitary district going for the next four months.

The total of $60,309,800 so far raised has been gained through a subscription drive headed by Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company. His office force was busy Friday night, all day Saturday and yesterday sending telegrams asking for aid. These have gone to hundreds of business firms and men of means who have not yet subscribed.

Clarke Sounds Appeal.

"The full success of this rescue campaign can be achieved only through the support of those business concerns and well to do individuals who have not yet come to the front," said Mr. Clarke last night.

"This is an SOS call, if there ever was one in local governments. Just because we have succeeded in raising $60,000,000 and insuring immediate relief, there is no reason for the belief that the obstacle has been surmounted. The full quota of $74,000,000 must be subscribed, or our governments cannot continue to function until the tax collections are received in July.

"Many of Chicago's business men have met their responsibility quickly and gladly, but they cannot be expected to carry the whole burden. It is everybody's job—and everybody interested in the maintenance and stimulation of Chicago business must come to the front with a tonic that Chicago requires at this time—the tonic of restored credit.

"By this time every one in Chicago must recognize the seriousness of the plight of the local governments and therefore the seriousness of Chicago's business status."

Mr. Clarke had appointed 26 committees, representing as many lines of business, to conduct the campaign. The status of the rescue drive to date is indicated by the amount subscribed by each committee in proportion to the quota of each. A number of committees have obtained subscriptions for more than they were asked to obtain, but others show less favorable results. The status of the drive last night is indicated by the following table:

	Quota.	Total to date.	Pct.

Governor Tells Attitude.

The Chicago Federation of Labor made public yesterday a message from Gov. Emmerson regarding a special session of the general assembly for the purpose of straightening out the local fiscal troubles.

"In reply I wish to advise you," reads the governor's telegram, "that I am ready at any time as governor of Illinois to assist in every way in my power to bring about order out of the financial chaos now existing in Chicago and Cook county. However, there is nothing that the governor can do in the matter until some plan for constitutional amendment or legislative action is presented to him."

CALDWELL WILL DEBATE CUTMORE ON LOOP VALUES

A three cornered debate will be held Wednesday at the luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Hotel La Salle between H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education; John T. Redmond, president of the Building Managers' association, and Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment on loop tax valuations. Mr. Caldwell has been quoted as saying loop valuations have been reduced $300,000,000. Mr. Redmond and Mr. Cutmore have defended the fairness of the reassessment. They will appear at the luncheon to present their divergent views from the same platform for the first time. The Association of Commerce expects the debate to help settle public doubts concerning the efficacy of the tax revaluation.

TAX ROW BRINGS BERLIN CABINET NEAR COLLAPSE

Industrial Party Scores Socialist Schemes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 2.—The cabinet of Chancellor Hermann Mueller is on its last legs after the German People's party, at an extraordinary caucus held this noon, ordered its representatives in the cabinet, Foreign Minister Julius Curtius and Finance Minister Paul Moldenhauer, to resign because they consider it dangerous for the country to accept the new taxation plan the Socialists are trying to put over.

The caucus held by the Democrats also turned thumbs down on the government's "national sacrifice" taxation proposal. In a long and laborious sitting ending late tonight the Democrats worked out a new procedure which it is hoped the government, as well as the intransigeant German People's party, will accept. Under their plan "borrowings" would be made from 1931 taxes to lighten the burden of the 1930 fiscal year.

Seek to Save Coalition.

Last minute efforts are being made by men close to President Paul von Hindenburg to induce Dr. Curtius and Dr. Moldenhauer to remain in the cabinet, at least until the Young plan is accepted by the reichstag.

But members of the German People's party, which are recruited mostly from bourgeois circles among the industrialists, declare that the entire financial legislation must be purged of Socialist clauses which were smuggled in by the Socialists in the government.

Flay Utopian Ideas.

They say the new taxes such as the "national sacrifice" are directed against the hardest working classes in Germany for the benefit of the Red supporters of Utopian ideas.

Dr. Curtius and Dr. Moldenhauer were trying to see President von Hindenburg tonight, but Chancellor Mueller asked them to postpone their visit until after the cabinet conference tomorrow.

If the Mueller cabinet falls it will probably be succeeded by a Weimar coalition, which would be less friendly to the Young plan. The government hopes, however, that if it can keep the cabinet together until Thursday, when the Young plan gets a second reading in the reichstag, the importance of expediting the reparations laws will induce all the members to stick by the ship.

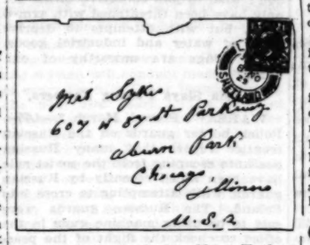
From the Shetland Islands



Letter received by Mrs. Herbert Sykes, 607 West 57th street, Chicago.

Lerwick is the county town of Shetland, Scotland. It lies on the east coast of Mainland, the principal member of the Shetland island group, the most northerly possession of Britain in Europe. The islands, about 100 in number and having an area of 551 square miles, lie in the North Atlantic about 55 miles northeast of the Orkney islands. About 30 of the islands are inhabited, their population being around 30,000. Berwick is the center of the herring fisheries. There is some whaling and seal hunting. The diminutive Shetland pony is famous the world over. Shetland sheep also produce a superior wool that is made locally into hosiery and shawls.

PARIS BLUEBLOOD GETS 8 MONTHS FOR AUTO THEFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—A certain ancestor of Eugene de Marigny was haled to court 12 centuries ago by Pepin the Short, king of the Franks, and given a title for his aptitude in wielding a into police court inP aris yesterday and given eight months for stealing an automobile.

The state prosecutor told the judge a few things about the last twig of the branch of the noble family, which is one of the two or three oldest in France. Eugene recalled proudly that he was not the first member of his tribe to get into trouble. A namesake of his who was superintendent of finances under Philippe the Good got in trouble back in the fourteenth century.

Young de Marigny inherited $400,000 in 1907. "Like his ancestors and those other bluebloods of today he was a rover and inclined to lawlessness," pleaded his attorneys in telling how he squandered his fortune, enlisted in the Foreign Legion, tried his hand at business, diplomacy, teaching, and lastly stealing.

GALLI-CURCI IS AGAIN HISSED AT BUDAPEST OPERA

BUDAPEST, March 2.—(AP)—Part of the audience at a performance of "Rigoletto" in the opera house last night demonstrated against Amelita Galli-Curci, Metropolitan opera star. Her singing was interrupted by whistling and hissing.

Many members of the audience left their seats because of the disturbance and demanded their ticket money back. Similar incidents occurred on Thursday when Mme. Galli-Curci sang in "Traviata."

The star made her debut in the United States with the Chicago Opera association as Gilda in "Rigoletto" in 1916, and later sang with the Metropolitan Opera company.

MRS. PRICE DUE TO FACE COURT FOR TRIAL TODAY

Will Seek Delay in Fake Holdup Case.

If Mrs. Laura B. Price goes on trial today on a charge of conspiring to collect insurance through a fake jewel "holdup," it will be after a determined fight by her counsel, Leonard Reid of the firm of Litsinger, Healy & Reid, to prevent it.

Maurice A. Barnett, a jewelry salesman, and Max Krakow, a manufacturing jeweler, were convicted on the same charge by a jury in Judge Harry B. Miller's court Saturday. Barnett faces a sentence of from one to five years; Krakow, six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Will Seek Delay.

Attorney Reid has announced he is considering several moves. He may seek a change of venue when Mrs. Price's case is called before Judge Miller this morning. In any event, he will seek a delay.

Mrs. Price, from her suite in the Seneca hotel, last night declared that she was ill and under a doctor's care. Asked if she would appear in court today, she said, "I don't see how I possibly could."

Rejects State's Terms.

When Barnett and Krakow went to trial last week Mrs. Price, who is the wife of Edwin C. Price, who made his wealth by selling cooperage to Chicago packers, was granted a separate trial and was slated for immunity by turning state's evidence. Later her attorney announced she would not testify for the state under Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller's terms that she must plead guilty and make restitution for the $18,000 in insurance which she received as a result of the "holdup."

"Her defense? It will be that she thought she was being really held up, of course," Attorney Reid said last night. "She is just a poor little innocent girl who got in the clutches of robbers."

Will Oppose Delay Plea.

Assistant State's Attorney Mueller said he would oppose any move for a delay.

"Mr. Reid apparently has the strange idea that his client can get out of this charge without making restitution," Mr. Mueller declared. "If Mrs. Price did not have prestige through her wealthy husband, and social standing, and could not engage good legal talent she would have been before a jury before this."

Nabbed Fleeing with Fur Coat; Two Others Held

Three youth were held on robbery charges by Niles, Ill., police last night. The arrests followed the capture of Leonard Rathbun, 23 years old, 5063 Winthrop avenue who, according to officials, was caught fleeing from The Cottage, a roadhouse at Waukegan road and Howard street, with a valuable fur coat belonging to a patron of the place. The others held are Vernon Hillman and William Vernon. The coat belonged to Miss Anna Reizick, 3463 McLean avenue. A handbag found in possession of the trio was identified as having been stolen at the cafe from Miss Vivian Weichbrod, 2704 Melrose street.

Harrison, 62, publisher of the Commercial News, Danville, Ill., and a power in Illinois Republican politics, died at 4 p. m. today at St. Francis hospital, Miami Beach. He came to Miami Beach Dec. 25 with Mrs. Harrison to recover from an attack of ptomaine poisoning followed by a blood clot which paralyzed his left leg and arm last October.

He dismissed his nurse five weeks ago and had practically recovered before suffering a relapse last week. He was taken to the hospital Saturday from the Hotel Pancoast, Miami Beach.

Mrs. Harrison, who was at his bedside when he died, will accompany the body to Danville, leaving here tomorrow.

Harrison, who was a newspaper reporter in Chicago back in the 90's, merged four Danville publications and got the Danville newspaper field all to himself. Then he gave his paper a world-wide notoriety when he printed his newspaper on stock made from cornstalks, receiving requests from the four corners of the earth for a copy of his innovation.

Mr. Harrison had been urged to run for governor and United States senator from Illinois, a member of the Republican state central committee in 1914 and delegate to the national convention in 1916. He was chairman of the Illinois Republican state convention in 1918, was a trustee of De Pauw university, Lake View hospital and Y. M. C. A., and chairman of the board of commissioners of the Illinois state penitentiary from 1905 to 1913.

He last year donated Harrison park, consisting of 233 acres, to the city of Danville in memory of his mother.

Born in Lebanon, Ind., Mr. Harrison was the son of Dr. Thomas Henry Harrison, himself a newspaper man. Mrs. Harrison was a newspaper woman, married to Mr. Harrison two years ago, who formerly was on the staffs of the Fort Worth [Texas] Record and Star Telegram and western representative of Editor and Publisher. She writes under the pen name of Lucile Brian.

RUSSIA LOOSENS IRON GRIP ON PEASANT CLASS

Stalin Sounds Warning as Farmers Rebel.

MOSCOW, March 2.—(AP)—Joseph Stalin, general secretary of the communist party and "strong man of Russia," today had a three-column article in all the newspapers of the capital warning communist officials they must slacken their campaign to complete specialization of agricultural lands, or the whole collective farm movement will fall.

The article was interpreted in official circles here as an indication that Stalin realized the collectivization campaign was rousing the peasantry to open hostility in certain cases, especially in districts where soviet village authorities attempted to force rapid collectivization upon small farmers.

Warning Comes at Crisis.

The warning, coming while rich peasants were slaughtering their cattle wholesale to prevent the animals from falling into the hands of the government, as well as committing more violent acts, was regarded as a distinct moderation of the government's rural policy. It was interpreted as meaning the Kremlin had decided the success of the collectivization policy depends largely on the good will and voluntary consent of the peasantry.

Declaring that 50 per cent of the peasants are already embraced in collective farms under state control, which farms have produced jointly more than 3,000,000 tons of seed for spring sowing, Stalin pointed out that the very success of the government's rural policy may give rise to overconfidence. He warned soviet village officials and others against too much enthusiasm.

Need Peasant Support.

"The success we have had may make some party members drunk and cause them to overestimate their strength, and underestimate the power of our enemies," says Stalin's statement. "We must take resolute measures against those party members who indulge in adventurous policies and anti-Leninist views, and who fail to realize the necessity of consolidating our present achievements in collectivization. We cannot collectivize farms by force. This is foolish and reactionary. Healthy collectivization must be based upon the active support of the bulk of the peasantry."

Stalin pointed out that the government cannot mechanically transplant collective farm construction in developed and undeveloped regions alike, and warned that village soviets' efforts at collectivization must be confined to those regions where conditions are favorable for its development. It must not be forced on the peasants in such backward regions such as Turkestan and the remote northern provinces, he said.

"In those regions peasants who don't wish to join collective farms not only have been threatened with armed force, but with attempts to deprive them of water and industrial goods. Such things are unworthy of our party."

Russia Slays Fleeing Farmers.

WARSAW, Poland, March 2.—(AP)—Polish border guards on the Russian frontier report that many Russian peasants escaping from the soviet rule have been killed recently by Russian guards, while attempting to cross into Poland. The Russian guards were said to be using machine guns in the effort to check the flight of the peasants, which has reached large proportions.

A group of twelve Russians, who arrived in Poland yesterday, said they numbered 20 when they started, but that eight of their band were killed by Russian guards along the frontier. In spite of the danger, the movement of peasants to Poland is said here to be increasing. Concentration camps have been formed for most of them, but those having relatives or friends in Poland were not interfered with.

FLEEING PEASANTS SHOT

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, March 2.—Esthonian and Latvian police, stationed on the soviet border, confirm reports of mass executions of peasants caught attempting to escape from Russia with their families. Both governments have instructed its police to turn back refugees, fearing the countries would be flooded with mass migration of Russian peasantry.

Police often permit families to remain a day in their territory, assisting them to return across the border after nightfall. However, in the vicinity of Ritupe, Latvia, and Narwa, Esthonia, several cases have been reported where, on turning back, peasants were arrested and all males above the age of 16 were shot.

Troop movements along the soviet side, which have alarmed some border states, are only reinforcements for Russian frontier guards. Both the Esthonian and Latvian consulates in Leningrad and Moscow are flooded with petitions for visas from Russian born Esthonians and Letts. Moscow is demanding $200 passport fees for each declassed person, and neither of the two small Baltic states has resources sufficient to permit them to aid their nationals living in Russia.

Draft Students to Farms.

The threatened collapse of the huge agricultural machine erected by the soviet government through its failure to collect and distribute sufficient seed for spring sowing is bringing continuous sessions of the council of people's commissars in Moscow. With the spring plowing only a month away and 50 per cent of the individual peasant farms in Russia liquidated, their places being taken by collective farms, less than 40 per cent of the needed seed is on hand.

In an effort to prevent the decrease of cultivated area, with its resultant danger of famine, the commissars have decided to mobilize all the students attending agricultural colleges and polytechnics and send them to newly organized communes to assist in organization of farm work.

According to a decree published in the Pravda, students must immediately be assigned to two months' work on collective farms, receiving the same wages the government pays trained agriculturists, or about $60 a month. The decree assures the students they will be reaccepted in college when the sowing is finished and that extra credit will be granted for successful work. The students refusing to accept assignments will be expelled.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed

Sow Now for a Fine Lawn

MORE than 50 years ago, Chicago Parks lawn seed was first prepared by Vaughan's Seed Store for use in the Chicago parks. World's Fair visitors remember Chicago as a city of fine lawns and parks, famous for the quality of their turf, which had been grown from Vaughan's Chicago Parks lawn seed.

The Crop of Imitators

It was inevitable that this good name should find imitators seeking to trade upon its honestly earned goodwill; and so there have always been in the last half century low grade mixtures chiefly of timothy (hay seed) which are offered in the hope that buyers will mistake them for Vaughan's Chicago Parks lawn seed. In the last few years this condition has become acute; it is estimated that seventy-five per cent of all grass seed sown in the Chicago area is timothy, a coarse hay, which inevitably ruins a lawn.

If you think conditions have changed since 1886, read this from our catalogue of that date: "So-called lawn grass seed may often be purchased at nominal prices, but frequently proves a dear investment. You are entirely at the mercy of the dealer and cannot afford to risk a cheap article. Our Chicago Parks mixture will be found to contain hardy and dense growing grasses, chosen with reference to a constant succession of luxuriant growth, producing a firm, durable carpet-like turf." This advertisement applies to conditions today equally with those of 1886.

A Time-tried Formula, Approved by U. S.

United States department of agriculture experiments have proved the best lawn mixture for our climate to be a blend of blue grass, red top, and white clover, which has for fifty years formed the basis of Vaughan's Chicago Parks mixture. Experience and experiment are thus agreed.

The Value of Recleaned Seed

The only thing of value you get when you buy lawn seed, is the live seed of permanent grasses it contains. Weed seed, dead seed, dirt and chaff, are worse than worthless. Cheap seed which contains these adulterants is more costly in fact, than recleaned seed for which you pay more, but which contains nothing but live seeds. All Vaughan's Seeds are tested for purity and germination. They are clean, live, and honestly labeled.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed (or Columbia blend for shady lawns and sandy soil), ½ lb. 25c; 1 lb., 50c; 5 lbs., $2.40. 1930 Spring Catalog free by mail or at our stores.

RELIGION? HUSH! RED RAILROADERS DON'T DISCUSS IT

The Reporter Interviews Soviet Mission.

A delegation of 34 Russian engineers, members of the soviet commissariat for transportation, on tour of the United States for the purpose of inspecting the railroads, arrived in Chicago yesterday as the guests of the Pennsylvania lines. After they had been settled on the 19th floor of the Stevens hotel, a reporter went to interview them.

In room 1940 the reported found Mons. N. Casores, interpreter for the party. The reporter explained his mission. M. Casores shot a piercing look at him and retired quickly through a connecting door to an inner room there to confer with the leaders of the party.

The Reporter Stands Inspection.

The reporter stood waiting, listening to a sputter of Russian. M. Casores presumably was stating the reporter's mission. Three men came to the door, peered at the reporter, then retired, closing the door after them.

M. Casores reëntered and said he would talk.

"Why are your comrades of the soviet so dreadfully down on religion?" the reported asked.

The reporter's eyes were on the Gideon Bible which reposed on the table between the twin beds. M. Casores' eyes followed the reporter's. Then his eyelids fluttered.

"I cannot discuss religion," he replied.

"Are you all opposed to religion?"

"I cannot discuss religion," said M. Casores.

He Cannot Discuss Politics.

"Are you gentlemen here to gather information for the soviet government?"

"I do not know anything about politics; I can't discuss politics."

"There is a widespread belief that the soviet government wants to establish its form of government in the United States; is that correct?" asked the reporter.

There was a rap at the door leading into room 1939. It opened and two men peered in.

"Excuse me," said M. Casores. He entered the other room, closing the door after him. He returned soon, remarking: "You were saying——"

The reporter repeated his last question. M. Casores looked pained.

"I do not know; I am an engineer; I am interested only in transportation," he said. "I do not understand politics."

The reporter departed.

N. Y. REDS RIOT AMONG SELVES, POLICE JAIL FIVE

Hall Wrecked, Heads Cracked in Fray.

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—With communist riots continuing here today, direct responsibility for the disturbances which have spread throughout the United States was laid at the feet of the soviet government by Matthew Woll, acting president of the National Civic federation and vice president of the American Federation of Labor, in a letter to every member of congress.

The discovery this afternoon of the second wholesale theft of explosives in ten days prompted authorities to place police guards at every powder storage place in the city. Ninety sticks of dynamite were taken from a construction company's storage warehouse. Police fear the explosives may be used at the international communist mass demonstration Thursday.

Two Wings Unite.

The Red riot today—the third in a row—took place at Tuxedo hall. It began when rival factions of the communist party began swinging chairs and tables in a private battle, and ended after forty police and detectives arrived. The two Red wings united against a common enemy, but the cops won, the hall was wrecked, several heads were cracked, and five more "martyrs" were arrested.

The American communist party—left wing—was meeting in memory of its founder, C. E. Ruthenberg. More than 200 men and women were grouped in the hall. They had paid twenty-five cents each to enter. Six cops stood just outside the door. B. D. Wolff, chairman, rapped for order.

It was then that twenty husky members of the official communist party and several shrieking women rushed past the policemen and attasked the left wingers. They did not pay twenty-five cents apiece to get in.

Invaders Ousted.

It was a fine fight while it lasted, but the invaders were badly outnumbered and soon ejected. The call went out for reinforcements—communist reinforcements—and soon there was a crowd of fifty or more outside the hall.

They stormed the hall a second time, and the six policemen present sent out their call for reinforcements. With the arrival of forty reserves, the singing, kicking, clawing Reds were separated and five of them were taken to jail charged with "assault upon an officer." The others had vanished in cellars, around corners and in their favorite hide-aways. Two cops were treated by ambulance surgeons, one of them suffering a spine injury.

BUSINESS STABILITY CONFERENCE OPENS IN CHICAGO TODAY

How to achieve economic stability and permanent prosperity will be the principal topics at a series of conferences among business leaders, economists and engineers beginning this afternoon and continuing to Friday at the Stevens hotel. A message from President Hoover has been promised for the opening session.

Participating are the Society of Industrial Engineers, the American Management association, the National Association of Cost Accountants and the Taylor society.

Slated for discussion are the problems of eliminating an estimated $500,000,000 annual waste in American industry, development of the science of management, scientific distribution methods, incentive plans for industrial workers, sales promotion, research, and scientific management of sales force.

A million dollar machinery exhibit has been assembled. Exhibitors include the Ford Motor company, the General Electric company, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the National Safety council and the woman's division of the United States department of labor.

U.S. DRYS TO AID 2 YEAR WAR TO MOP UP BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—The drys of the United States are going to help the World Prohibition Federation carry on a two years' campaign to extend the blessings of prohibition to these quiet isles, according to an announcement today by Guy Hayler, president of the association. Delegates of 97 temperance organizations have already been appointed to the national committee of 1,000 members which is to launch the campaign here. A large number of American speakers are scheduled to take part and describe the ineffable boon prohibition has been to America.

Optimists prophesy that 500,000 men and women will conduct massmeetings in every town in Great Britain during the next two years and a fund of $100,000 will be collected during the campaign to wind it up in a blaze of glory two years hence with a big procession through London to Hyde Park and a convention of 12,000 delegates, including many from Edinburgh, the heart of the Scotch whisky industry.

Mr. Hayler says that 2,000,000 persons will participate in the campaign drawn from the 10,000,000 teetotalers now living in Great Britain—a figure which is probably greatly exaggerated.

Cermak, president of the board of county commissioners and chairman of the Democratic county central committee, returned to Chicago yesterday from Miami, where he spent several weeks to restore his health after his recent illness. He was accompanied by Moe Rosenberg, Democratic committeeman of the 24th ward, and by Rosenberg's son. Mr. Cermak was greeted at the train by Democratic leaders, who accompanied him to the Hotel Sherman.

Although he has kept in touch with the situation in Chicago and Cook county daily by long distance telephone, Mr. Cermak said he had nothing to say for publication until he was better informed. He will be at his office in the county building this morning.

WORLD COURT GETS SPOTLIGHT IN SENATE RACE

Ruth McCormick to Open Chicago Office Today.

Discussion of the proposed entry of the United States into the world court is expected to assume an important place in the campaign for the Illinois Republican senatorial nomination today as the two leading candidates begin their final drive. Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick will start a speaking schedule in Chicago and its vicinity, while Senator Charles S. Deneen is to launch his campaign downstate.

Mrs. McCormick will open headquarters this morning at 12 and 14 East Monroe street, the building occupied by the First National bank in 1881 and subsequently by the Chicago club, the University club and the Fort Dearborn club.

Days of Hanna Recalled.

It was at this building that George Goodrum, in brass buttoned coat, tall silk hat and other garments of the gay '90s proudly opened the carriage door for Mark Hanna, United States senator from Ohio and sponsor for the candidacy of President William McKinley. This morning Goodrum will be on hand to open the door for Senator Hanna's daughter, Congresswoman McCormick.

Mrs. McCormick has finished her visiting campaign in 82 of the 102 counties of Illinois and between now and April 8 she will spend most of her time in Chicago and will make trips to ten nearby counties. She has made 96 speeches so far and has driven 10,000 miles in an open car.

To Campaign by Radio.

On Thursday and Friday Mrs. McCormick will campaign in La Salle and Lake counties, ending with a large meeting in Waukegan on Friday evening. On Saturday she will talk over radio station WJJD, and in the next week she will make seven radio speeches from Chicago and six the following week.

On March 13 she will speak over station WIC from Washington in a nation-wide hookup. Her topic will be "Women in Politics and Community Life." On March 20, from a Chicago station with a national hookup, she will talk for a half hour on "America for Americans." This speech will deal with the world court and "entangling alliances." Her platform is in opposition to America's entry into the world court.

Deneen Starts Downstate.

Senator Deneen, who voted for American adherence to the world court, is expected to explain his reasons for so voting in the campaign which he will begin today downstate. He will talk this morning at 9 o'clock at Marshall, which is near the Indiana border and across from Terre Haute. At 11 o'clock he will be at Effingham.

In addition to discussing his vote for adherence to the world court Senator Deneen is expected also to give some time to the tariff and to tell why he voted against protection for the soy bean and in favor of raising the price of sugar.

Mrs. McCormick's campaigners say that Senator Deneen will have to meet those issues. Her assistants were arranging offices in the Monroe street headquarters yesterday.

Two Floors for Headquarters.

They will have two floors. The Ruth Hanna McCormick Volunteers, a women's organization, will be under the direction of Mrs. Walter Wolf. The labor committee will have space and will be in charge of R. L. Redcliffe.

The Voters' Progress club will be represented and Lucius Wilson will have charge of its work. The Foreign Language Citizens' committee will have an office there with John Palandach as chairman.

Massmeeting of Miners Denounces John L. Lewis

Harrisburg, Ill., March 2.—[Special.]—A resolution denouncing the policies of John L. Lewis as president of the United Mine Workers of America, declaring him no longer head of the union because the constitution of that body has lapsed, and urging all locals to send delegates to the Springfield, Ill., convention, March 10, for reorganizing the union, was unanimously adopted at a mass meeting of miners here today.

Alexander Howat, president of Kansas miners; John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor; Oscar Ameringer, editor of the Illinois Miner, and Adolph Gremer, spoke to the audience of 800 miners.

ONE SLAIN IN RIOT OVER HORSE RACE AT FRENCH TRACK

MARSEILLES, France, March 2.—(AP)—One man was killed and many were arrested at the race track here today when bettors, angry over the disqualification of the horse that won the sixth race, set fire to the pari-mutuel booths and destroyed and sacked the paddock, the grand stands, and the bar.

Police reserves and firemen were called out, but did not get the fire under control until the principal buildings and the stables had been destroyed.

Saltpetre, winner of the sixth race, was disqualified for interference.

SCARLET FEVER SHOWS INCREASE IN CITY REPORT

Although there was a decline in diphtheria during February, the number of scarlet fever cases reported during the month was the largest in thirteen years, according to a report issued yesterday by Health Commissioner Kegel. Among the 1,363 cases reported, there were 29 deaths. Only 459 diphtheria cases were found in February, with 33 deaths, as compared to 603 and 62 deaths in January.

Epidemic meningitis decreased in February and January, usually the worst months of the year for this disease. For February there were 25 cases and 13 deaths, and in January, 36 cases with 22 deaths.

Charged with Laziness—

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

That persistent feeling of tiredness—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system. Excess acid, formed in the stomach as a result of our unnatural eating habits, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal that saps our strength and vitality, taxes our nerves and pulls us down physically and mentally.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by a famous, 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

5-Day Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this 5-day test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids at small cost from Green's Drug Stores and Economical Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal for a few days and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If 5 days' use doesn't tell you volumes return the balance of the Oxoids to the druggist and he will cheerfully refund your money.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

GIRL LEARNS WHY ESCORT COULDN'T RETURN TO PROM

Youth Free on Bail After Attack on Priest.

Miss Vivian Clark, 17 years old, 310 North Park avenue, Oak Park, learned at home yesterday from the morning newspapers why her escort, Harold J. Simpson, Notre Dame university scholar, failed to return to the university prom in South Bend Friday night. Simpson faces trial for assault and battery at South Bend next Thursday for attacking a priest. He was freed from jail yesterday on a $1,000 bond.

Chaperoned by her mother, Miss Clark went to South Bend as the guest of Simpson, whose home is at 819 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park. Simpson took Miss Clark and her mother to the dance floor, then excused himself to get cigarets, the girl said. When he had not returned an hour later mother and daughter left the dance and returned to Oak Park.

Simpson was refused readmission to the prom because he lost his ticket and was jailed for attempting to steal in by a window. After he was freed Saturday morning Simpson attacked the Rev. Father Allen Heiser, director of off-campus activities, for excluding him from the dance. Simpson was then rearrested and remained in jail until he was bailed out by a South Bend attorney retained by the defendant's brother, G. Elden Simpson of Oak Park.

BANDITS' AUTO, BULLET-RAKED, IS FOUND AFIRE

Champaign, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—A bullet-pierced green sedan, found burning near Pesotum at 3:30 o'clock this morning, was identified by authorities as the car used yesterday afternoon by two robbers who tried to hold up the First National bank of Humboldt and fled after President John W. Poorman engaged them in a gun fight.

The same men later fought a pistol battle with Mattoon police, wounding three of the latter.

The burning car was discovered by Raymond Kleiss, a farm boy.

The robbers fled from the Humboldt bank after their gun fight with Poorman and police at Mattoon were notified by telephone to intercept them. Repulsing the officers after more than three score shots had been exchanged, the men sped on.

KILLED BY AUTO FUMES.

Walter Labsinski, 21 years old, was found asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas yesterday in a garage in the rear of his rooming house at 1436 South Lombard avenue. The gasoline tank of the automobile was emptied and the ignition was turned on, indicating that the motor of the machine had run until the fuel was exhausted and that Labsinski had been overcome by the fumes.

LEAVES PRISON WITH $1,250,000; STARTS WEST IN PRIVATE CAR

New York, March 2.—(AP)—With $1,250,000 in travelers' checks in his pockets, Charles T. Davis of Brooklyn, one of the world's richest ex-convicts, today was en route in a private car from Clinton prison, Dannemora, N. Y., to a California ranch.

Davis has just completed eight years of a ten to twenty years' sentence for shooting to death a detective in Brooklyn. During his stay in prison, his wife, Mrs. Henrietta Davis, built up his surgical appliance business from a $25,000 concern until it brought $2,496,020 on the open market last year.

Disagreement between the husband and wife as to the disposal of the business resulted last Feb. 5 in a court settlement.

CULT PRIESTESS, GUILTY OF THEFT, FACES LONG TERM

Los Angeles, Cal., March 2.—(AP)—Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, high priestess of the cult known as the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven, was convicted of grand theft today by a jury which began deliberation Thursday of a charge by Clifford Dabney, oil operator, that she defrauded him out of $40,000. The jury found her guilty on eight counts, for each of which there is a one to fourteen year penalty.

A crowd thronged the courtroom during the long trial of Mrs. Blackburn and waited about the corridors Friday and yesterday, but today, when the jury filed into Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke's court, barely a dozen persons were present to hear the verdict.

Mrs. Ruth Wefland-Rizzio, daughter of Mrs. Blackburn and priestess and co-organizer of the cult, and Mrs. Blackburn's aged father were in the group. They wept as the verdict was read, although Mrs. Blackburn received the news without show of emotion.

Dabney testified he gave the money to Mrs. Blackburn to finance the writing of a book to be known as "The Great Sixth Seal," which the cult leader said was being dictated to her by the archangels Gabriel and Michael. The book, Dabney testified, was represented as the disclosure of all the secrets of nature, including the location of deposits of precious minerals.

RADICAL SNIPERS TO KEEP TARDIEU FROM NAVY TALK

Force Him to Nurse New Cabinet at Home.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 2.—Premier André Tardieu counts on getting over to London on Thursday for a resumption of the five power naval conference, but as he has learned his lesson it is understood that, anxious as he is to handle things himself and not allow Foreign Minister Aristide Briand to have much voice in the negotiations, he will not dare stay very long.

It was his absence in London and at the reparations conference at The Hague that permitted the radicals to form a conspiracy against his former finance minister, Henri Cheron. The animosity which the radicals then showed Premier Tardieu is nothing compared to what they feel now.

Will Get Parliament O. K.

It is predicted that M. Tardieu's new cabinet of 18 ministers and 15 undersecretaries of state, which he presented to President Gaston Doumergue at the Elysée palace today, is sure to get a majority vote in the chamber of deputies. The new ministers will seek the approval of the chamber on Wednesday.

For the moment the radicals are cowed, though sore, and would not hesitate to blacken the French parliamentary system forever in the eyes of the world by ambushing another government during the naval conference.

But nevertheless Premier Tardieu is taking no chances and it is expected that he will only spend a few days in London. He intends, however, to direct negotiations from Paris, where he will have his hands full getting the budget passed without accident. Although his minister of the budget is Germain Martin of the radical left group, his minister of finance is Paul Reynaud, keen little deputy of the center, whose telling attack last Tuesday aided the fall of the Chautemps government. This may cause radical opposition to the budget to develop.

France Stands Pat on Navy.

"The French theses at the naval conference will be tomorrow what they were yesterday," Le Temps says flatly tonight, "and the negotiations will be taken up where they were left off. It does not seem that the individual conversations which took place in London during our absence profoundly modified the situation."

The French still stand solidly on their position that France can only consider her naval needs relative instead of absolute when she obtains guarantees of security which she thinks is nothing more than an empty formula.

"Any serious guarantee of security," says Le Temps, "must include mutual obligations of assistance in specified cases and in default of this it cannot expect a nation to back down from the right to defend itself as according to its rights, interests, and abilities."

Premier Tardieu's new government contains a novel feature, a high commissioner of tourist interests and minister of public health.

1,200 SIGN PETITION FOR NAVY REDUCTION; CABLED TO LONDON

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—An appeal to the American delegates to the naval parley, signed by more than 1,200 prominent men and women throughout the country, urging reduction and not mere limitation of armaments, was cabled to London today and will be in the hands of the American group when the conference reconvenes tomorrow morning.

The message, which was written and signed within seventy-two hours through an unusual, intensive telegraphic campaign, pointed out that the Kellogg-Briand peace compact outlawing war had been signed by all the participants in the parley and that the agreement should guide the conferees.

The frank statement of President Hoover in his Armistice day speech, in which he said this country would match the naval reduction of any other nation, was recalled in the message. The delegates were warned that failure of the conference would have a calamitous effect upon American public opinion.

The appeal was signed by eight governors and by 212 presidents of colleges or universities.

MEMBERS OF FAIR SEX IN COMMONS PLAN NAVAL FETE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—The women members of parliament have promised to attend a reception which is to be given next Tuesday by the British Commonwealth league in honor of the wives of the naval conference delegates. They are Dr. Ethel Benthall, Dr. Marion Philips, Lady Cynthia Moseley, labor member of parliament and daughter of the late Viscount Curzon of Kedleston; Lady Astor, Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Miss Margaret Bondfield, who is the minister of labor, and Miss Megan Lloyd George.

Mrs. Corbett Ashby, president of the league which has the object of achieving equal citizenship for men and women in all parts of the world, will receive the guests.

The occasion will be marked by the presence of a number of distinguished women, including Lilian Baylis, who owns the famous Old Vic theater renowned for Shakespearean performances; Florence Austral, Wagnerian opera singer; Lady Elibank, Jean Iris Howard, the only woman who has ever acted as agent general for Nova Scotia; Lady Simon, and Dame Edith Lyttleton, former British delegate to the league of nations.

Start Trial of Michigan City Liquor Defendants Today

South Bend, Ind., March 2.—[Special.]—The Michigan City liquor conspiracy case, with only five defendants left out of the score originally indicted, is scheduled to be tried for a second time in federal court here tomorrow, with District Judge Baltzell of Indianapolis sitting as special judge. The five defendants now are Richard Kruse, former Michigan City chief of police; Bud Lapham, ex-deputy sheriff; Joseph Allie, former federal dry agent; Louis Mazzala and Frank Arndt.

THE NEED FOR UNIFIED LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

At times Chicago has had reason to be glad that it had a number of governing bodies. One might be good when the others were bad. Well administered park boards have done what would not have been done by the municipal government. There have been some benefits from the confusion of government, but the arrangement is expedient and not sound.

The thing which made the sanitary district necessary has ceased to exist. For the building of the canal a new tax levying body was required, but for administration and for the improvement of sewage disposal a separate corporation is not needed. The county is an old English division, with Norman modifications, the officers of which served the king's writs, raised his levies of troops, and furnished an administrative unit for rural lands, villages and small towns. In a metropolitan area it has ceased to have any particular functions which are not properly the functions of the city. Cook county is different from most of the counties of the state. County government as such is not needed here, except possibly for rural school administration, and that can be by townships without the county superintendent.

Consolidation of county, sanitary district, and city government would not combine incongruous services. It is not a case requiring special custodians of special interests which would suffer if they were under one management. They will suffer if the government is bad, but not because a system of unified government is wrong. A part of the sanitary district is outside Cook county, but that question of administration is solvable without retaining an otherwise useless government in Cook county. The other towns and cities in the county need not be asked to accept the Chicago school board. In education they can manage their own affairs.

Consolidation of these three governments in Cook county would give a solid body of voters whose interests are common but whose votes are scattered. It would bring a high grade of new voters into city affairs and produce better politics. It would simplify elections by reducing the number of offices to be filled. There would be a shorter ballot, fewer candidates and more information as to them. More responsibility would be put on them.

The present confusion of government has bad results inherent in it.

AURORA AND THE AIR RACES.

Aurora is the second city to accept Chicago's invitation to help make the national air races of next September a notable event in aviation. Milwaukee was the first in line and it is expected the other midwest cities invited will not be slow in following the example. These cities are Rockford, Elgin, Joliet, Danville, Gary, Michigan City, La Porte, South Bend, Racine, and Kenosha. Aurora citizens have raised $5,000, which assures representation on the board of directors for the races. The Chicago directors already have subscribed $165,000.

The races will bring notable contestants and center the attention of the world upon the meet, which will not be a mere sporting event. The midwest is already an important field for aviation development and destined to be much more important. We are the hub of the continental wheel, its greatest crossroads and center of communication. It is desirable that the world of aviation recognize us and it is desirable that our own people become more air conscious.

BRIDGE REGULATIONS.

Unless substantial relief from the bridge nuisance is granted the city before the congressional elections it will certainly enter the campaign as an issue. That is, there will be a demand that candidates pledge themselves to a determined and persistent effort to bring about a change in the war department's attitude. We do not see why this resort to congressional influence should be necessary, for the balance of public interests involved is heavily in favor of a change in regulations. Why the official policy is so unfriendly to the major claims of communication through the heart of a great city as compared with the convenience or profit of a few private enterprises is difficult for us to understand. The federal government, as we have said, represents and is in duty bound to consider and respect the interests of its citizens whether on land or water, and where there is conflict of interest a federal department is not justified in shielding from inconvenience one interest because it lies within its special official field, as navigation, at the expense of the greater interest of communities.

The relief sought by Chicago is based on public convenience and a fair compromise between conflicting interests. We have no disposition to restrict the proper navigation of the river, but we have a right to ask of our federal representatives consent to regulations adjusted to conditions. If we cannot get reasonable regulations from the executive department we must seek protection through our congressional representation.

ABUSE OF THE INJUNCTION.

An effort will be made in the present session of congress to deal with the abuse of the injunction. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan has a bill which is directed at the abuse as it affects the freedom of the press. There are other measures which are concerned rather with abuses arising in industrial disputes. The Volstead act provides for the application of injunctions for the enforcement of dry regulations, a means frequently used in padlocking property alleged to be resorts violating the dry laws.

Senator Vandenberg wishes his bill to stand on its own bottom, as he feels that the need for it is clear and should not be involved in what he considers the more difficult or dubious questions of industrial and dry law enforcement cases. On the other hand, we think the whole problem of the injunction process in all its very important phases should have the thorough consideration of congress. Its abuses both in industrial and dry law enforcement disputes involve the validity of several of our most important civil rights, notably that of trial by jury, and the whole situation challenges the American system of civil liberty. We are losing our heritage by multiplying infringements of these rights in the name of one alleged reform or another, and it is high time we realize what we are losing.

THE MEANING OF BOULDER DAM.

The erratics of the senate are in a state of mind over the iniquity proposed by Ray Lyman Wilbur as secretary of the interior. Dr. Wilbur's job it is to allocate the power to be generated at Boulder dam. He has about decided to give half of it to the cities of southern California to use in pumping water from the Colorado river, a quarter of it to the city of Los Angeles, and the rest to the Southern California Edison company to be resold.

The erratics, led by Norris of Nebraska, think that all the power should be sold to municipalities. To do otherwise is denounced as a betrayal of the people for the benefit of the power trust.

Dr. Wilbur's defense is that under the statute he must close contracts for power which will assure the return to the treasury of a part, at least, of the cost of the dam to the taxpayers of the United States. To the erratics, as to any communist, anything but public ownership is treason to a sacred cause.

When the Boulder dam project was under consideration congress was solemnly advised that the dam was intended primarily for purposes of flood control, navigation and irrigation, and the government's power plant was merely an incident. It is doubtful if even the most gullible really believed that. Flood control could have been had at far less cost. The Colorado never was and never will be navigable in any reasonable meaning of the word, and the country already has much more land in cultivation than it needs or wants. The driving force behind the scheme, as can now be readily seen, was twofold: on the one hand, the socialist minded wanted to set the government up in the power business in a big way; and on the other, the mendicant minded of southern California proposed to get water and power at the expense of some one else. They wanted to make the taxpayers of the entire nation pay for southern California's improvements and they proved once more that as go-getters they are as unequaled and unexampled as they are unprincipled. They have the water for their real estate promotions and the power to pump it with and still they are not satisfied. There is no reason to believe that they would be wholly satisfied with the United States treasury as a gift.

THREE LEVIATHANS.

The United States Lines has submitted plans for two new ships to the shipping board, each to be about 962 feet long and to have a maximum speed of 31.5 knots. They are to be known, it is said, as Leviathan II. and Leviathan III., thus appropriating and extending the fame of the older German built liner which was the greatest of American war transports. The management thinks this will be sentimentally appropriate and maybe it will be, but there could be a doubt about it.

The original inspiration which hit upon Leviathan when it ceased to be the Vaterland sometimes seems highly questionable. It is not exactly the way one would try to tie the new marine into any of the memories of the old or to bring a suggestion of the renown of the old to the morale of the new. It would indicate rather a poverty of inspiration in the past and a dullness in the present.

Leviathan represented a splurge rather than an inspiration. It is rather too bad that it should seem appropriate to make it three splurges instead of one.

A LION IS ONLY HUMAN.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

To discover a lion's little weakness and then to use it for his undoing—that seems like very small potatoes. Biographers of great men all remind us that they were rich in faults and, since everybody knows that faults are human while virtues are something else, it is felt that a service has been done the public if it can only be assured that Washington was profane, Lincoln mal soigné and Florence Nightingale cantankerous—and therefore more "human" than when you were a boy.

And so one feels that lions, too, should only be brought closer to us instead of being trapped by the revelation of their one little failing. At first blush lions, tigers, leopards, pumas, jaguars, ocelets, lynxes, wildcats, and the rest may appear inaccessible and, unlike ourselves—that is, averse to lying, swearing, alcoholism, divorce, and other anthropoid characteristics—and thus, like the great men before biography began to pay, "not quite human." But now it is known that even lions are foolish—over catnip—and that the least susceptible tiger will abandon his dignity in the presence of the fascinating weed. Catnip debauches are a feline family failing—the appetite is hereditary—and if you wish to behold the almost human state of inebriety to which a lion will descend you have but to toss a spray of catnip ($500 fine or imprisonment, or both) through the bars of his cage. Well, and should not this endear him to all mankind, by the logic of the new biography? The lion has his wee vices—he is human, after all! But what has been the outcome of these startling catnip investigations? Only that a newly perfected synthetic catnip oil is now being used successfully in baiting traps "in order to lure and destroy all of the big cats, from lion to bobcat." Alas, that it should be profitable to ferret out the weaknesses of the great!

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R. H. L.

GET THE BOYS OUT OF THE TRENCHES BY CHRISTMAS!

Well, folks, as the radio announcer would say, we seem to have started something the other day when we said the poor old naval parley over in London was breathing very faintly and that they had sent for the pulmotor. Now, Senator McKellar, which is the first time he's ever been heard of, gets up in the senate down there in Washington and introduces a resolution to have Mr. Hoover recall the American delegates, their secretaries, their wives, sisters and their aunts, the stenographers, the marines, and the newspaper correspondents.

"Bring 'em all home!" shouts Senator McKellar. And old Raymond Poincare over in France seconds the motion by saying that it's time to stop that nonsense over in London. But now the trouble starts. How are we going to get our delegates and what goes with 'em back to the U. S. A.?

Our fellow citizens whom we sent over there have dug 'emselves in by this time and it's going to be hard to pry 'em out.

They haven't sunk any battleships, they haven't even sunk a tugboat, but from the reports we get over here most of our army on the London front have sunk a lot of other things, ranging from champagne cocktails to Scotch highballs. They go to breakfasts, and luncheons, and dinners, and suppers every day where sparkling red and all other kinds of wine are set before them, and if they don't drink it they've got only themselves to blame.

Over in England they go riding in autos without dry enforcement officers shooting at their tires and invariably hitting them in the neck. They ride through the country without running into a rain of bullets in a war zone where two rival armies of hijackers are shooting it out. They sit in their rooms and drink beer, wine, or what they will without hearing a kick on the door, and the words, "Dry officers; open in the name of the law and to hell with a search warrant."

Over in London, when they go to a night club they don't have to carry the stuff on the hip and pour it with trembling hands into a tea cup under cover of the tablecloth. And they are not interrupted as they dance gayly about by one of the walls of the night club being blown all over 'em by a bomb set off by rival rum runners.

After a few weeks of life like that most of our army of occupation in London won't want to come home. They hope the navy parley will go on for years and years. Can you blame 'em? But that isn't the point. If we've got to get 'em home then we've got to do it. Think it over, friends. How are we going to get our people to come back? How are we going to get 'em out of the trenches before Christmas?

SEEING.

I used to think with pity deep,
Not very long ago,
Of those who sang the joys of peace,
Whose souls had ceased to glow.

The far-flung fires of ecstasy
I knew they could not bear,
Too small their hearts to rise and break,
Or joy or sorrow share.

But now I know that only those Whose life-tides have run high
Can ever find the star of peace
That clears a lonely sky.

MOLLY MILLIGAN.

Authors Should Keep Their Books Down to Bedside Weight.

The real hardship of writing the history of these United States in 500 words never occurred to us until we started in on Charles and Mary Beard's "Rise of American Civilization." It's in one volume now, and it occurred to us right away that it was the doggonedest heaviest book we have ever tried to read in bed. Then one night we fell asleep while reading it (no reflection on the book, we were just tired), and we dreamed we saw Cal starting to work carving his 500 words on the mountain out in South Dakota, and a big dragon with flaming eyes, a polka dot tail, and a baseball bat came hurtling down and chased him away and ordered Charley and Mary Beard to carve their book on the mountain in place of Cal's 500 words. The book was so big that it took the whole of the Rocky mountains, from the Isthmus of Panama up through Canada. And while we were watching there was an earthquake, or something, and the whole Rocky mountains went right up in the air for fifteen or twenty miles and came down on our tummy. Well, then, we began figuring and found that the "Rise of American Civilization" ran about 370 words to the page, and as there were 800 pages the total number of words in Charley and Mary's book would be 296,000. And there isn't one single page or word, for that matter, that strikes us as being unnecessary. And yet Cal's got to do it in 500 words! Probably it can be done, but we're going to hang on to the "Rise of American Civilization" even if we have to rig up a derrick with a block and tackle over our bed to hold the "Rise of American Civilization" and keep it off our tummy while we read.

LAGNIAPPE.

The question is: Did or did not March come in like a lion? Some newspapers insist it did, others say it was rather lamblike. This is very important, for if March did come in like a lion then it will do the lamb act when it goes out, and we will have perfect sunshine and blue skies and balmy breezes. To settle the argument, we will say that March came in like a very small lion suffering with pip and winter itch and with its left hind leg in a trap. So, you see, the weather at the end of the month will be—well, figure it out yourself.

APPARENTLY, when State's Attorney Swanson said those immortal words, "I'll Wipe Out Crime," he didn't say when he was going to start.

THESE ARE THE DAYS when, as we walk downtown in the morning with the cold breezes hunting for a good way down the back of our necks, and we think of the warm, palm-fringed fields where they are capering gayly about, that we wish we had stayed out behind the barn practicing with a baseball bat instead of wasting our time at college.

AND THIS WEEK comes Lent—next Wednesday. We think we'll give up going to Europe. We don't intend to go until July anyhow.

BUT FOR A REAL heroic Lenten act we are almost tempted to give up paying our income taxes.

WINTER SPORTS FOR THE STRONG.

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RECENTLY several thousand persons went some thirty miles from Chicago to witness a ski jumping contest. These thousands spent several hours tramping around in deep snow, breathing good air, getting the benefit of sunlight on the ergosterol of their skin, and reacting to the invigorating stimulation of the cold. It is a safe guess that for a week at least each strong, vigorous spectator noticed that he withstood cold better and that he required less heat in the house and less wraps when he went out than he did before that trip. If there were any way to get at them, doubtless the facts would show fewer pneumonias among this group and few colds and coughs.

About 100 jumpers participated in the contest. Some of them will make the rounds of similar contests wherever they are held, from the Cascade mountain range in the west, through the Rockies, and on to the Adirondacks and the Canadian hills. These jumpers are mostly of Scandinavian stock. Some part of the splendid physical vigor, the very low death rates, and the low pneumonia rates of the several Scandinavian peoples of northern Europe is due to their general indulgence in winter sports. These include snowshoeing and running on skis as well as jumping, sleighing, and sledding, skating and various contests of skill, speed and endurance on the ice.

Sunlight over ice and snow is very rich in those ingredients which increase resistance to infections among adults and promote growth among children. The effects of cold air, snow, and rain on the complexion are superior to those of remedies sold over the counter. The fine complexions are found among people who expose themselves to winter cold. It is said that Lily Langtry attributed her superb coloring to exposure to the cold rains, mists, and fogs of the Isle of Jersey.

This type of play is especially suited to younger and more vigorous men and women. It is valuable for those around 50 and even up to 60 who are anxious to avoid pneumonia. It is valuable for young men and women of 20 to 40 or 50 who want to avoid colds and who wish to look and feel vigorous. It has an important place in promoting growth and health of vigorous children and youths up to 20 years of age.

OVERCOMING FEAR.

D. P. writes:

1. You say that fear can be cured by proper training. I would like to know the nature of this training and just how to train.

2. What, in general, have you to say about the diet?

REPLY.

1. It consists in reading the proper books and carrying out the mental exercises given; in listening to counsel, and being guided by it; in getting the right point of view. In reading, listening, thinking, and praying.

2. Diet is of no importance in overcoming fear.

SUNLIGHT REACTIONS VARY.

L. A. S. writes: Is sunshine harmful to a person who has T. B.? The patient at present is at Saranac.

REPLY.

Leave that to the doctor.

As a rule persons with gland and bone tuberculosis are greatly benefited by large doses of sunlight. In pulmonary tuberculosis it must be used with more discrimination. If there is fever, exposure of the chest or head is quite likely to do harm. Some exposure of the skin elsewhere does good. Patients vary in the way they react to sunlight.

ABOUT VITAMIN D.

Mrs. R. R. writes:

Please print in your column a list of the foods or tonics which contain vitamin D, with the reason why this vitamin is valuable.

I am between two and three months pregnant and was advised to find some means whereby I could be sure to get this vitamin regularly.

REPLY.

The foods which are richest in vitamin D are good milk and foods made from it. There is some in meat and eggs. Radiated foods are on the market; these are rich in D. Among the best medicines supplying D are viosterol and cod liver oil. Pregnant women, babies, and older children need D to protect their cartilage and bone. Pregnant women are also advised to eat foods rich in C in order to protect their own teeth and those of the babies. Among such are orange, lemon, and tomato juice, lettuce, and other fruits and vegetables.

EYES AND RUBBERS.

P. S. writes:

1. Which food is the most nourishing, dandelions, broccoli, or spinach?

2. Is it harmful to the eyes to wear rubbers all day when indoors?

REPLY.

1. They are about on a par.
2. No.

HAS SMOTHERING SENSATIONS.

J. F. H. writes: What causes one to have smothering sensations in the night, and what is the remedy? The person is a man 50 years old.

REPLY.

There are several causes. Among them are asthma and heart disease of some kind. He should have a careful examination.

EXPATRIATE'S NATURALIZATION.

Chicago, Feb. 24. — [Friend of the People.—I was born in the United States and lived here until I was 35 years of age, when I went to Canada. I took out naturalization papers there in 1928. In November I went to an American consul, got a visa, paid head tax and came to the United States. In the spring of 1929 I returned to Canada and in September, 1929, came back to the United States on my visa, as my permit allowed me. Do I have to live here five years from November, 1928, or from September, 1929, before I can become again a citizen of the United States? When and where must I make application to the authorities? C. L.

If the writer desires to become a citizen he should file preliminary form A-2213, which may be obtained at this office, and make a declaration of intention. After he shall have lived in the United States for at least five years, and after his declaration of intention shall be at least two years old, he will be in a position to apply for citizenship.

If the absence in 1929 was only temporary absence he did not lose his residence, but if he returned to Canada to work for himself or others he thereby lost his residence and is not in a position to apply for naturalization until five years after his last reentry in the United States.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

OLD DEBT.

Warren, Ill., Feb. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — How could I collect money from a man who has owed it to me for about five years? I have asked for it repeatedly. The sum is too small to take the matter to an attorney. O. S.

We can suggest no way of forcing the matter without court proceedings. The Illinois limitation period on contracts not in writing is five years.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 3, 1865.

THE NEWS.—From the rebel press it is evident that Lee is leaving Richmond. According to the Sentinel, all the guns and stores are being removed. Rebel deserters report that Petersburg is already evacuated and all the heavy guns taken away. The rebel papers are demanding the return of the fugitive and panic stricken congressmen by writs of military habeas corpus.

CINCINNATI, O. — The military commission hearing the Chicago conspiracy case had a secret session which lasted nearly all morning. The business transacted was in relation to the findings in the case of Charles Travis Daniels. On the opening of court testimony was taken from the Misses Letitia and Maggie Walsh, daughters of Charles Walsh, one of the accused. They both admitted they had seen pistols in their father's house. They declared they never saw Daniels or Cantrill in the house until the day of the arrests. The prisoner Grenfell was in court, though in a very weak condition. Cantrill is also improved and will soon be ready for trial.

CAIRO, Ill.—The steamer G. W. Graham has arrived and reports that guerrillas are on the rampage about Memphis, burning and killing just beyond our lines. Three guerrillas were killed in a fight with videttes on the Hernando road. One of the videttes, Patrick Flynn, 37th Wisconsin, was killed and two were wounded. The whole of Kentucky west of Green river to the Tennessee line is infested with guerrillas.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 3, 1900.

LONDON.—There is prospect of early fighting near the scenes of Gen. Cronje's recent stands. A considerable Boer force has been hovering east of Osfontein, near Paardeberg, but has not ventured to attack. Osfontein, where the Boers are massing, supposedly under command of Gens. Botha, Delarey, and Dewet, is eight miles northeast of Paardeberg Drift, where Gen. Cronje surrendered. They are said to be expecting further reinforcements from Gen. Joubert. The main Boer army from Natal is said to be concentrating at Winburg, 70 miles northeast of Bloemfontein.

NEW YORK.—President McKinley came to New York to attend the banquet of the Ohio society tomorrow night.

LONDON.—Queen Victoria sent this message to Gen. Buller concerning the relief of Ladysmith: "I thank God for the news you have telegraphed me, and I congratulate you and all under you with all my heart."

ROME.—The Sacred college presented to Pope Leo XIII. its congratulations on the attainment of his 90th birthday. Numerous congratulatory messages came to the Vatican, notably from foreign rulers.

CHICAGO.—Simeon B. Chapin has paid in full all the claims against his father, the late E. D. Chapin, Board of Trade operator, who met with business reverses years ago, owing between $35,000 and $40,000 after he had given his last cent to creditors. Mr. Chapin was a boy when his father died, and was under no obligation to assume his father's liabilities. All the claims had been outlawed years ago and when Mr. Chapin handed the creditors checks they were a surprised lot. Most of them had dismissed the accounts from their minds.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 3, 1920.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Maj. Hugh M. Caldwell, ex-A. E. F. man, defeated James A. Duncan, Labor Temple president and leader of the radical element, in the most bitterly contested mayoralty election in Seattle's history by a vote of 50,850 to 34,849. It was a clearly drawn battle between the Americanism elements on one side and the I. W. W., radical labor and extremist organizations on the other.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson is not a candidate for a third term and virtually has eliminated himself from consideration for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself. He signalized his decision by giving definite permission to Attorney General Palmer to announce his candidacy for the nomination. All bars are down now and it's a free for all.

CHICAGO.—Dorsey Chambliss, Negro policeman, accused in the deathbed statement of Bertha Wiebeck, a white girl, of luring her into a Negro vice resort, resigned from the police department. Criminal proceedings are pending against him.

CHICAGO.—The Illinois boom for Gov. Edwards of New Jersey for the Democratic nomination for President became an actual fact when 12,000 persons signed petitions put into circulation last week. Gov. Edwards, in a telegram to Michael Zimmer, president of the United Societies, granted what was tantamount to permission to use his name.

CHICAGO.—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Marion Little Moreau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Moreau, 4156 Washington boulevard, to Cyril G. Fanning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Fanning, 3836 Park avenue.

FREE SPEECH AND ASSEMBLY.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—I notice by the morning paper that the Chicago police last night raided three meeting places of the Reds and arrested ten men and two women.

As far as I can gather from the news article they were charged only with being communists and leaders of the so-called communist party of the United States, purporting to have relations with the soviet Third International of Russia. As far as your article goes, this seems to be the sole basis of police activities.

If this is true the action of the police is a matter of grave moment to every lover of liberty and of our institutions. The bill of rights of the state constitution, section 4, article 2, provides:

> Every person may freely speak, write and publish on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty; . . . (Section 17, id.). The people have the right to assemble in a peaceful manner, and to consult for the common good, and to apply for redress of grievances.

I am not aware of any law, statute, or custom which would make the police censors of citizens speaking on any subject or assembling peacefully to bring about the success of their ideas, no matter how peculiar or obnoxious they may seem to us. C. S. BABCOCK.

DRYS FROM WET DISTRICTS.

Peotone, Ill., Feb. 25.—Many voters do not understand why congress is overwhelmingly dry in face of the strong opposition to prohibition. The reason was illustrated in the withdrawal of Edward J. Brundage as a candidate for United States senator in the coming primaries.

Illinois voted twice for beer and wine and there is no question that the people are not satisfied with prohibition as it exists, yet most of its congressmen are dry. Mr. Brundage was opposed to prohibition and was induced to withdraw by the drys, who control the state Republican organization. He was well known downstate and had an excellent chance of winning the nomination. The two other candidates, Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Deneen, are drys, so the Republicans will be forced to vote for a dry, regardless of their wishes.

These same conditions hold true in many of the downstate congressional districts; the organization candidates will be unopposed and the Republicans will have no choice but to vote for a dry. In the southern states the same conditions prevail with the Democrats. In Illinois and other northern states Republicans must vote for a Democrat if they wish to protest against prohibition.

If the liberal Republicans are ignored by this manipulation of party candidates they will eventually revolt. They are doing this in county politics already. Will county last election elected a Democratic sheriff, the first in twenty-five years. As the Republicans become aware of this attempt of the party managers to force them to vote for drys they will switch to the Democrats, and it will not be many years before Illinois, the state of so many illustrious Republicans, will be in the Democratic column. W. F. BRASHEARS.

DUKE OF ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—The Washington dispatches in today's TRIBUNE announce that Senator Deneen is to open his campaign for reëlection on Monday at Marshall and will visit 80 counties. This, in my humble estimation, is the height of political crust.

Deneen, with credentials that certify him as a representative of the sovereign state of Illinois, one year ago cast his vote in the United States senate in favor of the infamous Jones law. In doing this Deneen branded himself as no longer worthy of our interest.

Deneen under no circumstances can excuse himself for this action. The people of Illinois have gone to the polls three times during the last ten years and by an average vote of seven to three demanded relief from the funny 18th amendment. Certainly if Deneen reads the newspapers, he could not have been ignorant of this fact. He, therefore, set himself up as a young god to do his own thinking on a question the people had already decided.

However, if Illinois is foolish enough to give him the nomination, then it is quite time for the Anti-Saloon league to confer upon this good and faithful servant the title duke of Illinois.

PRIVATE STOCK.

THE NEW BUSES.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The people of the south side will never look with favor upon the new No. 6 double deck enclosed buses now being manned by one man. Heretofore the Chicago Motor Coach company considered it dangerous for passengers to speak to drivers and had explicit instructions on each coach requesting passengers to refrain from doing so. Now, presumably, they do not consider it dangerous for the driver to open and close the door, make change and watch while coin is deposited, issue transfers, drive the coach and watch the stoplights all at one time, as well as calling out all the streets and answering questions. Then there is the question of the enclosed upper deck. In case of an accident I fear it would be disastrous to those enclosed in the top deck with no way of escape. L. G.

SCHOOL JANITORS.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—From time to time letters appear in the Voice of the People on the cleaning situation in schools and the enormous amount of help employed in doing this work. As a citizen of Chicago I believe people take the wrong attitude when they criticise the board of education on this matter. Unlike office buildings, etc., I understand schoolhouses are maintained on an eight hour working basis. If this be the case then one can readily see why buildings cannot be scrubbed daily like so many people think they should be.

Furthermore, I don't think schoolhouses are as untidy as some of these criticizers believe, for when you think of so many youngsters running in and out it is no wonder schoolhouses are not like the Blackstone or Palmer house.

WILLIAM JONES.

CALL A COP.

RICHMOND, Surrey, England, Feb. 12.—America's chance has arrived. Let America send an expeditionary force to put an end, as United States Christianity demands, to the soviet menace to the world, the soviet menace to religion, morality, the preservation of law and order in other countries, the sacredness of contracts political and industrial, the nutrition and means of livelihood of the citizens of Russia, and the soviet massacres of all right minded and educated people in Russia.

America must not be content to do this only. When it has put down the soviet and executed such members of it as have been responsible for murders it must undertake the commercial reorganization of this ruined country.

American business men, having the proper backing of American capital, must take charge of the resources of Russia and must import American men and machinery to restart Russia.

It will need vast expense, responsibility, and trouble, but in the end it will give the commerce of half of two continents to the United States and double the exports and the business capital of America.

Europe will not call a halt. It will welcome the intervention of the only country which has the money and the power at its disposal to act as the policeman of the civilized world against those international gangsters, the soviet.

DOUGLAS SLADEN.

THAT ROBIN.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—I am writing to notify you that I saw a robin in one of our apple trees this morning. I was very much surprised to see him. He seemed to be cold. I think that is a good sign of an early spring.

HICHEST WOMAN OF ENGLAND IS VISITOR IN CITY

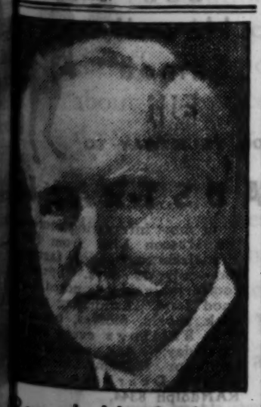
Lady Louis Mountbatten, the former Edwina Ashley and reputedly the richest woman in England, passed through Chicago yesterday, accompanied by the earl and countess of Woodknock. The party is en route to California. Arriving from New York on an early morning train, they spent a few hours at the Blackstone hotel and posed for newspaper photographers before boarding the Chief of the Santa Fé lines for Los Angeles.

Lady Mountbatten's husband is a grandson of King George, which makes him a member of the British royal family. The earl, whose title is by courtesy, is the eldest son of the Marquess Camden.

Man Attempting Suicide Kills Girl in Other Room

Newark, N. Y., March 2.—(AP)—Carl Brauman's hands shook so when he tried to end his life with a rifle today, a police report, that he missed the target and instead fatally wounded Ruth Broun, 18, his cousin, asleep in the adjoining room. The bullet tore through the wall and into the girl's head side. She died in a hospital. Brauman, aged 40, told the police he had been drinking.



Remarkably Active for a Man His Age

"I've suffered my last spell of sour stomach," says Warren Cook of 595 207th Street, New York. "I found that by taking ACIDINE three or four nights a week, I never have that uncertain feeling whether my meals are going to sit right, or make me miserable from the indigestion and gas I used to have so regularly."

Sick, sour stomach, indigestion, burning sensation in the throat and gassy belching usually come from too much acid when your stomach doesn't digest the starchy food you eat. Not more than one person in a hundred has a stomach so perfect it will do it without help. That's why more than 25 million people are now using ACIDINE regularly, to enjoy good appetite and freedom from distress and pain after eating. You can get ACIDINE at any drug store.

COOLIDGE WILL GIVE OWN NAME TO ARIZONA DAM

Coolidge Dam Site, Ariz., March 2.—(AP)—Dedication of Coolidge dam, spanning the Gila river and impounding water for the Florence and Casa Grande valleys, today awaited only the arrival of former President Calvin Coolidge. Mr. Coolidge formally will give the dam his own name here Tuesday afternoon.

Gov. J. C. Phillips declared the day a state holiday, and it was expected that one of the largest gatherings in Arizona's history will be present to witness the ceremonies.

A dramatic touch will be given to the ceremonies when Pima and Apache Indians, ancient enemies, will join in a second formal dedication of the dam and then smoke a peace pipe—something they never have done before. It is planned to ask Mr. Coolidge to take a whiff of the peace pipe and he will be made a chief of both tribes before the ceremonies are over.

Worship in Tiny Church.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., March 2.—(AP)—The fifty worshipers in the tiny Presbyterian church at Cambria, a hamlet near here, were joined today by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. They arrived unannounced in the town of 250 population and proceeded to the church. They took seats and were not recognized immediately. The Rev. T. A. Mitchell, pastor, announced the guests, and he and his flock shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge after the services.

TEXAS RECALLS FREEDOM WON 94 YEARS AGO

Austin, Tex., March 2.—(AP)—Anywhere else in the Union, March 2 may be just a windy day, but in Texas it is Independence day. The Lone Star state today celebrated the 94th birthday since it declared its independence from the republic of Mexico.

In the state capitol, Gov. Dan Moody officiated at the unveiling of the original Texas Declaration of Independence, now framed in glass for the public to view. It was drawn at the little town of Washington on the Brazos river, on March 2, 1836.

Milk Racketeers Dump 100 Gallons Into Ditch

Bloomington, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—A gang of nine men stopped two milk trucks bound here on Route 39 early today and dumped into a ditch 100 gallons of milk consigned to a firm which is not a member of a milk-pooling plan here. The milk was en route to the Leman dairy of Bloomington, which has refused to join the McLean County Milk Producers' association. Milk on the trucks consigned to the Snow & Palmer company, which is an association member, was not molested.

Hold Pastor in Killing of Youth at Revival

Tazewell, Tenn., March 2.—(AP)—Charged with slaying a member of his congregation at a revival meeting, the Rev. A. L. Chadwell has been placed under $2,000 bond pending preliminary hearing.

The Rev. Mr. Chadwell said he shot and killed Clarence Daniels, a youth, because Daniels created a disturbance at a meeting near here last night. The pastor asserted Daniels was drunk and threatened him with a knife.

8 DAY 'WAR' NOTE SENT BY GANDHI TO INDIA VICEROY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2. — Mahatma Gandhi, Indian leader, has dispatched an ultimatum to Lord Irwin, viceroy of India, giving him eight days to comply with the demands of the All India Congress party in default of which the civil disobedience campaign will begin, it was learned here today.

It is believed the ultimatum demands the abolition or reduction of important sources of revenue which would wreck the Indian budget, and also asks for halving of the military expenditure, and the liberation of political prisoners.

Gandhi will probably lead his rebels into the Gujerate district near Bombay, where salt, a government monopoly, is manufactured. Nonpayment of the salt tax is one of the planks of the disobedience campaign.

Princes Register Disapproval.

NEW DELHI, India, March 2.—(AP)—Emphatic disapproval of the policy of separation from Great Britain was contained in a resolution adopted by the chamber of princes today.

CHINA LAUNCHES DRIVE TO SMASH CIVIL WAR EVIL

Republic Determined to End Menace.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 2.—The third plenary session of the Kuomintang central executive committee opened at Nanking this morning. Immediately after the formalities Gen. Hu Hanming, head of the legislative body, discussed the northern political situation and declared it was highly necessary for the present session of the central executive committee, the highest organ in the Chinese republic, to clear up "the various groundless rumors pertaining to the position, activities, and authority of the Kuomintang, as well as the Nationalist government."

He declared the Nationalist government's reconstruction program was constantly hindered by the uprising of reactionary generals, making it necessary for the government to "constantly delay activities in order to subjugate them."

Commission to Probe Affairs.

Following the address, members appointed a committee of three, Gen. Li Shih-tseng, Chang Chi, and Chao Tai-wen, to investigate the actual state of affairs pertaining to the revolt of Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, head of Shansi and Chihli provinces, in order to enable the government to adopt appropriate measures to eradicate the disturbing situation.

A resolution was also adopted, accusing Gen. Yen of betraying the party and state, and declared that, if evidence proves Gen. Yen guilty, he should be pitilessly punished. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek was also authorized to send a telegram to Gen. Yen's subordinates inquiring whether they were really supporting Gen. Yen's activities.

The Chinese newspaper, Shun Pao, received a report claiming that Gens. Shih Yu-shan and Han Fu-chih, each with 30,000 troops, stationed along the Lunghai railway, allegedly allied with Gen. Yen, are now becoming wobbly and have notified Gen. Chiang that they favor peace, apparently indicating that they have succumbed to financial argument.

Plans Drive on Loyal Chief.

A report from Japanese sources in Tientsin tonight stated that Gen. Yen's ally, Gen. Fu Tso-yi, stationed at Tientsin, has commandeered the rolling stock of the northern section of the Tientsin-Pukow railway preparatory to an advance southward into Shantung, which is now held by Gen. Chen Tiao-yuan, who is loyal to the Nationalist government.

Nationalist government bonds here are not yet showing evidence of the crisis, but silver today slumped to its lowest price, the Chinese dollar being worth only about 32 cents in United States currency.

Chinese papers are pessimistic and believe that unless Gen. Yen discontinues his warlike activities the Kuomintang and central executive committee will be bound to dismiss him from the party and order a punitive expedition to break up his activities.

Fears Russ Invasion.

Chang Hsueh-Liang, head of the government of Manchuria, today sent a confidential message to both Yen Hsih-Shan and Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, president of China, warning them against a fresh outbreak of civil war, alleging that the renewal of internal fighting is certain to lead to a fresh menace of soviet aggression in north Manchuria.

A report from Nanking said that the Mukden government had informed Nanking that soviet forces, including airplanes, have been demonstrating at the Chinese border, the apparent purpose being to intimidate the Mukden government.

Drys Arrest Ten, Seize Liquor in Hannibal, Mo.

Hannibal, Mo., March 2.—[Special.]—Federal prohibition officers made ten raids here Saturday, arrested fifteen alleged bootleggers and confiscated several caches of beer and hard liquor. Only five of those arrested were able to give bonds.

More Arrests Expected.

Quincy, Ill., March 2.—[Special.]—Six or eight more arrests by dry officers are expected tomorrow. Seven out of the fifteen arrested here yesterday still are guests of Sherriff Kenneth Elmore in the county jail in default of two thousand dollar bail.

Young Clerk Found Shot to Death Near His Home

George Ross, 23 years old, 2164 Lincoln avenue, a clerk, was found shot to death in the rear of 2128 Lincoln avenue early yesterday. A revolver was found beside the body and the police said they believed that Ross had shot himself. Ross, it was learned, had been despondent. Several weeks ago, the police said, his wife had returned to her family in Milwaukee.

HIGH INTEREST ON LOANS HITS NEW ZEALAND

Needs More Capital for Its Growth.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, March 2. — What impresses the American tourist to New Zealand most is the lack of money to carry on the upbuilding of the long strip of islands extending well into the region of the polar seas, although the bulk of the territory is in the temperate zone.

The best part of New Zealand is that on the island known as North island. Auckland, near the northern part of this island and the principal seaport, is about the same latitude south of the equator as San Francisco is north of it. Wellington, the capital of New Zealand, is at the southern tip of this island and is in the same relative latitude south of the equator as New York is north of it.

Still Very Undeveloped.

The northern island of New Zealand, as yet not fully developed, reminds the traveler of the great American west of forty years ago. True there is modern machinery to be seen, but the comparison otherwise is a fairly good one. Auckland has a population of about 200,000, including its immediate suburbs. Wellington, the capital, is smaller.

The settler has borrowed money for the development of his wheat and dairy farms and has been aided in this respect by the state, which has itself borrowed the money in the London and New York markets. The New Zealand government is finding it difficult at the moment to meet the needs for local loans and a higher interest rate is imperative. In a minor way New Zealand is going through the same financial crisis as Australia.

The New Zealand premier, Sir Joseph Ward, has had to meet criticism of the government's action in raising the rate of interest for its internal borrowing. He explained that when the consolidated stock loan which matured in London on Nov. 1 last was refinanced it was necessary to pay off in cash those holders who demanded it. This cash redemption called for $22,795,000. In this way outside factors in the world money market affected the internal position of New Zealand.

State Admits Stringency.

"Criticism has been made of the embarrassment to local bodies by the resultant rise in interest rates," said the premier, "but I would point out that this embarrassment applies also to the government. The increase in the interest rate was adopted only when conditions outside the control of the government made such a step imperative. Local bodies, in common with the government, were enabled during the last year to borrow money internally at comparatively low rates, but unfortunately the time now has arrived when the position had to be adjusted to outside circumstances."

As it looks now, it would seem that a hard year is ahead for the farmer, dairyman, sheep grower, and fruit raiser in New Zealand, and these comprise the majority of the population. The New Zealand farmer buys annually large numbers of cream separators, agricultural implements, and motor cars, most of which come from Canada or from American owned factories located in Canada, owing to the discriminating effect of the tariff to goods of British origin.

New Zealand is facing a lesser problem than Australia, where the mine workers and other labor organizations have the government by the throat. Much of the produce of New Zealand goes to Australia, only five days away by sea.

Bandits Kidnap Peoria Man, Steal $500 Cash

Peoria, Ill., March 2.—[Special.]—Two unmasked bandits entered the store of H. T. Poppen, here, forced him to accompany them in an auto and took the day's receipts of $500. They drove him to Madison Park, where they freed him.

LONDON TO PARIS PHONES BUZZ TO AID MORROW GIRL

LONDON, March 2.—(AP)—All the resources of international telephones, telegraphs and fast mail were brought into play over the week-end to save Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow and Miss Elizabeth Morrow from delay at the hands of the French immigration service.

Miss Morrow did what everybody does abroad, forgot her passport. Mr. Morrow's office was notified by telephone before she left Victoria station, but the passport arrived after the train pulled out.

The London embassy by fast action then communicated with the Paris American embassy over telephone and telegraph lines, and the French foreign office telegraphed the French port authorities to admit the Morrows without question. Meanwhile the passport was sent to Miss Elizabeth by fast mail.

HAITIANS HOLD FREEDOM MARCH FOR HOOVER MEN

15,000 Islanders Mass for Demonstration.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PORT AU PRINCE, March 2.—Twelve hundred women of Port Au Prince offered public prayers today for the end of American occupation and then paraded through the streets past the headquarters of President Hoover's investigating commission chanting an appeal for "the liberation of Haiti."

Fifteen thousand more Haitians massed quietly in the Champs de Mars to witness the end of the procession at the statue of Dessalines, one of the heroes of Haiti's war for independence a century ago, while thousands of others lined the route of march.

Commission O. K.'s Parade.

The culmination of the parade was extraordinarily impressive and intense. The demonstration was permitted only on the insistence of the Hoover commission after local American authorities refused to grant a permit for fear it was inspired by anti-American sources in Latin-America and might result in disorders.

Mme. Perceval Thoby, leader of the Haitian aristocracy and wife of the president of the Union Nationale, called on the commission this morning to protest. While she was talking to William Allen White Gen. Russell called. Mr. White and W. Cameron Forbes asked Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American high commissioner, why a permit for the procession had been refused, and informed him the people should have an opportunity to express their feelings.

"I don't want anything to happen to that parade," declared Forbes.

The demonstration here was part of the prayer service "for the success of Hoover's commission" held throughout Haiti.

Dominican President Quits.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, March 2.—(AP)—President Horacio Vasquez, for 30 years a dominant figure in the Dominican Republic, resigned office with his cabinet today, and tomorrow Gen. Rafael Estrella Urena, leader of the insurgent movement against him, will take the oath of office as provisional president and form a new cabinet.

Ex-President Vasquez lay in a hospital tonight politically and physically a broken man. The acceptance of his resignation as president by the national assembly today is believed to have ended his political career. Vasquez is more than 70 years old.

The resignations of Vasquez and of Vice President Jose Alfonseca were accepted by the assembly "with much pleasure." Estrella Urena, appointed minister of the interior by Vasquez two days ago, immediately became constitutional head of the Dominican government with full presidential powers. Only a week ago tonight, he was leading an insurgent band in the north of the country, and within the week had captured the important town of Santiago and marched on the capital to overthrow the Vasquez government.

JUDGE WARNS GANGSTERS TO STAY AT HOME

Louisville, Ky., March 2.—(AP)—Chicago gangsters, attention: If the crime drive there grows too warm and you are thinking of traveling, check Louisville off your calling list.

E. L. Doxey, 23, whom police say is here "lying low" until Chicago calms down, drifted into town today. Police nabbed him on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license and Judge Fred Starck slapped a $5,500 bond on him.

"Tell your Chicago friends that we want no gangsters in Louisville," said the judge. "If they come here we will kill them or put them in the penitentiary."

Just then a patrolman entered with the information that he had found two pistols in the car driven by Doxey. A charge of carrying concealed weapons was added.

"I'll make that bond $10,500," said the judge.

Promises of a thorough police investigation of racketeering activities and the disclosure of an alleged proposition made by Chicago gangsters to blow certain dry cleaning establishments were developments today in Louisville's dry cleaning price war.

Robs 2 Film Operators as Crowd Views Picture

A robber after paying his admission yesterday to the Norshore theater, 1749 Howard street, donned a mask and entered the projecting room with gun in hand. He forced the operators, Arthur Tuckman, Sherwin Arms hotel, and Arthur Jung, 4407 North Ashland avenue, into an adjoining room, and took $62 from them. Then he ordered them to lie on the floor and calmly walked out into a theater aisle. Smiling at a passing usher, the gunman disappeared into the street. All this time the talking picture reeled off automatically.

Police Guard Contractor After Midway Shooting

Concern for his safety since the shooting on Feb. 5 of Philip Meagher, construction superintendent of the new Lying In hospital, has led H. B. Barnard, wealthy building contractor, to seek special police protection for himself and his home at 7143 Princeton avenue, it was revealed last night. The residence has been guarded for a week. Barnard has the contract for the hospital, which is being built under the Landis award plan.

Boston Police Arrest 232 on Eve of Garrett Inquiry

Boston, Mass., March 2.—[Special.]—In city-wide raids police arrested 232 persons early today for various offenses in a drive given special significance by the scheduled start tomorrow of the attorney general's investigation into the pensioning of Oliver B. Garrett, former head of the liquor squad. While the raids included houses of ill fame and gambling games the surprising feature was the large number of drunks arrested. Fully 180 of these men and women were taken to station houses and booked, in contrast to the usual policy of allowing persons obviously intoxicated to continue on their way.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him, and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who, he claimed, had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes to the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead, with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting to warn him against Dave Moss and Jim learns that Moss is trying to force her to marry his son, Pete. He suggests that she marry him, but is angry at the manner of his proposal. He realizes his mistake.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

THE LETTER.

Jim turned to the letter from his father. It plunged directly into the subject matter.

I hate to write this letter, son. We Rutledges come of good stock since long before the first of the family came over to this country. Never was a black sheep among us far as I know—until this generation.

My brother Joe was twelve years younger than I was, a kind of Benjamin born to my parents in their old age. They started right in spoiling him. After my father died he ran hog wild. My mother couldn't control him at all. Long and short of it is he went bad. I blame Dave Moss for it some. He led the boy and influenced him for the worse. I had moved farther west and did not see much of him till he was grown.

Then I was elected sheriff and began to have difficulties with Dave Moss and his crowd. Finally they robbed the S. and G. fast train. My brother Joe was in it. He had changed his name after killing a man in Austin and was known as Joe Shear. You may meet him at the trail's end this trip. I hope not.

Jim stopped reading, taken completely by surprise. Joe Shear had been his uncle, his father's brother. That was why he had turned on Buck Roe and Sam Moss and old Devil Dave, at least it was one of the reasons. That was why he had saved Jim's life in the restaurant. Bad man though he was, the call of blood ties had stirred in him at last. He had refused to let his nephew be sacrificed to the revenge of his associates. There had been other causes of difference between him and the Moss family. For instance, there was Mamie Dugan, who lived down by the railroad tracks and was a particular friend of Joe Shear and also a friend of Sam Moss. Jim meant to have a talk with her as soon as possible. But the fact remained that at last the marshal had remembered he was a Rutledge and served notice on the Moss crowd to keep hands off his kin. That might be the deciding factor which had caused Devil Dave to have him killed.

Jim resumed his reading.

The evidence was circumstantial in the S. and G. robbery. It was not proved that the Moss gang did it, not so they could have been convicted in a court. But in my own mind I was satisfied. Dave Moss sent me word to lay off. He gave me two reasons. The first was that I would get killed if I did not quit hunting for evidence. The other was that my brother was in it deep as any one else. Dave and I met. He drew on me and I wounded him. After that it was war between us. I got too hot on the trail and Dave moved out of Texas with all his outfit. My brother became notorious as a killer. I have never seen him in late years. Ever since then Moss has tried to do me dirt. Last year when his ruffians tried to stampede our remuda on the trail you know we accidentally killed his nephew, Slim Gorham. Whatever you do, boy, keep out of that man's power. He will get you if he can.

That was all, except the signature of Chandler Rutledge.

The information given by his father did not help Jim much. Robert Jelks was dead and his letter would have no weight in a court of law. The death of Shear removed the possibility of getting at any evidence from the inside. But, as his father had said, Jim at least knew more clearly where he stood.

Jim did not stay long at the camp. He had ridden out as a matter of duty to see that all was well, but he had before him a busy day and night. He had to see and placate one girl. He had to meet and get into the good graces of another. Petit larceny was on his program for the next twenty-four hours, also the burglary of a house. Most important of all, he must become engaged and attend his wedding. As a preliminary to the last two it was necessary to change the mind of a redheaded young woman who was probably employed just now in persuading herself that she hated him.

The illegal part of his schedule did not disturb Jim as much as that side of it which had to do with human contacts. He had no confidence in himself as a masterful lover, nor did he know how to approach Mamie Dugan with any prospect of success.

It is possible that his humility was an asset rather than a drawback. With Ellen Lawson, though it would have surprised Jim to know it, his feet carried him reluctantly to the Glen cottage. His knock on the door was timid.

Mrs. Glen answered it. At sight of him her eyes lit, but her greeting was noncommittal. "Something I can do for you, Mr. Rutledge?" she asked.

"I—want to see Miss Lawson, if you please," he said sheepishly.

The response of the widow held its edge of malice. "She's busy getting ready for her wedding tomorrow. I don't know as she can see callers."

"I've got something to explain," he said.

"I can believe that," she said tartly. "But does Ellen want to hear you?"

"I don't know. I've got to see her, Mrs. Glen. It's— mighty important."

"Have you come to let her know who she is to marry now?"

He winced. "Don't you, Mrs. Glen. Let's agree I'm a lunkhead, but—help me out."

Swiftly she came over to his side. "What can I do?" she asked in a low voice, glancing over her shoulder into the house.

"I've got to get her to change her mind. I—I can't stand to have her marry that Pete Moss. He'll make her unhappy sure."

"Do you know any one would make her happy?"

He blushed to the roots of his hair. "I know some one who would try."

Mrs. Glen beamed. "You're showing signs of gumption at last. If I see you see her will you tell her how pretty she is and that you love her, instead of big talk about marrying her to save her from Dave Moss?"

He met her gaze directly, though his face retained its crimson hue. "Love" was a word he shied from as a young colt does from a newspaper fluttering in the wind.

"I reckon," he promised.

She shook her head dubiously. "Lord help you, you big sumph! And remember to keep telling her you're daft about her. Come in."

Three minutes later Ellen walked into the sitting room.

"You!" she cried, staring at him.

She had been crying. The storm had left its mark on her cheeks.

"I—I had to see you, Ellen," he said.

"Mrs. Glen told me somebody had a message for me." Her heart was behaving queerly. She wanted to run to her room and hide, but the pride he had humbled so cruelly would not let her go.

"I've been a dumb fool," he told her bitterly. "I don't blame you if you give me the gate, but——"

She waited, still uncertain what he meant.

"I think an awful lot of you, Ellen," he gulped out. "I don't want you to marry Pete Moss or any one but me."

By Mae Tinée.

If you are, as I was, under the impression that this picture is a revival—with sound added—of one made years ago by Miss Murray, you are wrong. It's a new production, turned out by an organization that had nothing to do with the former "Peacock Alley," and it features an entirely different cast than that supporting the star in her previous venture. AND it is a far better picture than its predecessor, presenting a much more pleasing and interesting Mae Murray.

This fair lady has come a long way. The artificiality and bizarrerie which once (I thought) made her impossible have entirely disappeared. In her straight scenes Miss Murray gives a restrained, intelligent, and appealing performance, and she is a delightful and vivid personality in the brief stage episode where she offers dances in technicolor. Also she sings, with mellow voice, in a manner that is charmingly natural and unself-conscious. She wears some stunning costumes.

The story? O, rather a hectic and ordinary one of a virtuous stage lady who is suspected by a hotel detective of being not that way. He causes her much embarrassment and trouble before she has proved herself pure as the driven snow and captured her bluebird. Puzzle—find bird. The picture's ending will somewhat surprise you, I think, unless you've been reading baffle books, and then, of course, it won't.

At first one finds difficulty in understanding what George Barraud is saying, he being English and accenting the fact in his close-clipped diction. But he calms down, after a while, and the sound gets pretty good. Supporting rôles are well played and "Peacock Alley" has been quite nicely set, directed, and photographed.

★ ★
Produced by Pathé.
Directed by Marshall Neilan.
Presented at the Rialto theater.
THE CAST:

Lucy Warriner	Ina Claire
Norman Warriner	Henry Daniel
Edgar Trent	Theodore Von Eltz
Dan Leeson	Paul Harvey
Mrs. Leeson	Blanche Frederick
Josephine Trent	Judith Voselli
Jimmy Kempster	John Roche

I think I should go mad if I had to listen very often to Ina Claire's shrill, staccato voice. She speaks rapidly and in a patently acquired manner and why on earth any one should desire to talk so, I can't imagine. But the lady's clatter must not be confused with her acting. Some of her pantomime in "The Awful Truth" is remarkably clever.

The story is a serio-comic one that concerns itself with modern marriage and divorce. It will, I suspect, prove a bit baffling to Rialto patrons whose taste does not run to subtleties.

As to looks, Miss Claire is a composite of Mary Pickford, Colleen Moore, Lillian Gish, and others one might mention. She has able enough support and direction in this venture, but unless cast in silent pictures she should, I feel, return to the stage where, apparently, everybody liked the sound of her.

See you tomorrow.

Mischa Levitski and Mildred Titcomb Win Praise as Pianists

BY EDWARD MOORE.

In this era of pianists and lots of them, two more inscribed their names as Chicago visitors yesterday afternoon. Playing at the same hour within a few yards of each other, one was Mischa Levitzki, rightfully well known, at the Studebaker, and the other was Mildred Titcomb, at present less well known, but with plenty of reason to enjoy wide acquaintance in the future. She appeared at the Playhouse.

Mr. Levitzki makes a specialty of developing a tone that is quite the finest, roundest, and mellowest that was ever known to come out of a piano. That fact, superimposed upon a nature of high musical intelligence, gives a reason for his reputation as a poet of the piano. He would seem to care little about making explorations through the bypaths of piano music. His chief concern is to take a répertoire of rather well known works and play them more persuasively and charmingly than any one on earth. The result was a crowded audience at the Studebaker that promptly put him well into the front row of the musical pantheon.

The Mozart sonata that he played was the one in A minor that begins with variations and ends with the Turkish march. Then came the Bach Chromatic fantasy and fugue, then the Schumann Symphonic études, and finally a Chopin group, of which the Impromptu was that in F sharp minor; the Ballade was the best known one in A flat, and the Polonaise equally well known and also in A flat. It was like meeting a group of old friends that were wearing a little better clothes and using a little more suave manners than usual.

Miss Titcomb, a native of Los Angeles, was making her first professional visit. It is evident that she has been studying the art of the piano to good effect, and it was also evident that she has the sort of musical imagination that makes study worth while. In the course of her study she has developed an ample, not to say a brilliant, technical equipment. On her own behalf she has looked intently into her music and seen things that do not always occur to every pianist.

Every once in awhile, particularly in her Chopin group, she brought out a detail that had a new aspect, and frequently a fascinating one. Yet she has avoided the danger of getting lost in details. She maintains a fine, logical line, she decorates it with the aforesaid details, and she gives a glow to the sum total through the force of her own personality. Debussy's "Reflets dans l'Eau" was perhaps less to her taste than Chopin, but the Chopin was so interesting that she could be pardoned for including in this present year a curiosity of the past like the Wagner-Liszt "Liebestod," the final scene of "Tristan und Isolde."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Would you care to live till the end of the world?

The Answers.

William T. Elliott, 340 East Scott street, salesman. — I doubt if I would care to enter into that sort of a life contract. Watching of the years and the centuries and possibly eons of periods of time would become monotonous. The chances are that I would prefer to try some new adventure.

Miss Fannye Becker, Sikeston, Mo., buyer.—Well, I'd want to think that over before making up my mind. It might lead to eternity being spent here on earth. But, no one likes to die. While this is a mechanical age, there will be changes and improvements and developments in every activity.

E. G. Fitzamon, Oakland, Cal., writer.—Well, yes; but if the end comes next month it would be all right with me. The consumption of coal, oil, asbestos, and other products reduces continually the weight of this sphere by millions of tons. Eventually it will fly off its orbit, then—whoopee!

Miss Elsie Hempe, 5235 Wayne avenue, secretary. — Yes, because there is so much to live for, so many things to do and to accomplish. I would like lots of time for travel; I have traveled much — why, it would take more than a normal lifetime to see what's worth seeing.

E. A. Quarnstrom, 1916 Mulford street, student — Not even with my health and all my faculties unimpaired. I would like to do my bit, however. The chances are there will be a use for this world a long time and the people in it will have their work to do.

Ten Years of Women's Voting to Be Celebrated

Volcano Study May Reveal Making of Ores

U. S. Scientists to Delve in Nature's Laboratory.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—(AP)—An expedition into the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes and the Katmai volcano region in Alaska during the coming summer to study the closure of great earth wounds caused there by volcanic eruptions was announced today by the National Geographic society.

The party will be led by Dr. Robert F. Griggs, who discovered the famous Smoky valley in 1916. Then it was described as "a seething inferno of hot rocks, steam, and acid gases." It was later made part of a national monument by President Wilson.

Several possible results of the expedition are discussed by the Geographic society. Recent studies, it was said, indicate that many of the world's ore bodies originated under just such conditions as those exemplified in the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. It was held possible also that the vents through which vapor is poured into the valley may be dying out and eventually will form hot springs like those of the Yellowstone National park.

Temperature studies will be made to compare with data gathered by previous expeditions.

Conditions in and around the valley after the last eruption, it was said, were comparable to the condition of the world itself in the remote past, before soil was formed. A study of the plants growing in the pumice covered areas, therefore, was described as a clew to the processes of humus formation and a possible solution of many still unsolved agricultural problems.

Cornerstone for New Gary Church Laid in Wheaton

The cornerstone of the new Gary Memorial Methodist Episcopal church was laid at Wheaton, Ill., yesterday. The stone used was the only one saved from the fire which destroyed the old church.

The Rev. J. B. Martin, superintendent of the Chicago western district, ordered the stone into place after music by the choir and Le Roy Hamp, soloist, and speeches by Clifford V. Gregory, the Rev. F. H. Millett, representing the churches of Wheaton.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE First Law for Laughter in theatricals, invented somewhere back in the old stone age and still actively practiced on every college campus, is: Dress a man up in woman's clothes. This trick will cause the feminine half of any audience to shriek with glee. A few conservative males will grit their teeth at the spectacle, but their virile annoyance will be submerged in the general uproar of ladylike joy.

This primitive source of humor has been tapped to make the plot and the merriment of "She's No Lady," which was staged at the Garrick last night with Lynne Overman as the mincing masquerader. For the sake of a quick definition you might call this farce a variation upon that ancient and record breaking charade, "Charlie's Aunt," with sex suggestiveness added to give it the air of modernism. But when judged by contemporary standards, it does not go too far on either side of the ambiguous line of its story. It is fairly mild in its deportment. Insistent laughter followed the course of its première, and a silly, hysterical time was apparently had by most of us. The piece is as crazy and preposterous as a farce should be; it is true to the frenzied traditions of its species.

Heretofore Mr. Overman has shown no inclinations toward female impersonation. He has a light, cooing voice and a way of talking slyly through his teeth; but he has been definitely male. He remains so in the disguise of Calypso Blabee, the uncanny dame who chaperones a pretty girl in Paris and chews the bed clothes whenever his innocent companion wants advice about her lingerie. As Calypso, Mr. Overman finds the pseudo-domesticity of his chaperoning job extremely taxing to his masculine nature.

The rôle he is acting might have been named "Julian Eltinge." For Mr. Overman is supposed to be a female impersonator of vaudeville renown, who has the Calypso chore thrust upon him by certain complications of country club life on Long Island. For one thing, a clubman had addressed Mr. Overman as "Pansy" and been knocked into the middle of next week by a straight left to the button. The police were waiting for Mr. Overman. For another, his crony, a matinée idol, was coaxing a nice girl to go to Paris for purposes strictly dishonorable. But why try to tell the story of a farce? The only thing that matters is that Mr. Overman went unwillingly as Calypso, broke up the seduction party, and got into the comic situations that are inevitable under such conditions.

If any one tries to tell you that Mr. Overman is a marvelous female impersonator, and that it is "just wonderful" how he fiddles with his gloves and his handbag, don't believe them. He doesn't intend to be a rival of Mei Lan-fang, the famous Chinese androgyne. He is about as feminine in the rôle as Sammy Margell would be in a ballet skirt. His voice, of course, is soft and alto—but so are Jack Dempsey's and William Gillette's. He is an expert light comedian with a slightly fantastic style, and he knows that the fun in this farce is not to be found by epicenity.

He gets neat cooperation from Mildred McLeod, who plays the feather-headed girl with alert candor, and from Walter N. Greaza, who is the flamboyant matinée idol. They feed the comedy to him diligently, and he deals it out to the audience with great unction. The others in the cast are run-of-the-mine players who give a fairly capable account of themselves.

The author of this piece, Mary Hay, is known in the theater world as a dancer. She conceals her identity on the program under the pen names of "Bruce Spaulding and Anthony Baird." The piece contains no reason for this shyness; it's far from a masterpiece, of course, but it is a frameup that works.

Law May Stop Marathon Dancers After 106 Days

Charity Work Grows Larger, Official Says

Issue Yearly Appeal for Funds from Public.

A plea for "renewed faith backed by substantial support" was made by the United Charities of Chicago yesterday through the organization's president, Warren A. Lamson, in making public the organization's 1929 report.

The work of the United Charities in bringing aid to 70,000 persons in 13,237 families during the last year should be cause for that "renewal of faith in organized charity as the most effective means of meeting the needs of the poor and returning them to a self-supporting basis," Mr. Lamson stated.

"We are in tremendous need of this renewed faith and the help of thousands of other citizens as generous as those who supported our work last year," he said. "The number of families dependent on the United Charities for aid has increased greatly recently owing to the reductions made by the county board in its budgets for mothers' pensions and for outdoor relief, and to the large amount of unemployment."

Of the 13,237 families aided, 10,739 of them were kept from becoming dependent and were "returned to their normal status of living" without any expenditure for relief other than the services of social workers, the report states. Only 2,548 families required monetary relief in addition to the services rendered by social case workers, a total of $306,922 being given to those families, according to the report.

Other services performed by the United Charities last year, as contained in the report:

In those families listed as receiving aid, 10,970 persons obtained medical treatment through the efforts of the organization.

Outings of two weeks or more in camps or country homes were provided for 3,327 children and mothers.

At Camp Algonquin 1,808 mothers and children were cared for during a two weeks period.

Temporary relief and, wherever possible, aid to employment, medical and institutional care were given to 1,316 homeless and stranded men, or men physically handicapped, insane, aged, or subnormal.

Positions were found for 1,096 unemployed persons.

Under the direction of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund, 799 children were regularly weighed and measured at monthly intervals. Special diets were prescribed for each undernourished child.

Persons placed in institutions numbered 384.

The legal aid bureau of the United Charities handled 23,050 cases for persons unable to pay a regular attorney's fee, collecting a total of $127,049.51 for its clients on claims for wages and miscellaneous debts.

PARIS, March 2.—(AP)—Ambassador Walter E. Edge and Mrs. Edge received a magnificent welcome tonight from French and American society people at a dinner followed by a reception and a ball, offered in their honor by the "Comité Franco-Amérique."

This organization, numbering several thousand members, is devoted to the promotion of good relations between France and North and South America.

All the members of the Latin American diplomatic corps, as well as Philippe Roy, Canadian minister, were present.

Count Robert de Vogue, vice president of the committee, in an address at the dinner hailed Mr. Edge as the "business ambassador" of America and predicted that he would contribute notably to the practical development of Franco-American relations.

Tight Shoes May Cause Headaches, Experts Told

A headache may be caused by the pinch of a shoe, Dr. Emanuel Demeur of Oak Park, chiropodist, told members of the Illinois Association of Chiropodists meeting yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

Dr. Demeur discussed a case of one young woman whose "rheumatic condition" was caused by improper shoes. Backaches and weariness also are frequently caused by shoes that are too short, he said.

"Most women do not realize that one foot is longer than the other with most persons. Naturally, they fit the smaller foot."

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Books and Metals Combine to Create New Art Effects

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Dudensing galleries of New York have chosen the most fascinating exhibit with which to open their new venture in Chicago that one could well imagine. The galleries are combining with the Walden Book shop in a modern architectural atmosphere at 646 North Michigan avenue to create something really original. At every hand the adventure is a success. The interior is delightfully curious, metal chairs and metal lighting and metal rails to the stairs bring a note of silver gray into prominence and raise the status of the commercial into the realms of the fantastic.

The first exhibition of pictures continues the path into the fantastic. The gallery is hung with charming and quaint and utterly adorable creations by Nura, the New York artist with the Alice in Wonderland twist. She paints fascinatingly impossible children in the properest and primmest of circumstances. Her children are staid little beings, not a smile in the lot of them, but their very soberness brings smiles to the lips of those who see them. They are irresistible.

"At My Grandma's" introduces you to a green cow and a green kitty, but the color seems nothing out of the way when considered in combination with the placid and plump maiden who dominates the field with a solid milk pail, filled, in her hand. "Supper Time" shows another little girl, self-possessed, a milk jug in one nonchalant hand still trickling a stream of milk which is caught in falling by a hungry puss, and at the child's feet is a bowl surrounded by a ring of lapping cats. Cats are nearly as numerous as children in Nura's paintings.

Her coloring is unique, full and honest and definite. Her drawing is extraordinary, nothing is right, but it is very effective and dramatic and simple; you know she is giving fat legs and stolid bodies and thick necks and quaint heads and heavy hair to her various infants on purpose. Definitely, she is out for the fun of the thing. Her delightful nonsense is just as refreshing as the nonsense of the "Looking Glass" country. Among the most adorable are "Young Flower," "The Picnic," "Sundown," "Reader for a Journey," and "Quiet Reflections," but they are all fascinating.

The exhibit will continue through the month.

Call Out for South Shore Follies Cast

BY THALIA

The annual call for talent for the South Shore Follies, one of the most important features of the South Shore Country club's social program, has gone out to members. The first Follies rehearsal is to take place next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The invitations to participate mention slightly that "you do not have to be talented—perhaps you have observed that. Come out—if you can sing, dance, or can act we will not hold that against you—you'll have a lot of fun, anyway. Our Follies have been successful and popular in past years; help us make this Follies the best ever."

The Follies are an institution of 11 years' standing, both popular and successful. Last year there were audiences of 1,000 for each of the two performances.

This year the show is to be given on April 4 and 5. Some of the members who have starred in many of the shows include Mrs. Julius T. Benedict, Mrs. Wilbur F. McWhinny, the George L. Careys Jr., Ralph Parker, Eustace Vynne, Ralph Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bates Jr., Natalie Frees, Betsy Watson, Johnny McGovern, Joseph Lawlor, E. Malcolm Anderson, Marcia Masters, Cecelia Kern, Mrs. Foster Turner (Janet Good), Nancy Pelz, Frances Weary, and Constance Rentree.

The E. A. Cudahys, who are spending the winter season at the Huntington hotel in Pasadena, gave a ship ahoy dinner dance to several guests at that hotel one evening last week. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds, the Bernard and the Percy Eckharts, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt, and the George Marcys were among the Chicago guests of the Cudahys.

The B. E. Sunnys had a party the same evening, with Mr. and Mrs. W. Rufus Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parrot, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lobdell among their guests. The Frank Matthiessens and the John H. Hardins were guests of the Conrad Poppenhusens of Evanston.

The Kenwood Social Service club will hold a meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Dunlap Clark at 4529 University avenue.

Mrs. Parmelee McFadden will act as hostess at the tea at the Arts club this afternoon to open three exhibitions of paintings.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Bernard E. Sunny, Clement Studebaker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick are among the boxholders for the concert to be given by Giovanni Martinelli this evening at Orchestra hall for the benefit of the Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education.

Among those who have made reservations for the Chicago Drama league's distinguished guest luncheon for Thornton Wilder on Wednesday at the Stevens hotel are Mrs. Clyde Dix, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. Louis Taylor, Mrs. Edward Pauling, Miss Lucy Martin, and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw. A special table has been arranged for the cast of the Drama league's tournament players performance of "Children of the Moon," presented recently at the Goodman theater.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grant McDonald of 1120 Lake Shore drive are being congratulated upon the birth of their second child, a daughter, at St. Luke's hospital on Thursday. Mrs. McDonald was Miss Camille Henry before her marriage.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine of 209 Lake Shore drive, who has been at her place at Oconomowoc, Wis., for much of the winter, has departed for California. She will be the guest of the Charles Garfield Kings at Santa Barbara, Cal., for about a month, and plans to return by way of Phoenix, Ariz.

Hugh Walpole, who is in Chicago for a lecture visit, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick jr., who gave a small dinner party for him last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Peabody Brush jr. of 179 East Chestnut street have as their house guests Mrs. Brush's mother, Mrs. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, N. J., and her niece, Miss Helen Gibson. They are to remain for a week or ten days.

Gigli Sings Nine Arias During His Program Sunday

BY HAZEL MOORE.

The spring migration of the song birds from the Metropolitan opera, New York, to the Lake Michigan shore of Chicago began yesterday afternoon when Beniamino Gigli appeared on the stage of Orchestra hall to excite mightily the large audience of assembled Gigli fans. At previous appearances Mr. Gigli may have lacked a bit the standardized dignity of the concert artist. Yesterday it was the audience that threw dignity to the winds and shouted lustily for this or that favorite aria. [One was even heard indiscreetly to demand the soprano "Last Rose of Summer."]

As far as possible, Mr. Gigli attempted to accept all challenges. At the finish of his program he had already sung nine full length arias besides the programed and added songs, and I doubt not that several more were appended before the crowd became satiated.

As an endurance test for tenors, the program was a wonder. But the real wonder lay in the glory of the golden voice that is Gigli's, as fresh, as pungent at the end as the beginning of the afternoon. To record the arias is to list most of the tenor standbys from "Una Furtiva Lagrima," from Donizetti's "L'Elisir d'Amore," to the Pagliacci "Lament." One group alone consisted of the third act narrative from "Lohengrin," strangely soft, sung in Italian, followed by two Verdian encores, "La Donna E Mobile," from "Rigoletto," and "E Lucevan le Stelle," from the last act of "Tosca."

Of songs there were a plenty. The second group, "O Bel Nidi d'Amore," by Donaudy; Liszt's "Liebestraum," with words by Mr. Gigli, and Grieg's "Un Reve," followed by Massenet's "Reve" from the opera "Manon," were exquisite models of bel canto. There were other songs of varying merit, of which one of the worst was Curran's abortive "Life," and one of the best the lovely "Il Pianto," said to have been written by Toselli for the queen of Saxony. But good or bad, the audience clamored for more.

Mr. Gigli's program having been about the equivalent of an opera and a half, he yet had an assisting artist. Somewhere between the original announcement of the concert and the actuality yesterday, the name of Anna Fitziu, well known in Chicago, became changed to Anna Hamilton, until yesterday quite unknown. Miss Hamilton functioned variously in song and aria, displaying a fine soprano voice of dramatic range and an unusual number of extraneous bodily contortions while singing. Miguel Sandoval played expert accompaniments for both singers.

Michel Wilkomirski is one of the younger Chicago violinists who seems indefatigable in work and accomplishment. His recital at the Civic theater yesterday afternoon, both as to program and performance, was well worth the hearing.

Two Kreisler arrangements, the Paganini-Kreisler "Prelude and Allegro," and the Mozart-Kreisler "Rondo," which opened the program, were followed by a fine toned and scholarly performance of Beethoven sterling concerto in D major. In the latter Mr. Wilkomirski used the brilliant cadenzas by Joseph Joachim. The solidity of this performance of Beethoven's work was splendidly assisted by the large orchestral tone of Isaac Van Grove at the piano. Works by Chopin-Sarasate, Rachmaninoff and Saint-Saens completed the program.

Vegetarian Meals.

More often by a physician's prescription than because of any natural or religious predilection for them, people serve vegetarian meals now and then, and sometimes continuously for a period. Not long ago a lawyer wrote to me, beginning his letter thus: "I am much interested in experimenting with a weekly schedule of meals for 6 o'clock dinner which would provide for the minimum use of meat and with the emphasis placed upon vegetables, at the same time providing the necessary balanced calories."

This correspondent did not mention why he wished such dinner menus, and that is sometimes an important item. Neither did he suggest to me that he could or would cook the dinner himself.

The term balanced calories means nothing. The balance in a meal must come from having the correct proportion of proteins, starches, fats, and the vegetables which yield minerals, roughage, and vitamins, and that the whole yield neither too many nor too few calories. For a normal diet the balance may be quite different from that in a diet supposed to have some definite curative purpose, for instance one in which such an item as liver is used because the one needing the diet is anemic.

In counting the calories of a meal, we count the caloric worth of each and every item. Fats have the largest number of calories, so in providing a diet for those who are active we include a larger proportion of fats than if planning for a sedentary person. The starches, which means the bread and cereals, to which the sugars are cousins, yield the next highest amount of calories. People who overeat nearly always get their surplus of calories from the breads and bread stuffs.

Leipzig Spring Fair Draws Tradesmen of Many Countries

LEIPZIG, Germany, March 2.—(AP)—The narrow old fashioned streets of this ancient city rang with a babel of voices from all quarters of the world today, the opening day of the annual Leipzig spring fair, which is going stronger than ever after 700 years of existence.

Almost 2,000 American business men jostled a motley crowd of traders from China, Japan, soviet Russia, all the European states and the South American republics, all bent on laying in stocks and discovering novelties for their home markets.

Besides a variety of new toys shown by 820 makers, including rocket cars and airplanes, the striking novelties include a new dictating device on the electro-magnetic principle, which records on steel wires instead of on the familiar wax cylinder used in American offices.

A telephone clock controlling the time of calls and checking the duration of long distance connections is another feature.

About one thousand exhibits are labor saving devices for the home, and new radio "gadgets" are legion.

Watches are shown in a new triangular shape, with and without luminous dials. Some are set in handles of umbrellas and canes.

China, Poland and Chile are specially represented for the first time this year with extensive shows of indigenous products of each country.

Lenten Pleas Call Modern Life Evil; Demand More Piety

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, March 2.—Lenten pastoral messages by Roman Catholic bishops read in all the churches in Ireland today stressed the heavily demoralizing tendencies of modern life such as indecent literature, secret societies, immoral dance halls and vulgar movies.

One archbishop said he had petitioned for a eucharistic congress in 1932 in Dublin coincident with the fifteenth centenary of the arrival of St. Patrick in Ireland in 432.

The bishop of Galway said a secret society has been started to overthrow the free state government. He pointed out that the pope has recognized the legitimacy of that government.

Cardinal MacRory referred to the recent interview with the pope when the latter showed a close knowledge of Irish affairs and expressed approval of the Irish law censoring publications with the hope that the censors would do their work firmly and conscientiously.

Old King Cole.

My daughter, 3, was so fond of Mother Goose rhymes that the characters in them were real people to her. One day, as she and I were coming down the rather narrow stairs of our apartment building, we met an exceptionally fat man.

Just as we were squeezing past him my daughter said in her loud, childish voice: "O, isn't he fat? I guess he must be Old King Cole." She followed this with much laughter.

It didn't take me long to get down the rest of the stairs and out the front door. J. G. O.

Point Barrow, Alaska, Fears Summer of Solid Ice Blockade

Washington, D. C., March 2.—(AP)—A message from the world's most northerly radio station, made public today by the war department, reported that unless ice conditions change, the inhabitants of the Point Barrow region in Alaska may lose their summer entirely and suffer the privations of an "all ice year." The terse report from Staff Sergeant Stanley H. Morgan, in charge of the tiny radio station facing on the Arctic ocean, said prevailing winds were "packing ice along the coast in great solid packs, forming pressure ridge shallow water and bars 25 to 40 feet nigh."

Morgan added that "old timers," basing their predictions on other years when there had been no south winds to carry away the great packs, thought it possible that no ships could get through, and that the meager supplies freighted by dog teams would necessitate "many hardships due to scarcity of food and fuel."

SHOW PROGRESS IN MAKING AIR SAFE FOR ALL

But Foolproof Plane Is Yet Distant.

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—The report of the results of the international safe aircraft competition, sponsored by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics and won by the Curtiss Tanager, a plane built by the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company of Garden City, L. I., reveals the plane that stood second was within one point of the winning entry. The report was made public today.

Competition ended last January and the prize went to the only plane that passed all the qualifying tests. Closest to the winner in ranking was the entry of Sir Frederick Handley-Page of London. None of the other contestants came within many points of passing the requirements.

Although the "foolproof" plane has not been made yet, and may never be, the competition showed a decided progress in making flying more safe.

The closeness of these two competitors is of particular interest in view of the legal contest between the companies since the close of the safety competition. Almost coincident with the ending of the competition, Handley-Page announced he planned to sue the Curtiss company for its use of the slotted wing on the grounds of patent infringement.

His proposed action was answered by the Curtiss company with a court action based upon the alleged infringement of five patents and the violation of a standing court order forbidding the entrance of Handley-Pake planes into the country on patent grounds.

The fund stood clear of this private squabble and in its report on the competition makes no reference to the points at issue beyond the statement that the slots used proved their efficiency.

AIR LINES AGREE TO CO-OPERATE IN SOUTH AMERICA

New York, March 2.—(AP)—Pan-American airways, operating air lines from Florida and Texas through the Caribbean countries and South America, today announced the signing of a cooperative operating agreement with Scadta, a commercial air transport line operating in the Republic of Colombia.

Scadta, founded in 1919, operating a 3,000 mile network of airplanes in Colombia, carrying passengers, mail and freight.

By the terms of the agreement the companies share the use of all airports, seaplane anchorages and airways facilities. Pan American's radio communication system will be extended to Scadta planes as soon as the necessary equipment is installed in them.

The whole agreement, the announcement said, "is in pursuance of the program sponsored by President Hoover, that American enterprises in South America should expand with successful business organizations already operating there."

Glider Flown in Arena in First Indoor Flight

St. Louis, Mo., March 2.—(AP)—A glider was flown in "dead air" inside the huge arena building here last night to mark the first indoor flight by man in such a mechanical device.

Harry Kuchins, a member of the St. Louis Glider club, successfully flew the glider the length of the arena at an altitude of about ten feet. The feat was performed at a Boy Scout circus and the glider used was the one Col. Charles A. Lindbergh used in his first two glider flights in St. Louis last June.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Gone but Not Forgotten

Here at Last! Elmer Finds a Perfect Day

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Yesterday's perfect day began with a magnificent performance of Brahms' First symphony, played on the theater orchestra program from New York, through KYW, 1 to 2 o'clock.

By both a singular and fortunate coincidence, Brahms' Second symphony was played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock conducting, through W-G-N, 2 to 3 o'clock. Mr. Stock called it a popular work. This performance should start it on its way to popularity in the radio world. It is full of interest and beauty. This orchestra's programs have struck the grand style—don't miss next Sunday's concert.

Miss Helen Thomas Bucher, soprano soloist, was new on the W-G-N Musical Melange concert, 4:45 to 5:30. She is a superb radio singer and has a glorious voice.

Then there was the interesting woodwind choir feature of the W-G-N Symphony concert, 7:45 to 8:15.

Andres Segovia, the genius of the guitar, gave a concert from New York, through W-G-N, the 8:15 to 9:15 concert. It was a wonderful concert. Segovia's guitar is comparable to today's harpsichord.

Thus, the close of a perfect day.

The motorman and the other passengers, who carried only change, were not molested.

What is believed to be the first public health school for foreigners ever conducted in the United States was started yesterday at Hull house under auspices of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium. Four hundred Mexicans attended the opening class.

The school was organized by Dr. Benjamin Goldberg, director of the sanitarium, to combat the spread of tuberculosis among the Mexicans, a race peculiarly susceptible to that disease.

Four more classes will be held on succeeding Sundays at Hull house after which the school will be held at the University of Chicago settlement house and in South Chicago. Ten thousand booklets on health and hygiene, written in easy Spanish, have been prepared for distribution among the Mexicans.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN 1928 KILLING OF POLICEMAN

Steve Krober, 33 years old, 951 North Harding avenue, was arrested last night by Lieut. Otto Earlonson and his detective squad in connection with the investigation of the murder of Sergt. John Chiska of the Cragin police station, who was slain by three gunmen on April 5, 1928. Krober was arrested in the Pioneer poolroom at 1536 North Crawford avenue after an informant had told the police that one of the slayers could be found there.

Krober denied that he was connected with the killing and the police encountered difficulty in identifying him as one of the men wanted when they discovered that his fingertips had been burned by acid, making it almost impossible to decipher his finger.

Joseph Papczak, 23 years old, and Stanley Walker, 23, were arrested shortly after the killing and were identified by Kasimir Wiejacska as two of the trio who shot Chiska when he arrived at Wiejacska's candy store at 2218 North Lorel avenue to investigate a threatened holdup. They were indicted with one Steve Cygan, who was never arrested.

CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL TO REST NEAR LATE POPE

VATICAN CITY, March 2.—(AP)—The will of Cardinal Merry del Val, former secretary of state to the papacy, who died last week, was opened this afternoon in the presence of his brother, Marcus Alfonso Merry del Val, Spanish ambassador to London, and of many ecclesiastics. It leaves all his estate to the congregation for the propagation of the faith with the express desire that everything be devoted to poor missions.

The cardinal expressed a wish for the humblest burial possible, but asked that he should be buried close "to my beloved father and pontiff, Pius X." If this were impossible on account of his unworthiness, he wished to be buried in his titular church of St. Prassede.

When the pope was informed of the contents of the will he immediately ordered that the late cardinal's desire should be fulfilled and that his body be buried as near as possible to the tomb of Pius X. in the grotto of St. Peter's. The funeral services will be held in St. Peters tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Those Few Excess Pounds Can Make Loads of Difference

By Gabriele Donnelly

There is a considerable body of women whose superfluous weight never lifts them into the obese class. Yet their few excess pounds annoy. Five, six, or seven pounds extra is about all they let get out of control. But while these five, six, or seven pounds are playing hide and seek around hip and waistline, they do rob the victim of her usual sprightliness. She may not have a five pound look, but she certainly has a five pound feel. I know, because I am one of her.

A succession of parties and luncheons is responsible, or just palate defiance to the wiles of a cook, proud of her pies or her Hungarian dishes. You know as you eat that you are going to pay for this, so you take a second helping to make the paying worth while. At least, that's the way one weak minded femme I know well argues.

"Pay day" for her means either a three day liquid diet or a six day vegetable soup orgy. Sometimes one speaks sometimes the other. The liquid diet either consists of a favorite prescription [juice of one grapefruit, two oranges, and two lemons, slightly sweetened and to which a two quart pitcher of water is added] or orange juice.

Sometimes a little cheating is done at breakfast time with the aid of a thin slice of toast. But ordinarily, it is surprisingly pleasing how comfortably you survive on the fruit juice alone. And the feeling, after the first day, is grand.

The vegetable soup course provides you with the vegetables from the soup [carrots, tomatoes, celery, an onion if you choose, a little turnip] for luncheon and dinner along with more soup. It's not hard to take for five or six days, by which time you have convinced yourself if not your relatives that you are back in grace again.

It would be better not to go over the line, at all. But food being what it is and will power being likewise, some of us do fall from grace every so often. A strenuous diet is not needed—and these light, liquid fasts have a most rejuvenating effect on both waist and spirit.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

Famished by the severe cold and heavy snows of the last two months, rabbits and mice threaten heavy damage to apple and cherry trees between now and the end of March unless fruit growers apply control measures quickly, according to G. C. Oderkirk of the federal biological survey. He is cooperating with the Illinois state natural history survey and the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, in rodent control in this state.

Reports already have come in of injury by mice during the winter, and further damage by them is likely, because they have been forced to turn to apple, cherry, and young shade tree for succulent food. The most effective control measures that can be put into force include supplying food in the shape of prunings from orchard trees, wrapping trees with paper or wire, and the liberal use of poisoned bait to destroy the pests.

"State laws prohibit the use of poisons against rabbits," says Oderkirk. "It therefore is necessary to use paper or wire protectors at the bases of trees or distribute a liberal quantity of prunings, hay, and grain where rabbits are attacking trees. It may be impractical to leave enough prunings to satisfy the needs of rabbits. In such a case it is advisable to sacrifice alfalfa or clover hay placed at convenient points where rabbits will find it.

"The most effective control of mice is poisoned baits scattered along surface runways, beneath matted grass, and on bare ground near trees, where mice will easily find it. Strychnine coated wheat, rolled oats, and sweet potato bait will be eaten readily."

Directions for preparing the baits and other information on control of field mice are found in farmers' bulletin 1397, which may be secured from county farm bureaus or the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

Couturiers Inspired by Grecian Robes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—It is a far cry from Paris, A. D. 1930, back to Athens, X, B. C., but Paris fashions have made the route without delays or breakdowns. The graceful, flowing lines of Greek robes have always tempted the Paris couturiers. Chanel is frankly guided by the Greek proportion, Talbot cuts her formal evening frocks like primitive Greek draperies, Vionnet's fluid frocks remind one of the classic Victories done in marble.

Of course Greek in Paris fashions doesn't mean bare feet and Duncanites. It is a matter of long, enveloping draping of the silhouette, cleverly modernized to the streamline of 1930.

The Paris theater, this season, has done a lot toward making Greek modes popular. There have been Greek and near Greek revivals on the stage. Jean Giraudoux's witty burlesque on Greek customs—"Amphitryon 38" inspires this smart and graceful frock, which Jeanne Lanvin, that great period artist in cloth, designed for the star, Valentine Tessier.

This frock is made of pale rose georgette, and you know the style horoscope casts both material and color for spring favor. The ample skirt is the result of cunning, circular cutting. It is gathered in seemingly careless fashion into the confining cross bands of the corsage, which follow the natural lines of the figure, without too closely defining them. The crossed bands of the bodice are beaded all over in shining crystal tubes. A false decolleté of pink georgette raises the neckline to an ultra modest height, a detail that Paris likes very much for spring evening gowns.

A separate hip length jacket of the pink georgette has long flowing sleeves confined at the top to the dropped shoulder of the jacket proper, under embroidered crystal bands. The only jewelry worn by Madame Tessier with this frock is a simple bracelet of crystal and silver.

Engaged to Woman with Three Children, "Vincent" Hesitates

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Vincent, though already engaged to a woman with three children, begins to doubt the advisability of going through with the marriage. His main fear is that the children will have first place, with him trailing along as fourth in the woman's affections. He has been informed that not for the best man on earth would this mother give up her children. Still she wants to marry him. And Vincent wonders if marrying into this situation is a good policy.

The marriage underwriters, no doubt, have policies with less risk attached. Still, if a woman is a good mother and cares enough for a man to want to marry him, she certainly could not be classified as a bad risk. The man in the case might turn out to be that, though. It all depends on his capacity for understanding. If he cannot see that no mother who is worth her salt as such would give up her children for the best man on earth, he would not qualify for the husband-stepfather job.

Also, he would need to be blessed with a strong affection for children. Without this, the youngsters' ordinary youngster behavior would get fearfully on his nerves which, in turn, would lead to quarrels with mother. Stepfathering and stepmothering is no easy job, under the best of circumstances. It requires a special quality of unselfishness, and a fine understanding sympathy between the two adults in charge of the children.

If you have the qualities the difficulties are greatly minimized. The natural parent in any crisis will rally to the side of his or her flesh and blood. It would be a risk if a man joined such a group with the idea that his was to be first place in all things. The ordinary papa has discovered, to his sorrow, quite often that even he, a flesh and blood parent, is relegated to second place under certain trying childhood circumstances.

Three youngsters are a handful for any woman. There are times when she cannot escape letting them get on her nerves, unless she has unusual placidity. But sicknesses, accidents, and bitter feuds among the young citizens occur with peculiar regularity. These are hard on a mother's nerve.

Mother Tells How the Radio Affects Her Two Year Old

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A "Sex Education Booklet," by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Some extremely worthwhile letters have come in on the subject of radio and children. Instead of making a continuous symposium of them, as I had originally planned, it seems to me now that perhaps the opinions expressed will be more provocative of thought if they are scattered, and appear at intervals.

One letter says:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I am interested to know the effects of the radio upon other children, as I have often observed our little girl when our radio is going and have really looked for comment upon this subject before you invited mothers' opinions on it.

"When my 2 year old is busy with her toys and the radio is turned on to some jazz or exciting entertainment she becomes more active, getting too hilarious and is irritated at the slightest provocation. If she is more relaxed and not so occupied when an orchestra is playing music of a restful type, she seems to enjoy it. In a similar way, when I am working around the house and the radio is playing, it makes me nervous, too, while if I sit down and really listen to a program I thoroughly enjoy it.

"I really think the radio being played when the child is occupied with some other task or play is harmful to his nervous system, for while thus occupied the music stimulates the emotions so far diversified from the ones immediately occupying his mind that the conflict makes him nervous and he loses concentration on either, hence his nervousness and irritability. Particularly in small children I find this noticeable, probably because they are susceptible to the kind of music being played and show their emotions easily

"I see no reason for making the very small child nervous by listening to long programs of jazz, while I do not believe a little musical music will be of any harm. In fact, I think it is normal for every baby to hear good music and like it just as it is normal for every child to sing as he grows older. However, I think the baby should be accustomed to music gradually so there will not be such a marked effect on the nervous system.

"We have solved the problem of the radio and baby in the home by hearing our programs when the baby sleeps. She hears a little occasionally but as she goes to bed at 6 o'clock, we have ample time to enjoy our radio when she is in bed storing up energy for mind and body to learn and investigate the many new things which present themselves in the life of the 2 year old, every day.

Very truly,
"M. M."

MRS. H. P.: WHEN A CHILD sleeps with his mouth open there is some obstruction in the air passages, perhaps adenoids. Have him examined by your doctor. Breathing through the mouth makes the mouth dry and parched and affects the general health.

MRS. L. G. D.: A HOT BATH lasting just a few minutes or a hot foot bath is found restful when one is tired, but the tepid bath is the most restful of all because of the nervous relaxation induced.

A Reliable Medicine

—7,000,000 Bottles of Konjola Sold in Two Years

MR. EDWARD J. McCARTHY
4707 Hutchinson St.
Chicago

A medicine must have merit to create a demand like that. Thousands have testified that Konjola is a real advanced and modern medicine. It contains 32 ingredients—22 of which are roots and herbs—and it is a systematic treatment; therefore, it is best to continue taking Konjola until six or eight bottles are used to give it a chance to restore digestion, thus thoroughly cleansing the system.

Read what Mr. McCarthy says of this new and different medicine:

"What a medicine Konjola is! Ten years ago indigestion developed and kept getting worse, and medicines and treatments failed. Constipation, just as chronic, added to my misery. I was about as miserable as a man could be and still get around. I read of a case like mine where Konjola was used with success, and I gave this new medicine a trial. Imagine my joy and surprise when Konjola stopped my indigestion and constipation. My wife has also taken it and is now entirely free from indigestion that troubled her for years. I will be glad to verify personally every word here, and glad for this opportunity to endorse Konjola in this public manner."

GREYOLA CAPTURES $29,000 AGUA CALIENTE DERBY

WALSH FILLY BEATS LONGUS BY A LENGTH

Victor Pays Odds of 3 to 1.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 3. — [Special.] — A little filly called Greyola outran twelve of the best three year olds in training today to win the $29,200 Agua Caliente Derby. She took the lead with the rise of the barrier, led all the way, and held Longus safe in the final drive. Her margin of victory was a length. Fred Almy's Tonto Rock was third.

Greyola, the only filly in the race, was purchased for $15,000 only twenty-four hours ago by Raoul Walsh, a movie director. She went to the post at odds of three to one, and paid $8 to win, $6 to place, and $4 to show. Longus paid $8.80 to place and $6.20 to show. Tonto Rock's show price was $5.

Favorites Out of Money.

The Long entry of Hatrick and Norab were installed favorites in the betting but both were out of it. Hatrick made one formidable bid on the last turn, almost catching Greyola. But the effort used up all he had left and he dropped back steadily to finish fourth. His stablemate was through after a mile.

Greyola's time for the mile and furlong was 1 minute 51 4-5 seconds. She was ridden by F. Catrone.

In taking the Derby, Agua Caliente's second richest stake, Greyola placed herself in the class with the famous Regret, sole filly to finish in front in the Kentucky Derby. It was the first time a filly ever came to the fore in today's event, an outgrowth of the Tia Juana Derby, which was one of the classics of the old Tia Juana track, abandoned last spring.

My Dandy Wins.

The victory established her as one of the potential candidates to win the Agua Caliente handicap, which, with its $140,000 stake, will be run here on March 23. This is the richest purse in the world.

Fifteen thousand witnessed the nine event program, which for the most part consisted of a series of upsets.

The outstanding of these was the defeat of Victorian in his initial appearance in the west. The five year old from the Warm stables, Lexington, Ky., a future book favorite for the Agua Caliente handicap, took the dust of My Dandy of the Reichert brothers' farm, Poppyfield, and Shasta Bullet. My Dandy, the George Washington handicap winner, sprinted through the six furlongs in 1 minute 11 seconds, winning by a head.

Long Shot Wins.

Other outstanding nominees for the handicap appearing in the eighth race experienced similar fates when Andromeda, owned by Benny Creech, finished a nose ahead of Alexander Pantages and eight lengths ahead of Scimitar, two prominently mentioned entries for the big money classic.

The longest shot of the afternoon was Shasta Rock, who paid $59 on $2 pari-mutuel tickets. The horse was a head to the good over Tecate in the mile and one-sixteenth event, after staging a rousing victory yesterday. The time was 1:46.

SAN CARLOS WINS

HAVANA, Cuba, March 2.—(AP)—A. G. Tarn's San Carlos, well ridden by Jockey Larry Logan, won the first running of the Charles F. Flynn Memorial handicap at Oriental Park today.

San Carlos had to withstand a grueling drive to win by inches from the Highland stable's Mart Malone with W. Hinphy's Crash third. Kingsport, the favorite, was fourth.

Kingsport went into a wide lead at the start, but tired under the pace pounding the stretch turn. Here Mart Malone took command with Crash second. San Carlos then drew up to the leaders under heavy pressure and were down Mart Malone and Crash to win in the final stride. The mile and one-sixteenth was run in 1:45 3-5.

Carpenters Go Down Before Brickies, 3-0

The Bricklayers won the right to represent Chicago in national challenge cup competition by defeating the Carpenters, 3 to 0, yesterday at Sparta field. The game was a replay of last week's contest which ended in a tie.

Poxon booted one between the goal posts to give the Bricklayers a one point lead at the half time. Early in the next period, McLean placed a kick from the corner directly in front of the goal and Coutts headed it in. Poxon scored the final point just before the whistle.

Yesterday's victory gave the Bricklayers the right to meet the Holley Carburetors of Detroit in the western semi-finals next Sunday at Sparta field.

In a preliminary game Sparta defeated the Jugo-Slavs, 2 to 0.

CLEVELAND TEAM ROLLS 2,729 FOR LEAD IN A. B. C.

Cleveland, O., March 2.—(AP)—Pins were shot down the alleys at Public Hall annex here today by 188 five man teams in the thirtieth annual American Bowling congress tournament, with the Cleveland Hardware Shipping Room quintet rolling the highest score, a total of 2,729 in a series of 828, 893, and 1,008.

This was the first team to go over the 1,000 mark for a single game. The tournament opened last night and ends April 6.

G. B. Shaw Makes Suggestion for Preventing Fouls

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 2.—George Bernard Shaw, whose first novel, "Cashel Byron's Profession," was the story of a boxer, joined the British discussion of the Phil Scott-Jack Sharkey fight today by suggesting if fouls do not cease the newspapers ought to quit reporting prize fights for 20 years and bring boxers to their senses.

"It is wrong to give the Americans all the blame for introducing the rough element into the sport," Mr. Shaw said. "At the last contest I attended in London one of the boxers deliberately led with his head and the referee did not say a word."

Mr. Shaw is almost the only person in England to say a kind word for the Americans except Jack Bloomfield, the undefeated "cruiser weight" champion of Great Britain, who told an English reporter: "I cannot agree that Scott was robbed. If we had sent out a man of sufficient caliber to fight Sharkey he would have been awarded the decision if he had earned it."

But an editorial in the Sunday Chronicle says: "Of course few people expected the Americans to relinquish the title. Not many titles are allowed to leave America once they are won. So the fight was another ignoble exhibition of American sportsmanship."

Russell Leads Bruins to Win Over Paterson

The Chicago Bruins withstood a late second half attack to defeat the Paterson Crescents, 22 to 17, in an American professional basketball league game at the Broadway armory last night. The victory enabled the Bruins to maintain their mathematical chance to win the second half league title.

After the first few minutes, the Bruins took the lead and held it throughout, due largely to Honey Russell's goal shooting. He led the scoring with three field goals and a trio of free throws. The Bruins led at the half, 12 to 8.

Chicago ran up a 20 to 8 lead, holding the Jersey team scoreless for 11 minutes of the last half. Then Borgeman and Sullivan led a rally that netted Paterson nine points. Both clubs presented a strong defense. Nat Holman also featured with his flashy passing. Score:

M'CARTHY ORDERS PITCHERS: 'EASE UP IN PRACTICE'

Too Much Pep May Injure High Priced Arms.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 2.—Joe V. McCarthy, the Cub shuffler, has no reason to worry about putting his hurlers into the condition known as the proverbial pink. Instead he must concentrate on the important matter of preventing them from getting ready too soon. To this end he issued a few orders today advising the ambitious flingers that the season doesn't open until April 15 and that they will need everything in their arms for six months after that date.

Some of them have been going at their daily training as though there was a prize for the first man to show midseason capabilities. Even veterans have been risking their bread and butter arms. But from now on they will be permitted to warm up their wings only once a day and during the remainder of the practice time they can enjoy such harmless exercises as chasing fly balls or participating in bunting games, both of which harden the leg muscles and improve the wind.

Malone Tests Speed Ball.

Among the diligent but not foolhardy workers to date has been Pat Malone. The big, jovial fellow has been busy as a Rotarian enthusiast. His extensive labors, however, haven't created any desire on his part to throw curves, which always are damaging if indulged in too early. He has done a bit of speed-balling. His display of industry has been almost entirely due to a necessity to sweat down the excessively large jowls which accumulated during the winter. He has been successful to the extent of ten pounds, leaving his weight at 204, which is about where he wants it. Pat will get back the vanished ten pounds if he doesn't continue to hustle.

Despite the advanced condition of the hurlers after only a bit more than a week of drilling, there is no positive indication of how the four vacancies on a ten man pitching staff are going to be filled. All that McCarthy says is that he likes Nelson, Teachout, Moss, and Shealy. The manager always names Nelson first when he talks about the newcomers and this means that he thinks the Kansas City purchase is going to prove good enough to start games.

Behind this quartet are George Bell and Louis Werneke. Both excellent prospects, but probably in need of about another year of minor league polishing before reaching the peak of their ability.

Cubs Need Southpaw.

If the old men of the staff—Root, Carlson, Bush, Malone, and Blake—are as good as they were in the last half of the 1929 race the real need will not be another right hander, such as Nelson, but a southpaw. Neither Moss nor Teachout, the only left handers on the training lot, appeared by their records to be possible regulars, but both have a chance to stick as rescue men. Moss has a great curve ball, but must learn how to control it. Teachout has speed. That makes both ideal candidates for relief roles. All that McCarthy must learn about them is whether they have desire for competition.

Until today the regulars had enjoyed, or suffered, only two days of work. They were given an hour of labor this afternoon merely because there was nothing else to do to make island life interesting for them.

The drill of today was not exactly appreciated, however. English's feet were sore as the result of jumping around too strenuously. The shortstop's arm also was a bit lame. Capt. Grimm was like a weary old man trying to live over his youth. Lester Bell, the new third sacker, expressed a desire to practice in his stocking feet. And the great Hornsby was so distressed in the territory of his foot gear that he remarked: "Every year it gets tougher."

Purdue Can Clinch Big Ten Title at Michigan Tonight

Purdue's undefeated basketball team plays Michigan tonight at Ann Arbor and if the Boilermakers can repeat their victory of early season they will win the 1930 Western conference title.

BOB CHAPMAN.

The outcome of the game, which will be played before the largest crowd of the season, an estimated 10,000, is a matter of honor with Purdue. Should Coach Lambert's "wonder five" lose both of its remaining contests, the worst Purdue could get in the final averages would be a tie with Wisconsin for the championship.

But Purdue wants a perfect record to go with the championship. Lambert has a great scoring combination and it has been threatened only once in Big Ten play, the night Ohio State forced the game at Columbus into an overtime session. Kellar, Harmeson, Wooden, and Murphy, with Boots the best of the back guards in the conference, have shown superior goal shooting all year.

Murphy's in Form.

Murphy got 17 points in his race with McCracken of Indiana for high scoring honors Saturday night in the game with Minnesota which Purdue won, 50 to 22. That score was a tuneup for the title battle tonight.

Set back in disappointing fashion by Illinois Saturday, Michigan nevertheless faces Purdue in a hopeful frame of mind. The Wolverines still feel they can beat Purdue and thus secure consolation for a disappointing season.

Coach Cappon, who directed the team in Coach Veenker's absence because of illness, had but little to say yesterday of the Illinois game. Veenker hopes to be on the bench tonight. Michigan had 67 shots at the hoop Saturday night and only caged six baskets. Illinois, on the other hand, made 13 baskets on 37 shots allowed by the Michigan defense.

Lose Three Regulars.

Three mainstays of the Michigan five will play their last game tonight. Capt. Bob Chapman will be meeting Capt. Stretch Murphy for the last time. Both are seniors and have been friendly enemies for three years following a high school career together at Marion, Ind. It is likely Chapman will draw the assignment of curbing his old mate's scoring efforts.

Joe Truskowski, pivot man, forward, and guard for three years, and the versatile Bill Orwig, floor guard and former forward, also will conclude their careers. In addition, Dutch Kanitz and Frank Lovell are finishing their careers.

Indiana went through its first Sunday drill of the season in preparation for the game tonight at Bloomington against Minnesota. This in spite of the Hoosiers' 27 to 15 victory over Ohio State Saturday night.

Following the game tonight Indiana plays Wisconsin and Minnesota for the second time. The same lineup will start tonight as played Saturday.

Ohio Meets Wisconsin.

Ohio State plays Wisconsin tonight at Madison in the other game of the three game bill. Wisconsin should win and clinch second place.

Northwestern finished its season Saturday night with a 39 to 24 victory over Chicago, giving the Wildcats an even break in 12 games. Capt. Rut Walter, Rus Bergherm and Merrill Mundy played their last game for the purple, and Walter and Bergherm especially, played excellent basketball. Walter scored six times from the field and three times from the foul line.

The other games this week are: Illinois at Chicago Wednesday night; Chicago at Purdue and Indiana at Wisconsin Saturday night.

GOALKEEPERS' STOPS.

Referee—Corbeau and Hewitson.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

One period of excellent hockey put the Blackhawks three goals in front of the Pittsburgh Pirates at the Stadium last night, and after that they coasted to an easy victory in two listless periods. The final score was the same as at the end of the first twenty minutes—3 to 0—and it marked the fifth win for the Hawks over the Pirates in the five times they've met this season.

Combined with the Rangers' tie with Detroit, the win moved the Hawks up into a tie with the New Yorkers for second place and arranged the setting for a rip-roaring battle with the Rangers at the Stadium tomorrow night. Incidentally, it brought the Hawks closer to clinching a place in the playoff from a mathematical viewpoint, as it left the Chicagoans four games ahead of Detroit with six games to play.

Milks Lost to Pirates.

Pittsburgh's tail end team, with Frank Frederickson still on the bench, was further handicapped last night by the loss of Hib Milks, who sprained a wrist in the game with Les Canadiens the night before. And the Hawks lost no time in taking advantage of the Pirates' weaknesses. Three times in the first period the Hawks passed to scores and then settled back to take it so easy it riled Taffy Abel to the point where he bellowed, "Come on! Come on! Come to life in there."

Dutkowski, Ingram, and Gottselig teamed to score the Hawks' first goal in a little less than five minutes, on a pretty bit of combination play. The Hawks had been pressing hard and following the puck like a duck hawk after a teal. In one of those rushes Gottselig picked up a loose puck in the Pirates' defense zone. Skating off, he circled behind the Pirates' goal and passed out to Ingram. Frank flipped a short forward pass to Dutkowski in front of the net and big Duke poked it past Miller.

Couture Bores In.

Five minutes later the line of Couture, Somers, and Arbour counted the Hawks' second goal. Somers passed out from the left boards to Arbour in the center of the Pirates' defense area and Ty shot. Miller saved, but Couture bored into the scramble to catch the rebound and slam it into the net.

The third and last goal was only a little longer delayed, but worth waiting for, as it came on a fine play by Taffy Abel, the bit in itself being an indication of the better hockey the big fellow has been playing of late. Taffy started from his own goal and was skated off to the right boards as he neared the Pirates' net. He lost the puck in the scramble, but kept after it, recovered it, and pushed a short pass to Gottselig, who came in from the left to the front of the net and beat Miller again.

Pirates Keep Gardiner Busy.

Meanwhile the Pirates' rushes had been a bit wider spaced but Gardiner had to make three brilliant stops of short shots to keep the Pirates from scoring. Incidentally, he had to stop a few more good rushes, particularly by Lowrey and Drury in the other periods.

The Hawks came back confidently in the second period, and while they didn't play nearly as good hockey, their rushes kept the crowd of 6,000 interested. For half the period the Pirates outplayed them, but after that and through the third period the game was about even. Though the Pirates got the greater number of shots, the Hawks were shorter ones.

Short of spares, Pittsburgh had only two front lines and as they alternated against the Hawks' three lines, the Pirates began to tire and slow up.

COUGARS, RANGERS TIE.

Detroit, Mich., March 2.—(AP)—For 53 minutes the Detroit Cougars had a two goal lead over the New York Rangers in a hockey game here tonight, then Butch Keeling, Ranger wingman, got under way, and the game ended in a 2-2 tie after a ten minute overtime period.

Herbie Lewis scored for the Cougars late in the first period and Carson Cooper tallied early in the second. Keeling scored two goals, three minutes apart.

BIG 10 TRACKMEN DRILL FOR INDOOR MEET SATURDAY

Hold Trials Friday at Gopher Field House.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Track and field athletes of the Western conference universities will settle down to the final lap of training today for the Big Ten indoor championships to be held in the University of Minnesota field house on Friday and Saturday. Trials in the quarter and half mile run will be held on the opening day, with all finals on Saturday.

NED MERRIAM.

Wisconsin, winner of the four cornered meet with Chicago, Northwestern, and Ohio State, will be among the favorites for team honors. Chicago may be a contender, as Coach Ned Merriam has developed athletes who are sure to score. Michigan and Iowa will be represented by point winners and the same is true of Purdue and Indiana. Ohio State and Minnesota also will figure in the scoring.

Teams Lack Balance.

Coaches of the various teams will rely largely upon second string performers. No team has enough balance to be considered a winner in advance. There are several outstanding stars but they must be supported by teammates who can win points for second, third and fourth places.

Iowa won the event last year with 29 2-3 points. Illinois was the runner-up with 20 5-6. Coach Bresnahan of the Hawkeyes and Harry Gill of Illinois have not the team balance of last year and indications are the trophy will go to some other university.

Among the stars who will compete are Simpson of Ohio State, holder of the world's record for 100 yards at :09 2-5. Ford of Northwestern, who defeated Simpson in the quadrangular meet, and East of Chicago are expected to give the Buckeye keen competition.

Behr of Wisconsin and Weaver of Chicago have made the best marks in the shot put, while Warne of Northwestern, Canby of Iowa, and McDermott and Harper of Illinois are the leading pole vaulters.

Battle Seen in Hurdles.

In the high hurdles Sentman and Rodgers of Illinois, Hayden of Chicago, and Petersilge of Ohio State should fight it out for the points. In the middle distance runs Letts of Chicago, Goldsworthy of Wisconsin, Strother of Ohio State, Seymour and Wolfe of Michigan, and Makever and Evans of Illinois are among the runners who have registered the most consistent performances.

Coaches will meet on Friday to arrange heats and drawings in the preliminaries. They will assemble again on either Friday night or Saturday morning to arrange heats in the dashes and hurdles and pole positions in the runs.

BROWNS NEED PLENTY, KILLEFER TELLS HIS SCOUTS

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Manager Bill Killefer of the St. Louis Browns still seeks a catcher, infield reserve strength, and an outfielder who can hit to the right field, he announced today when he asked scouts be sent to other major league camps in quest of material. Killefer, however, does not expect to get them until the big league clubs start shunting their "finds" to the minors for more seasoning.

The Browns also went through Sunday drill, the first in several years.

Lassman, Grid Star, Saves Girl from Drowning

Miami Beach, Fla., March 2.—(AP)—Miss Vera Erickson, pretty 18 year old girl, was rescued from possible drowning yesterday by Al Lassman, former New York university football star.

Lassman, a member of the winter social colony here, plunged into the surf at the girl's repeated calls for help after Marcell Englehart, another swimmer, had failed in attempts to bring her to shore.

She was revived after Lassman made his way through the surf with her.

Lassman's football career was ended by a serious injury received in a game with Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh in 1928.

...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency...join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

"It serves him right," we say when the filthy spitter is caught in the act. For spitting is an outrage against public decency. And yet, thousands continue to smoke cigars rolled by dirty, yellowed fingers that tip the ends in spit! For more than half of all cigars made in this country are still made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof...immaculate...foil-wrapped... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said: "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

BAND BOOMS, BUT THE GREAT SHIRES FAILS TO ENTER

Kamm and Metzler Also Among Those Absent.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 2.—Everybody rushed out of Sox headquarters here today upon hearing a booming band, thinking that the Great Shires had arrived at last. But it was a false alarm. The band was playing in celebration of the 94th anniversary of the Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico.

THE GREAT SHIRES

Not only did C. Arthur fail to put in his appearance, but Willie Kamm, Carnera Jolly, Carl Reynolds, Dave Harris, and Alex Metzler likewise were given tardy marks on their deportment cards.

Kamm, Metzler Silent.

Club officials said they had heard from Jolly and Harris and that they will be in tomorrow. Reynolds was among the missing, but landed here tonight. It is said that not a word has been heard from Kamm, late captain of the club, nor from Metzler, the faded outfielder.

Whispers that Jolly is a holdout, which have been persistent around the camp for a week, were answered by club officials with the unqualified statement that he has accepted terms and that he has been in training and will be ready to play baseball after a couple of days' workout.

And speaking of playing baseball, we are reminded that this week will see our nine in big league action. The Sox and Giants launch their seventeen game exhibition schedule at Houston Saturday and follow with another contest on Sunday.

Bush Against Scrub Games.

These games will produce the first six box scores of 1930, for Manager Donie Bush is against the early intra-club games that so many managers tolerate for the benefit of news-starved scribes. Donie said that he may put on scrub games after the schedule with the Giants has been started but that for the coming week he has in mind more efficacious conditioning routines.

The Giants are playing games between the "frijoles" and the "enchaladas" for several days and expect to have further scrub contests this week, but Bush contends this competitive exercise will give the New Yorkers no advantage over his boys. He has asked them to prove it by conquering the McGraw subjects in the Houston engagements.

Three Hurlers May Go.

It appears that three of the pitchers now in camp may be gone away from here before some of the regulars arrive. Although no announcement has been made of the unfortunate trio, Gerald Wilfred Byrne, Walter Patrick McCarthy, and Harwood [not Hal] McKain have been going about with furtive looks on their faces. George Cox, deemed a sensational prospect a couple of years ago but last year on the voluntary retired list, again is complaining of an ailing arm.

Manager Bush this week will adhere to his early plan to have one prolonged workout, rather than briefer sessions morning and afternoon. The drills will continue to start at 11 o'clock each day.

FLORIDA JUNGLES MEAN NOTHING TO BOB; FISH DO

Conquers Hazards of Land, Water.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Blue Cypress Lake, Fla., March 2.—If a picturesque African safari numbering about 50 dark skinned savages could have led the way past cabbage palm hummocks to the jungle shore line of this lake yesterday morning the setting for the Blue Cypress lake expedition would have been complete and entirely in keeping with the character of the place. Everything else in the way of tropical wilderness trimmings abound in this lonely, secluded spot, quite the most remote fishing hole we have ever seen in Florida.

Yes, it's a great black bass lake, but woe to the disciple of Ike Walton who attempts to fish it without a knowledge of the 25 tough miles he must cover from the end of hard roads and the splashing and wading necessary to get a boat into the lake.

Crosses Flooded Meadow.

When we arrived at the house of the man who lives some distance from the lake he was seated near a big clay oven watching a boiling vat of steaming liquid. Judging by the activity around that cooking establishment we did not think our friend was "cooking down" the plain juice of the sugar cane. But he was. And he took time out to tell us how to get to Blue Cypress lake.

We drove on a mile and a half through water. Then we parked the car in a cabbage palm hummock, peeled off our shoes and stockings, rolled up the trousers, grabbed tackle and lunch, and started across an open flooded meadow studded with cabbage palms.

Pushes On Into Jungle.

We had to splash a half mile to the rowboats, which, on account of high water, were anchored in the meadow, wherein were pastured a few raw boned cattle. Boat tailed grackles fluttered into the air as we wallowed through the grass and water, and big herons squawked in alarm. But we made the rowboat, and then we waded and pushed the boat another eighth of a mile to the cypress jungle.

With Kelly Day, a Punta Gorda sportsman, and Harry Binks of Chicago helping us haul, push, and wrestle the heavy rowboat through beds of hyacinths and over logs, the bass expedition finally launched upon Blue Cypress lake, the tropical fishing hole set down in the wilderness forty miles from nowhere.

It produced fish for us all right, but if you are going to visit this lake you better bring along a safari or a flying boat. It'll save one lots of grief.

LOYOLA DEFEATS QUEEN OF ANGELS IN 3 OVERTIMES

Harmony Wins West Section Title.

Loyola and Queen of Angels staged one of the best games of the year in yesterday's semi-final round of the Catholic Order of Foresters Basketball league, requiring three overtime periods before Loyola triumphed, 24 to 21, at St. Michael's gym. Schumer's field goal and two free throws, coupled with Butz's charity toss, decided the issue for Loyola. Warrell scored a field goal for the Queens. At the end of regulation time the score was 18 all. Butz and O'Brien each dropped in a free throw in the first extra session, but close guarding kept both teams from scoring in the second overtime period. Lineup:

Belloni and Debaets Lead N.Y. Bike Race

New York, March 2.—[Special.]—The six day bicycle races started with a rush at Madison Square Garden tonight, fifteen minutes after Fred Stone of musical comedy fame fired the shot that launched 15 teams on the 48th international whirl. A series of jams ensued that gave the 12,000 spectators a taste of what is to be expected for the next five nights.

Instigated by the hard riding Gaetano Belloni, who is teamed with Gerard Debaets as the Belgian-Italian combination, the peddlers engaged in a wild session that came to a close only after the American team of Anthony Beckman and Norman Hill succeeded in circling the entire pack to gain the distinction of being the first lap stealers of the grind. REPORT GAIN OF 3 MILLIONS IN NET EARNINGS

Amer. Smelting Co. Has Good Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 2.—Increase of $3,240,380 in net income in 1929 over 1928 is reported by the American Smelting and Refining company, in the annual report of the company, to be made public tomorrow morning.

Net income for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, amounted to $21,831,583, as compared with $18,586,203 in 1928. This net income is equivalent to earnings of $10.02 a share on the common stock after split up and after deduction of preferred dividend requirement. The earnings a share in 1928, on the basis of the present common stock, were $8.24.

End Litigation.

President Simon Guggenheim, in a letter to stockholders accompanying the report, states there had been a net increase in the property assets of the company of $3,952,694, and that securities purchased and miscellaneous additions to assets had brought the total increase in assets for the year to $8,046,291. He also states that during the year the Crason litigation, involving a patent for reverberatory smelting, had been settled for $1,059,594, and that, while the company had not used the patent for many years past, it acquired through the settlement the right to use it in the future if it ever seemed desirable.

American Water Works and Electric company earned $4 a share on its common stock in 1929, or 50 cents more than in 1928. Net income for last year was $7,821,479, compared with $6,209,496. Gross earnings gained more than $3,000,000, reaching the new high record of $54,119,004.

THOMPSON SEES BIG YEAR AHEAD IN CHEAP MEALS

There will be a much greater demand for inexpensive meals this year, according to the opinion of John R. Thompson Jr., president of the John R. Thompson company, which operates a chain of restaurants in Chicago and other cities.

"Study of the general economic situation in the territories in which the company is operating indicates conditions which in the light of past experience will, it is thought, react to the further betterment of the company's volume of trade," Mr. Thompson says in his annual report, issued last night. "It is part of the history of the company that in times when the public scrutinize values with unusual care, the Thompson restaurants have always profited."

Net profit last year was $1,585,836, equivalent to $5.47 a share on the average amount of common stock outstanding during the year, compared with $1,152,207, or $4.80 a share in 1928. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $2,888,979, current liabilities of $1,027,762, and surplus of $6,847,524.

Fox Film Row Gets Hotter; New Charges

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 2.—Statements flew thick and fast in the Fox Film corporation fight today as the date of stockholders' meeting neared. Halsey, Stuart & Co., former bankers for Fox, issued a statement expanding on yesterday's letter to stockholders, denying that there is any fight for the control of the Fox companies and declaring that their only interest in the affair was the protection of stockholders and creditors of the Fox organizations.

"All statements emanating from Mr. Fox," the statement said, "that we are trying to injure him as a class B stockholders are false. On the contrary, any plan which we contemplate must be of benefit to all class B stockholders, for the plan will protect the company from the dangers of receivership.

"With regard to the reiterated references which have been made by Mr. Fox of our intention to place his companies in receivership, the fact is that the trustees were obliged to make many concessions to Mr. Fox's desires in order to forestall his avowed purpose of placing the company in the hands of a receiver which he has repeatedly threatened to do."

Emory R. Buckner, counsel for an independent stockholders' committee, issued a statement praising the reorganization plan for the Fox companies suggested by the banking firms of Bancamerica-Blair, Lehman Bros., and Dillon, Read & Co.

"William Fox and his former bankers, with their charges and countercharges, their law suits, and the rest of it," Mr. Buckner said, "are simply rocking the boat while the stockholders are drifting over the falls into a receivership. Everybody knows that in a receivership the common stockholders do not do very much receiving."

Business Lacks Balance, National City Bank Says

New York, March 2.—(AP)—The National City bank, in its monthly review of economic conditions, says in summarizing general conditions that "it is apparent that business has had an encouraging recovery from the low point, but the situation still lacks balance and it is not yet clear as to how soon full recovery can be expected."

Industries Catering to U. S. Homes Enjoy Stability

BY SCRUTATOR.

Those industries which cater directly and efficiently to needs in American homes are the ones that are least subject to sharp fluctuations in receipts.

We may point to the electric utilities and to the sellers of foodstuffs to illustrate this. The National Electric Light association, in a recent bulletin, shows that the average household in the United States which used electricity at all consumed an average of more than 500 kilowatt hours. This compares with 459 kilowatt hours per home in 1928, 378 in 1924, and only 272 in 1918.

The large increase last year is perhaps due to the more general adoption of the electric refrigerator. The association also declares that the average price per kilowatt hour dropped in the single year from 6.55 cents to 6.2 cents. This does not mean that there has been a marked downward trend in the whole rate structure, but that the increase in use has been taken largely on the lower end of the rate cards.

Comment of Utilities.

It is a matter of frequent comment by the utilities that the prices they receive are constantly going down. There is no reason why this should not be as it is. A plant working at only half capacity carries all the original costs and operating expense that is greater per unit produced than when it is working at full capacity.

The continued rise of the electric industry is attributable to its economies of distribution, although there is a considerable wastage even in this. Something like one-sixth of all electricity generated is lost in transmission. We sometimes overlook the fact that the iceman calling at the back door was only an agent delivering a certain amount of power that was necessary to make the ice. The electric refrigerator merely sets the ice plant in the home and causes the delivery of the power there rather than the delivery of the finished product.

Satisfaction and economy of the new cooling system, where progress is most marked, rests on the fact that the loss in delivery is less over a copper wire than in the iceman's tongs. This does not mean that the manufactured ice industry is dead or even moribund. It is still going strong in sections and in lines where retail distribution is not the large factor.

Demand for Foodstuffs.

The demand for foodstuffs, too, is steadily increasing about in proportion to population changes. The Encyclopedia Americana asserts that more than twenty-three billion dollars of a total income of eighty-nine billions is spent by Americans for food. It has been remarked that the business depression in the fall and early winter had less effect on groceries than on other chain store groups.

Predominantly these grocery chains pass their products directly to the housewife. Their economy in distribution comes, for one thing, through making the buyer do some of the work that the telephone and deliver grocer does himself. Their value is evidenced by their good profit showing in 1929, although it is conceded that good merchandisers of the independent type can not only survive but prosper in competition with them.

The point made here, however, is that both utilities and chain stores are prospering by reaching the real center of consumptive power, the home, with products that are the last which human beings will or can least afford to be without.

BEATY SAYS AGITATION OVER FREEPORT TEXAS CO. IS UNWARRANTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 2.—Amos L. Beaty, a director of the Freeport Texas company, who acted as intermediary in attempting to arrange a committee to investigate the affairs of the company which should be satisfactory to the management and to the Williams committee of stockholders, today sent a letter to stockholders of the company stating he regards the present agitation in the company as "wholly unwarranted."

He warns the stockholders that the proxies which are being requested by the Williams committee would permit them to change the management, a move which he would regard as a calamity.

The Williams committee has sent out requests for proxies for use at the annual meeting of the company to be held on April 7, stating the members of the committee regard it as imperative that a full report on the company's properties should be given stockholders, and that the present management has refused requests for the desired information.

FORECASTERS GROPE VAINLY AS MONTH ENDS

Business Horizon Is Still Hazy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 2.—February has ended in respect to the markets as it usually ends in a season of reaction and uncertainty. That is to say, it has ended with the visible prospect somewhat more obscure than it was when the month began.

On this occasion the doubtful factors of the business situation have been somewhat emphasized in this usually dull midwinter month, because, while some of the tendencies visible at the year's beginning have seemed to have spent their force, others have continued to present the same picture as in January and still others have been emphasized for the worse.

There can be no doubt of a much larger steel production for last month, or of a motor car output at least somewhat greater on the daily average than January's. The month ended, however, with signs of slackening in the pace of recovery for both industries. Unemployment seemed, by February's early data, to be lessening; but the premature and misleading inferences officially drawn from the incomplete early returns of January are a warning against too hasty conclusions.

Rail Income Comparison.

For railway earnings we have as yet only the first of the full reports for January. They compare very unfavorably with 1929, and there is thus far little reason to expect a better comparison for last month, because the weekly freight loading returns covering the period up to the middle of the month have decreased more largely from last year than they did in January.

The point should be emphasized, however, that February is rarely an

NEW U. S. GRAIN POLICY AROUSES STABILITY HOPE

Market Chaos Is Laid to Arbitrary Buying.

Agricultural leaders yesterday expressed confidence that the federal farm board's decision to stop paying an arbitrary price for wheat will bring stability back to the grain industry.

The board's change in policy was announced on Saturday by Alexander Legge, its chairman. Mr. Legge, following a conference in Chicago with Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, the officers of the Grain Stabilization corporation, and the directors of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, said that the board would at once suspend its practice of paying for wheat on the federal loan basis value, which was $1.18 a bushel in Chicago.

Effort to Bolster Price.

The price basis dropped by the farm board was set last October in an effort to check a steady decline in the wheat market. The board, in conformance with the policy of paying an arbitrary price, had for some five months been paying this price for country run wheat regardless of the price of cash grain, and in doing so had sometimes paid as high as 15 cents over the market.

What brought disorder into the grain industry under the plan was the traders' reported widespread practice of buying at the cash grain price in the cities and shipping the grain back into the coutnry, there to be sold back to the farm board at profits of 8 to 10 cents a bushel.

Mr. Legge said yesterday he believed the change of policy on the part of the farm board would prove at least "helpful."

"The suspension of the arbitrary buying basis established last fall will relieve the panicky feeling and stabilize the entire grain industry," Mr. Legge said. "As we have already stated, however, the Farmers' National Grain corporation will continue to make loans to coöperatives on the present crop until July 1."

Grain Men Are Satisfied.

The new policy was given a welcome at many points in the grain belt, according to dispatches. Hugh A. Butler, president of the Omaha grain exchange, hailed the move as "the only ultimate solution of the wheat marketing situation."

"The farm board needs the coöperation of the grain men," Mr. Butler declared. "The grain men own the elevators whose storage space must be used if the stabilization program is to be effective. The regular grain exchanges do not fear federal competition in grain marketing if such competition is on a business basis."

As spokesman for the farmers, L. S. Herron, editor of the Nebraska Union Farmer, said the farm board's move will relieve the feelings of hundreds of Nebraska farmers who believed they were being forced into affiliation with the grain corporation.

No comment one way or another was forthcoming from John Bunnell, president of the Chicago Board of Trade. "The Chicago Board of Trade will go along with the new policy—that's all I can say," Mr. Bunnell said.

Congestion Is a Problem.

C. B. Steward of Lincoln, Neb., president of the Farmers' West-Central Grain Coöperative, Inc., said he thought the discontinuance of the buying of grain on a loan basis would stop the congestion at the terminals and help protect the coöperatives.

Meantime, the members of the farm board were said to be worried about the congestion of the terminals of which Mr. Steward spoke. It is admitted this is a serious situation.

The terminal market storage facilities are all practically filled, with another crop in prospect for July 1. The reason for this is said to be the European failure to buy American grain.

END EXCITING WEEK

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An excited week just closed in the grain trade due to enormous liquidation, heavy new buying, and rapid fading of prices in the first two days, with a sharp recovery at the end of Tuesday when the government farm board representatives entered the market and bought round lots of cash wheat in store.

The government purchases aggregated around 8,000,000 bu as estimated by those who watched the buying in spite of hedges against the grain. It started early without influencing the market, but in the last thirty minutes put prices up over 4c bu. Tuesday's price range on May wheat was $1.02⅝@1.09¾. Prices continued to move irregularly upward the balance of the week, reaching the high point on Friday. The finish was with March up 1¾c, May 1c above the previous week, while July and September showed net losses of 1½@2½c.

Estimate Total Purchases.

It is estimated that the government bought between 16,000,000 and 18,000,000 bu of wheat futures altogether during the week, and there were claims in some quarters that it had sold July toward the last.

This was not confirmed, but it was evident that the speculators sold July and September in good volume, and July went from a premium of 2c to a discount under May, and September was also moved down sharply with the close at $1.16@1.16¼, or only a fraction above the May, while July was $1.14⅛@1.14⅜ and May $1.16@1.15⅝, while March was $1.11⅝@1.11¾.

That the government is in the wheat market to stay is indicated by its taking the bulk, if not all, of the 4,260,000 bu of cash wheat delivered on March contracts on Saturday. There was said to be a redelivery of 284,000 bu on the second delivery, but it is not known where it went. It is claimed by those who consider the best interests of the trade that the clearing house should give the trade a statement regarding the second deliveries, showing whether they were original or simply redeliveries.

FORM NEW CORPORATION.

A Pennsylvania corporation, known as the Safe Harbor Water Power corporation, has been formed through the merger of the Safe Harbor Water Power company and the Conestoga Water Power corporation by the Aldred interests of Baltimore, as a preparatory move in the plans for construction of a large hydro electric plant in the Susquehanna river at Safe Harbor, Pa., between Harrisburg and the Maryland line.

American Chain.

B. L. B.: American Chain company earnings recovered last year and were the best in the company's history. During January and the early part of February, 1930, gross business was reported more than 30 per cent ahead of the year before

Net income in 1929 was $3,279,341, against $410,843 in 1928, $2,022,811 in 1927, $2,414,891 in 1926, and $2,401,377 in 1925.

After common and preferred dividends there was a surplus for 1929 of $2,344,422, comparing with a deficit of $1,105,549 the year before.

Earnings last year were 4.49 times dividend requirements on the 104,394 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] outstanding, and were equal to $10.13 per share on 250,033 no par common shares. Excluding non-recurring income earnings were $9.03 per share on the common.

Current assets were $14,426,822 and current liabilities were $1,825,583 at the close of 1929. This left a net working capital of $12,601,239, which compares with $10,697,559 a year before. The surplus was $11,026,645, against $8,672,904 on December 31, 1928.

Dividends on the common have been resumed and are at the rate of $3 per year.

The preferred deserves a fair rating. The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative at present.

Baldwin Locomotive Works.

I. N.: Stockholders of Baldwin Locomotive works were informed in the company's annual report that results of operations in 1929 were satisfactory in lines other than locomotives, in which they were substantially more favorable than in 1928. The volume of business on hand at the beginning of the current year is greater than for several years.

Net income in 1929 was $2,300,462, which was equal to 1.64 times dividend requirements on the 200,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred, par $100, and equal to $1.07 per share earned on $43,000 no par common shares. After dividends there was a deficit of $537,166 for the year. Net income in 1928 was $332,211 and deficit for the year was $2,467,789.

As of December 31, 1929, current assets were $33,513,403 and curent liabilities were $12,966,451, leaving a net working capital of $20,546,952. Profit and loss surplus was $23,431,001.

The preferred is rather high grade. The common deserves a fairly good rating.

Kansas Power.

M. M. B.: Kansas Power company $1,000,000 first mortgage twenty-year 5 per cent bonds, series A, due March 1, 1947, which were recently offered, are part of an issue dated March 1, 1927. They are a suitable investment for a business man's surplus funds.
